Ex Parte: In the matter of the adoption of Arlie Granville Shrout, an infant
No. 4671 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to procure the passage of a decree for the adoption of Arlie Granville Shrout, an infant, by John Edgar Lilley and Juanita Lilley, his wife, and to give him the name of Arlie Granville Lilley.

The bill states:

That the petitioners are residents of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland; that Arlie Granville Shrout was born August 13, 1951, and the parents of said infant are Norman Arlie Shrout and Alvetta Shrout, his wife; that on numerous occasions since the birth of said infant his parents have separated, leaving the said Arlie Granville Shrout and their other children without care and supervision, and your petitioners have had the said Arlie Granville Shrout in their home on prior occasions for long periods of time until a reconciliation was had by their parents at which time he was broken away from them and returned to the home of said parents; that the mother of said child, Alvetta Shrout, has now deserted her family, including the said Arlie Granville Shrout, and he is now being cared for in the home of your petitioners; that the whereabouts of the said Alvetta Shrout are unknown to your petitioners and they are advised by the father of said infant that he has attempted to learn of her whereabouts but has been unable to do so; that the said Arlie Granville Shrout after the last desertion by his mother was placed in the home of your petitioners by the said Norman Arlie Shrout; that the father of said infant has concurred in and has given his consent to the adoption of said infant by your petitioners, said consent being filed herewith and prayed to be taken as a part hereof; that your petitioners have no children of their own even though they have been married for nine years, and are able to support, educate and maintain said infant and feel that under the circumstances it will be for the best interest of said infant as well as all concerned, that the prayers of your petitioner be granted.

The petition then prays for a decree declaring the infant child of Norman Arlie Shrout and Alvetta Shrout, his wife, born on the 13th day of August, 1951, to be the legally adopted child of John Edgar Lilley and Juanita Lilley, his wife, and to name said child Arlie Granville Lilley.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Origin of Social Security

From a maze of conflicting attitudes, the Congress distilled, in its recent session, an amendment to the Social Security Act lowering the minimum age at which women can qualify for benefits to 62 years and extending maximum benefits to totally disabled persons at age 50 years. The varied history of social security and its gradual development reflect the diversity of the American people and their needs.

The origins of the Federal Social Security system spring from programs begun by a number of State and local governments, as well as by private organizations. Some of the earliest State efforts provided pensions for the blind and for needy mothers and children. By 1934, 46 States, the District of Columbia, Alaska, and Hawaii had mothers' aid laws. In 1915, Alaska adopted old-age pension legislation, followed by Montana and Nevada in 1923, 28 States had such legislation, of which 16 provided for State Financial aid to local governments.

Social insurance programs, such as old-age and survivors insurance, also had their beginnings in State, local, and private efforts. In 1857, New York City adopted a disability and death benefits plan for its police force. In 1875 the first private retirement plan in American industry began. Massachusetts adopted a pension plan for all State employees in 1911. In 1920 a civil-service retirement and disability fund was established for Federal workers. In 1831 the first trade union unemployment insurance plan was adopted, but the first State-wide plan did not appear until 1932 in Wisconsin. However, under the impetus of the 1930 depression, unemployment insurance plans became nation-wide by 1937. In 1908 a workmen's compensation system for Federal civilian employees was established, and by 1911, 10 States had similar programs. Several of the pension plans of the late 19th and early 20th century also provided for some disability as well as death and retirement benefits.

The Social Security Act of 1935 was passed by a vote of 372 to 30 in the House of Representatives; and by a vote of 77 to 6 in the Senate. A majority of both Republicans and Democrats voted for this measure. Thus was inaugurated a milestone in Social Security in America—a capstone to many previous State and local efforts and an important stimulus to the expansion of both private and governmental attacks on the problems of American families confronted with the hazards of low income and loss of earning capacity.

Push-button housekeeping?

Plenty of electricity can make your home of the future a house of marvels! From a central control panel, you may be able to wash your dishes, raise and lower windows, control the lighting in every room—even make your beds!

To really live electrically, you'll need much more power—and it will be there waiting. America's more than 400 independent electric light and power companies are planning and building now for the years ahead.

Unlike federal government electric systems, these companies don't depend on tax money to build for your future. And their power is available equally to everyone—not reserved for a "favored class" as is the power from government projects.

In the future—as always—you will benefit most when you are served by independent electric companies like this one.

THE REPUBLICAN

Desire for Education . .

The Republican is carrying a news story this week of which it is proud. It's nothing sensational requiring scare headlines. It is a very ordinary item but it tells a tremendous story.

A partial but we hope a pretty complete list of persons who were planning to leave for colleges and universities and other places of learning was compiled this week. We know the list is not perfect, but in that list are eighty names. In that group are 35 of the 139 graduates from the June class at Southern. That means that twenty-five percent of the graduating class is pursuing higher learning. We feel that is commendable and one that should be emulated in the years ahead.

In our complex world it is becoming more and more necessary that a person have a college education in order to perform his job adequately. Farming has become so specialized that the person who continues his education in that particular field has a much better chance for success than the one who goes about it in a haphazard manner. That still doesn't prevent many persons from becoming a success without a college education, but the ones with the education are the ones who have the edge.

A recent article in U. S. News and World Report pointed out that not only are specialized students in great demand but also those who take a general college course, majoring in the arts and sciences. In fact the article pointed out that these persons in some instances were more in demand because the one with the general all-around knowledge could adapt himself more readily to almost any position.

We are delighted to see this trend and hope it continues. We would like to see in the not too distant future fifty percent of Southern and Northern graduates taking off for institutions of higher learning. Such a situation couldn't help but raise the sights of all the people of this area.

River Commission Plans Full Session Here Sept. 20-21

The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin will hold its fall meeting at the William-James Hotel, Oakland, on September 20 and 21. The meeting will be devoted to the "Conservation of Recreation and Wildlife Assets of the Potomac River Basin."

Ernest F. Swift, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, will be the keynote speaker. Reports on current recreational assets and programs in each of the four Potomac Basin states will be presented by Joseph F. Kaylor, director, Department of Forests and Parks for the state of Maryland. Maurice Goddard, secretary of Pennsylvania's Department of Forests and Waters, will speak for that state. William T. McChesney, Public Relations consultant of Staunton, Va., will speak about an action program for developing the Shenandoah River Water Conservation Association. Carl Johnson, director of the Department of Conservation, will represent West Virginia.

After lunch, a motor calvalcade will be formed to tour the Savage Riven Dam and State Forest, the Deep Creek Lake recreational area, and other points of interest. The destination will be the Swallow Falls Forest State Park and Herrington Manor Recreational Area. Plans have been made for a barbecue, by Joseph Kaylor and canoeing demonstrations will be conducted by the American Red Cross on the 53-acre lake.

On Friday, September 21, there will be a panel discussion moderated by Edward A. Ackerman of the Water Resources rogram for Resources for the Future, Inc. Members of the panel are: Eugene W. Weber, Office of the Chief of Engineers; Paul C. Watt, director of the National Captial Regional Planning Council and Elting Arnold, president-elect of the Potomac Valley Conservation and Recreational Council. The panel members will concern themselves with ideas and plans for dovetailing the development of wildlife and recreational needs in the Potomac Valley with the plans and requirements of all other legitimate uses of the critical water resources of the Potomac River Basin.

The various committees of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin will meet in joint session to discuss the distribution of "Potomac Playlands," the commission's new publication.

Bernard Frank, chairman of the Recreation and Wildlife Committee, will make a report, followed by an address from Helmuth Heise, president of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

Oakland's Finances In Good Condition

Finances of the city of Oakland were declared to be in a satisfactory condition, judging from a report of business over the past eight months.

A report of receipts for the first eight months showed a total of $81,348.82, compared to $72,396.27 for the same period last year. During the same period the expenditures totaled $68,479.14, compared to $69,932.79 for last year, showing more receipts and less expenditures. Cash on hand this year is $14,796.59 compared to $6,158.75 for the same period last year, an increase in the bank balance of $8,637.84.

Russell L. Smith, mayor, was informed that 82 percent of the 1956 taxes had been collected for this year.

Receipts for August totaled $24,267.05, with $632.95 from water, $16,706.87 from taxes and $6,927.23 from miscellaneous items. Among the latter items were $886.10 from parking meters, $2,398.63 from gasoline tax, $1,218.79 from motor vehicle revenue; and $1,661.37 from bank stock tax.

Expenditures for August totaled $18,430.88, which the Oakland fire department receiving $2,000, payment on water farm and interest, $1,785.; water bond and coupon payment, $3,120; street supplies, $4,919.87.

Sunday movie tax for August totaled $49.45.

School Enrollment Increased by 100

Garrett County school enrollment increased about 100 during the first week and the total now reaches 4,650 pupils. The enrollment is now approximately the same as that of last year with a few more pupils yet to enter.

Always at the beginning of the school year there are minor problems such as adjustments in bus schedules, reshuffling of desks and furniture needs, back orders of textbooks and instructional supplies to be received, and relocation of numerous bus shelters. But, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, such problems this year seemed to be at a minimum. Every school got its program underway in record time he said and added that all school cafeterias were in readiness and served regular lunches on the opening day.

He also pointed out that a full staff of teachers was on hand in every school. In some Maryland counties this was not the case with the shortage of teachers making it impossible to fill all vacancies.

Mr. Hawkins felt that another factor contributing to the efficiency was the week of pre-school meetings for principals, teachers and cafeteria workers. During this week detailed plans were developed for the opening week of the new school year. There are 184 teachers and principals' staff in the Garrett county schools.

Mr. Hawkins outlined objectives for the school year as including improvements in health and physical education, citizenship education, vocational education, outdoor education, art and music education, as well as basic training in fundamental general education subjects such as math, science, English and history.

He urged and invited all parents to join a Parent-Teacher organization and to give their support to the fast growing demand for better schools and better education for all youth everywhere.

Grand Jury Is Still In Session

Has Called Witnesses On Both Sides Of Commissioner Squabble

The September Term of the Garrett County Grand Jury was still in session at noon today after having convened Monday morning, and it was apparent that the investigating body would not conclude its work before this afternoon.

During the four days the jury has been in session it has been questioning a number of witnesses known to be on both sides of the County Commissioner squabble, and it was felt that the investigation would help in clearing the air.

They took one complete morning to question two individuals, and took their time in thoroughly questioning a number of others. There were still some individuals to be questioned after the body returned from the county roads office this morning.

No records are available for publication, so it is not possible to say anything in detail about what is going on in the Grand Jury room. The grand jury is purely an investigating body. According to S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, the jury has the right to indict or recommend, but does not have the power to criticize. If there is evidence of a violation of the criminal statutes there will be an indictment. If the jury finds no evidence of violations of the criminal statutes the jury will not find an indictment.

Will Open Bids On Elementary Schools

Bids on the two proposed elementary schools for this county will be opened on Tuesday at a joint meeting of the Board of County Commissioners and Board of Education. Price increases as a result of the recent steel strike are expected to add $50,000 to the cost of the proposed elementary schools for the county, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. One school is slated for construction along route 40, east of Grantsville, while the other will be build adjacent to Southern High school.

School Closed

Mr. Hawkins announced that the Mt. Lake Park elementary school had been officially closed by the Board. The fourteen children enrolled at the school have been transferred to the Center street school in Oakland, with the teacher having been added to the elementary staff.

Other School Notes

Among other items of interest concerning the schools:

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, spent Saturday with the local superintendent visiting some of the newly renovated and remodeled elementary schools, and was impressed with the improvements.

Dr. James Spitznas and Willis White, state high school supervisors, will visit the county high schools next week to observe classroom instruction.

Mrs. Mildred Zimmerman, of the State Department of Education, is in the county making her annual hearing tests. She will work in the schools for a period of three weeks.

School accident insurance is now being offered all school children by the Sterling Insurance company. This insurance is available through each school for $1.25 per pupil for one year. This covers accidents from any cause from the time a pupil leaves home for school in the morning until he or she returns from school in the evening. The amount of coverage is up to $2,500. All school insurance must be bought within the next ten days. All athletic activities with exception of football are covered by this insurance, and all school sponsored trips like band, athletic, sightseeing. Football players are covered by separate insurance.

A number of teachers and P.T.A. leaders have been invited to attend a meeting in Baltimore Saturday to discuss plans for the 1957 legislative program for schools, as approved by the State Board of Education a few weeks ago. This program calls for an $800 increase in teacher salaries over a ten-year period.

New furniture for twelve elementary classrooms, due August 15, is now being received and will be delivered to the schools next week.

George McLaughlin and Associates, certified public accountants, recently completed an audit of the annual expenditures of the Garrett County Board of Education and found all records to be exact in every detail and in excellent condition, according to Mr. Hawkins. He said the work of Mrs. Margaret McComas, financial secretary, and her assistant, Mrs. Mary Grace Umstot, was highly praised by the auditors.

Promotion Council Elects New Board

The Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Inc., elected a twelve-man board of directors at its first meeting since the council was incorporated one day last week.

Named to one-year terms as holdovers from the association prior to its incorporation were Helmuth Heise, outgoing president; Aubrey Brenneman, Irvin Feld, Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., and Aza Stanton.

Elected to two-year terms were Merrill Cargo, Howard Naylor, W. C. Englander, David Marple, William Ritter, Skeeter Bowman and Floyd Leighton.

Heise, chairman of the group, presided at the conference. He said the board would meet soon to elect officers for the year.

Approximately 35 persons attended the meeting. In other routine matters the council adopted its by-laws and planned projects for the coming year, including extension of summer activities and building of winter sports throughout the county.

Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the State Department of Information, spoke briefly on recreation and sports activities. Sigurd Brantingson, regional fish culturist, gave a report on fishing conditions on Deep Creek Lake.

Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion, has offered assistance to any group in the proper observance of Constitution Week.

In accordance with a congressional resolution the president of the United States has proclaimed the period of September 17 to 23 as Constitution Week, to be observed in schools, churches and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies and programs.

Those wanting assistance in preparing or presenting a program are asked to contact Rev. John J. Atwell, chairman of Americanism for the Legion post.

Compromise Reached

A $1,000 damage suit and its compromise settlement for $500 were filed together last Thursday in the Allegany County Circuit court.

Arthur Dale Ours, an infant, by his parents and next friends, Arthur William Ours and Mildred Ellen Ours, Swanton, filed the suit against Richard Edward Fazenbaker, Westernport.

The suit contended that young Ours, while a passenger in his father's motor vehicle, was seriously injured when their eastbound vehicle was struck by Fazenbaker's westbound car on state route 135 near Westernport. The youth sustained a broken right arm, lacerations, abrasions and contusions.

The $500 compromise settlement was signed by Clarence A. Penman, Ours' attorney; W. Earle Cobey, defense attorney, and the younger Ours parents. Also filed was an indemnifying release signed by the parents.

Examinations To Be Held

The State Commissioner of Personnel has scheduled an examination to fill openings for troopers with the Maryland State Police force.

Appointees will be given six months' training at the State Police Training academy. Troopers are supplied with uniforms and are given a food and clothing allowance, in addition to a salary of $2950 per year.

Further information is obtainable from the Commissioner of Personnel, 31 Light street, Baltimore, where applications are being received until September 22.

Mt. Top Chamber Protests Road Action

The Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce has taken action protesting the elimination of U.S. route 40, from Hancock to Washington, Pa., from the Federal Interstate Highway system.

Letters concerning the protest were sent to Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde and U.S. Senators J. Glenn Beall and John M. Butler.

In a letter to the legislators the Chamber of Commerce pointed out that route 40 was one of America's oldest roads and this particular area one of the most scenic and historic highways anywhere. It also pointed out that economically it would affect Western Maryland. It asked that a review of the interstate highway system be made and this part of route 40 be included in its plans.

The Board of directors met in regular session last Thursday at the William-James hotel in Oakland. Emile Germain, president, has set regular monthly meetings, starting October 4.

The Chamber is working with the B. and O. railroad for excursion trains in October for Autumn Glory time. More than 1,400 persons have been brought to this area in the past year or more and a number have returned to spend vacations in this area.

The Board heard a report that the Mercantile committee had conducted a successful bargain jamboree this past month. The committee will meet this month to formulate plans for Christmas. I. R. Rudy, Jr., is chairman of this committee and vice-president of the Chamber.

State-wide Alert Scheduled Today

An "alert" signal will be given at 1:45 p. m., with the "take cover" signal being given at 2 o'clock.

Marylanders are being urged to listen to their radios for instructions at the times mentioned. Persons are expected to take cover and traffic is supposed to halt during the "take cover" signal.

The all-clear signal will be given over the radio. There will be no siren to indicate this, according to civilian defense officials.

Flagman Is Injured In Car Collision

A flagman on U.S. route 219, at a road project at Deep Creek Lake, eight miles north of Oakland, was injured last Saturday when he was struck by a car that couldn't get stopped in time.

Tfc. Robert Henline, of the State Police, said the injured man was William Herring, 68, of Accident. He was admitted to the Garrett County Memorial hospital at Oakland suffering with a fractured right leg and a fractured right arm.

Tfc. Henline said the man was struck by a car operated by Kenneth Alexander Frazee, 19, of Friendsville.

Charges against Frazee include excessive speeding.

Cold Temperatures Are Felt In Area

Winter temperatures were felt in Garrett county Monday with the coldest spot in Maryland being New Germany where the thermometer registered 28 degrees at daylight. The official temperature at Weber's, south of town, was 31 degrees.

Heavy frost was reported in many parts of this county with corn facing possible damage. Cucumbers and other garden vegetables were nipped, and those who did not cover their crops suffered damage.

Crops in the area have been delayed during the late spring and summer by cold weather and there have been only a few periods of warm weather during the entire summer.

There has been considerable moderation since the frost and following Tuesday afternoon's fairly heavy rainfall. A resume of the week's weather showed Friday and Saturday clear; Sunday clear but with a cold wind; Monday morning, frost, but clearing during the day and clouding up at night. Tuesday brought rain and colder but Wednesday was clear and warm. Thursday dawned clear and warm. The moon is on its way to becoming full and any cooling of the atmosphere would bring a heavy and killing frost.

Squirrels Bite Boy; Still Makes News

You've heard that old saying that if a dog bites a man that isn't news, but if man bites dog, that IS news. Well, this week we have the chance to report the unusual experience of two squirrels biting boy.

It really happened to Robert Hoffman, aged 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoffman. The boy was swinging at the Oakland Elementary school on Monday morning when two squirrels hopped out of a tree and bit him on the fingers. In fact the lad had four marks on his fingers. Another lad grabbed one of the squirrels by the tail. Finally they both left. Robert was taken to the physician for a shot of anti-tetanus serum.

Republican Pulls Its Newspapers From Browning's Store

Last Friday morning The Republican withdrew its newspapers from the newsstand at Browning's Store in Oakland when the management refused to take out a number of inserts it had placed in the papers offered for sale.

The courts have ruled that a newspaper has complete control of its product until it is in the hands of the customer. Since newspapers are put on newsstands on consignment, always taking back what papers are not sold, and not accepting payment until they are sold, they are therefore not the property of a particular store, but belong to the newspaper until sold.

When this fact was pointed out to the management the store still refused to take out the inserts. We explained that we didn't care if he wanted to stand there and pass out a circular every time he sold a paper, but he couldn't legally place any insert in our newspaper. He still refused.

So we took our newspapers from the store. Until it is agreed that there will be no inserts placed in the newspaper there will be no more newspapers sold at Browning's.

In the meantime The Republican is available at the F. A. Smouse store, Oakland Pharmacy, Gonder's Confectionery, and Hamill's Stationery and Book store, in Oakland, and the usual places in Mt. Lake Park, Deer Park, Grantsville and Terra Alta.

League of Christian Voters Is Organized

An Interdenominational Committee known as "The Garrett County League of Christian Voters" has been organized. Its purpose is to bring the truth concerning alcohol, and what it does to individuals, homes and communities, to the attention of the people.

Plans are being laid to show two films. One, entitled "The Street," a 35-minute natural color and sound film portrays a case history of life in Chicago's "skid row." The other film entitled "Alcohol and the Human Body," presents what alcohol is and how it affects the human body and behavior.

Other plans concerning the distribution of literature are in the making as well.

Rev. Glenn W. Eagle, chairman, said, "Every individual who is interested in keeping Garrett County a decent place in which to live and rear children, is urged to attend the next meeting." This meeting will be held next Tuesday, September 18, at 7:30 p. m., in the Nazarene church.

To Address Rotary

H. M. Casteel, a former Garrett countian, at present division manager of Union Supply company, with headquarters in Uniontown, Pa., will address the Oakland Rotary club on Friday evening, September 14, at the William-James hotel.

Mr. Casteel recently returned from a six week tour of Europe. He has been away from this county for thirty years. He is a son of the late Hamill Casteel, and was reared at Hoyes. He is a grandson of the late Truman Casteel, farmer in the Oakland area for many years.

River Commission Is Asking For Plan On Upping Its Power

The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin was asking Tuesday to draft for four states and the District of Columbia a suggested amendment to the area compact to broaden the powers of the commission and give it regulatory and control authority.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde said the commission was also asked to submit, with the amendment, its recommendation on the advisability of such an amendment.

The meeting was held at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Rep. Hyde termed the meeting "a big success." The purpose of the meeting, he explained, was to receive instructions from the states involved.

Govs. Theodore R. McKeldin, of Maryland, and William C. Marland, of West Virginia, interrupted their activities at the Governors' conference in order to meet on the question. They and representatives of the District and Pennsylvania agreed to take up with the commission how to strengthen its power. Virginia was not represented.

McKeldin told the session:

"The use of streams to carry off industrial waste is not necessarily an evil in itself. It is the abuse of the privilege that causes the trouble. It is the careless and reckless poisoning and polluting of waters which calls for regulations and rules by prescription."

The Interstate Commission was organized in 1940. Its powers are limited to giving advice and making recommendations. The request is to be acted upon at the meeting in Oakland September 20 and 21. Rep. Hyde pointed out that no congressional action is required. "There already is enough law on the books for the Commission to expand," he said.

Local K of C's Will Honor State Deputy

The Oakland Council of the Knights of Columbus will honor Charles B. Humelsine, of Baltimore, state deputy, at a special meeting scheduled for Sunday, September 16, at the William-James hotel in Oakland. The meeting is set for 11 a. m. Mr. Humelsine will deliver a special address to the group.

He will be accompanied to Oakland by Carl Firlie, Cumberland, district deputy. Following the meeting a dinner will be held in Mr. Humelsine's honor.

This will be the first visit of a State deputy to the Oakland council since 1922. Members are urged to attend.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

In continuing the series on the Apostle's Creed, I want to consider this week the statement: "Who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary. . ."

This statement, as you can quickly discern, has to do with the way in which God chose to send His Son into the world. To me it seems ridiculous, but there have been many volumes written concerning this particular problem. Many men have wanted to "tie God down" to the level of their understanding, and have thereby disputed the "virgin birth." Some have argued that God is a logical, orderly God, and therefore He would not have been illogical in the creation of His Son for this life, and therefore the "virgin birth" is impossible. As a matter of fact, there are those who have refused to join the Christian Church because of this stumbling block, and there are many "pseudo-Christians," even within the clergy of some churches, who choose to remove this portion of life of Christ from their personal faith. Others have gone to great lengths to prove the biological possibility of the "virgin birth," searching history for other cases of what they call "parthenogenesis" (which when broken down into its Greek origin is "parthenos," which means virgin, and "genesis," beginning or birth) among the human race. Then others have defamed the name of our Lord by saying that this is just a way of covering up the fact that He was actually the illegitimate child of Mary and some unknown person, and Joseph felt sorry for her and married her. There are other even more ridiculous arguments and statements that have been made by other men in regards to this problem.

For me, it is no problem. I cannot understand in my human limitations even the fact that God had so much love as to want to send His Son to a world which did not actually deserve this mercy. As to how God chose to send His Son into the world, He could have done it any way He saw fit. If He chose to send the Son into the world with the introduction of a divine "sperm" into the "egg" of an outstanding fine and pure virgin young woman, then that was His way of doing it, and who am I to dispute God's way of doing things? Rather than do this, I should be very thankful for the fact that He came at all. The method and means of His sending the Son into the world was certainly not the way a man would have thought of it. In all probability if men had been in charge of this occurrence, there would have been a tremendous publicity program, many brass bands and speeches (the latter probably being political in nature, with some stupid politician trying to get elected "on Christ's coattails") and certainly there would have been much more illustrious surroundings than a simple cow's barn, and the woman chosen would certainly have had to be registered on the "social register."

Yet God chose a simple, pure, unknown peasant woman, a stable occupied by simple beasts, and a race which had known little fame or fortune for a long time past, and a means, the Virgin Birth, which man could not understand, and sent a Saviour to a world which needed Him badly, but which has never accepted Him completely. From this obscure, at the time almost completely hidden, event has come the greatest power the world has ever known, or for that matter, ever will know. The way of His coming teaches me that first of all I cannot rely on my ability to reason alone, but must start with what He wants me to know—in this case, I cannot reason out the Virgin Birth, but it is an historical fact; secondly, lest my head become too big in the world of human authority, I must remember the humble circumstances of the birth of my Lord and Saviour, the Son of the Living God, in Whose hands rests the fate of the world.

Garrett County Silver

BY ROSS C. DURST

—Reprinted from the Glades tar

The title of my little story will no doubt be greeted with a tolerant smile of our readers having Yankee antecedents. A few may feel impelled to give a resigned shrug of the shoulders. The really loquacious readers may exclaim, "Oh yeah? What silver?" Yet there are those still living to whom the mention of Garrett County Silver will bring back poignant memories of times long past. Some of those memories may not be exactly pleasant ones, and none of them will be amusing.

In reality there are three separate events whose stories I wish to narrate. They all occurred in the same general area. Unfortunately I cannot set exact dates to any of the events as I am writing entirely from memory with no notes. We can only say that many decades separated the first from the last.

The Layman Lode

George W. Layman was born in western Maryland in 1810. He lived in what was then known as District 3, Allegany County, Maryland. It is now the northern part of Garrett County. He often went hunting in the dense forests near his home. Game was plentiful. The old National Pike was then in its heyday, a great highway to the West. A constant stream of traffic flowed along this great Appian Way. Some traveled by coach, some by wagon, and some on horseback. Many went on "Shank's Mare." Large droves of cattle, sheep and hogs moved slowly along to the accompaniment of loud and raucous shouts of the drovers. A short distance on either side of the highway one plunged into the primeval forest where all was peace and quiet. Settlers cabins were few and far between.

On one occasion, Mr. Layman traveled far to the south and west of his usual haunts. He may have been hot in pursuit of some especially prized game or wild animal. Eventually he realized that he was in completely strange territory and hopelessly lost. Then, game forgotten, he began a long series of wanderings trying to extricate himself. Tired and thirsty, he came at last to a free-flowing mountain spring. After quenching his thirst and while resting beside the spring, he noticed an outcropping of rock that was like nothing he had ever seen before. It was heavy and had a metallic sheen. He broke off a chunk of the rock and placed it in his hunting bag. Then he resumed his weary wandering.

He came eventually to a point that he recognized and was able to get his bearings and thus home. This point which he was later able to identify was known during my boyhood as the Bancord farm. It was later owned by Lewis Warnick and still later by his son William Warnick. It is at New Germany just below the Twin Churches and some five miles from the old National Pike.

Upon reaching home the chunk of rock was placed on the "what-not" and forgotten except to show the the neighbors as a curiosity. At a much later date someone saw it and prevailed upon him to send it away for assaying. I do not known what the completed assay showed but the silver was extracted and minted into silver coins. When these were returned to Mr. Layman they amounted to $16.10. Daniel Layman, son of George and the writer's uncle, carried one of these silver half-dollars as a pocket-piece during most of his life.*

While there are too many unknowns in the equation for an accurate estimate, it seems reasonable to assume that at that time $16.10 would represent a full pound (Troy) of pure silver. A man lost in the woods would probably not burden himself with a large amount of rock. The concentration of metal in the ore seems to have been very high suggesting a fissure lode of some form of native silver. There is, of course, no way of estimating the extent of the lode. It might be large or small.

When Mr. Layman learned of the true value of his find, he began an intensive search for the original location. The lapse of time had erased most of the details and the face of nature had changed. Although the search was continued for many years, nothing was ever found. Nature seems to have exposed her secret for a moment then dropped the curtain. A century later, her secret is still undisclosed.

In later years, after all hope had been abandoned, Mr. Layman confided to a friend the only clues which he remembered. The first clue, and a positive one, was the fact that the stream flowing away from the spring flowed in a due easterly direction. The second clue was that he believed the spring was on the west side of Meadow Mountain. There are literally hundreds of springs on the east side of Meadow Mountain that flow due east but comparatively few of those on the west side of the mountain do so. The natural slope is to the west. A few springs have been found that fit the description but they have been searched and studied with negative results. Some parts of the area have been cultivated for nearly a century but much of it is still covered with second-growth timber. The area in question stretches from New Germany to the North Glade section. This story is told for its historical value only. If this lode is ever discovered it will probably be entirely accidental just as was the original discovery.

The Silver Belie

Two "gentlemen" prospectors named Miller came from Arizona and began prospecting for gold and silver in Garrett County. It can only be assumed that they had heard the story of the Layman Lode. Eventually they announced that they had found valuable ore on the property of Hiram Duckworth. This was in a remote spot in the Bamkwoods section beyond Fairview church. I have not visited that section for fifty years but I seem to recall that it lies near the headwaters of Bear Pen Run. Samples were sent away for assay and were found to contain a high percentage of silver. This produced great excitement throughout the region. Action was begun at once to form a mining company called The Silver Belle. Stock sold readily when it became known that certain bankers at Lonaconing were investing heavily. Whether they invested their own money or bank funds I do not know.

Coal miners were brought from Georges Creek to begin the mining operations. There is a world of difference between hard-rock mining and coal mining but no hard-rock miners were available. In the light of subsequent events, this choice may have been intentional. Considerable activity followed but no paying ore was ever found. When the sale of stock dried up, the work was suspended. The investment was a complete loss.

There were those who claimed that the failure to find ore was due to incorrect mining methods. On the other hand there were others that contended with equal vigor that the whole venture was a stock-selling scheme. They hinted that the original ore sent in for assay was in reality brought from Arizona for that purpose. At this late date we are unable to resolve the contending arguments. We can only say that if it was a swindle, it must have been a masterful one.

Phineas Boucher, a well known and respected local surveyor was called in from time to time to make surveys in connection with the property and the mine. He was a close personal friend of my father. When making surveys in the vicinity he always stopped at our home for a visit. I recall that on one such visit he was reminiscing about the Silver Belle. He remarked jokingly that he was probably one of the few persons that ever got any silver out of the Silver Belle.

The Duckworth Mine

Around the turn of the century another flurry of excitement occurred. Silver bearing ore had been discovered on the property of Israel Duckworth. This too, was in a remote section some miles to the east of the Twin Churches at New Germany. It lay somewhere between Blacklick Run and Bluelick Run. All of these runs drain into the Savage River. This spot is perhaps not more than six or eight miles "as the crow flies" from the site of the Silver Belle but many times that distance by existing roads.

According to a story told at the time, the discovery was made as a result of a dream by Mrs. Duckworth. She was supposed to have dreamed three nights in succession that silver would be found by digging beside a certain log in the woods with which she was familiar. I cannot vouch for the story but at any rate an excavation was made and some promising looking ore was found. I visited the mine in company with a number of neighboring boys and was shown what was believed to be silver ore. Since I had never seen any silver ore at that time, I was in no position to judge its merits.

Some prominent figures became interested and invested some money in the venture although I do not believe any stock was sold. I do not know just what the financial arrangements were. Ex-Governor Lloyd Lowdnes was one of the V.I.P's. that visited the location and invested some money. Again, silver was not found in paying quantities and again rosy dreams of sudden wealth went glimmering.

*Another version of the story is that the amount received was sixteen half-dollars and 10 cents. Even if this was the correct amount, a very rich lode was indicated.

The Senator's Failing . . .

Senator Friend's convenient little failing—that of not telling the whole story, continues to crop up. It cropped up this past week in an "open letter to the editor" made into handbills and distributed far and yon.

He fails to tell the people WHY the editor of this newspaper called him a liar. The first paragraph of the letter he brought to this office last week charged me with having a local attorney assist me in writing my editorials. Since I don't need an attorney to help me, and since I had not obtained such help I told the Senator so in no uncertain terms—terms that he couldn't mistake. So he left with the open letter of his own free will. The letter which subsequentiy appeared under his signature IS NOT the same letter he presented to me last week, for he made no mention of attorneys helping me. But you see how he twists the truth.

And his failure to tell why I called him a liar misleads his readers into believing I called him that merely because he presented me with his letter. He is nothing short of malicious.

Now, if his main object, as he says, is to find out how they spent almost two million dollars during the two years, he has only to go to the records in the office of the Roads Department where every item of expenditure is on record and over which competent auditors have made an audit and have found these records in good order.

We asked the Senator last week for something specific. We asked him to name one "junket" trip that the Commissioners took that wasn't necessary and we said at that time that instead of getting down to individuals and specific cases he would probably answer with a tirade about spending $50,000 for dynamite—in 1954 — BEFORE THE PRESENT COMMISSIONERS TOOK OFFICE. The Senator moves according to plan. He did just that, and added another word in his pink sheet about money spent for steel.

This has been fully explained before and was explained satisfactorily to the previous Grand Jury. In fact the grand jury commended them for their work in constructing the garage. If the Senator calls this a whitewash we think he ought to be cited for contempt of court.

Last week he charged the commissioners with spending thousands of dollars for equipment without seeking bids. Then when he got caught in his own trap on this question, he immediately shifted to something else.

When we come to the audit question, when the Senator says it is evident that I do not like the idea of having accounts of the County Roads department audited, he is completely false. Not once have I ever inferred such a reaction. What I am arguing about are the Senator's false statements in saying the records are jumbled, ambiguous and that a person can't make heads or tails of them. The account system used by the Roads department was set up by Wooden and Benson, certified public accountants, Baltimore.

The accounts have been audited annually by competent persons. The commissioners on July 2 (on the official minutes) sent letters requesting recommendations of certified public accountants to John S. Shriver, director of fiscal research Bureau, and James L. Benson, state auditor, with the purpose in mind to arrange for an audit. Bids also were sought at that time. This was done even BEFORE the Senator had made his insinuations and demands.

Now a word on who started the system of bookkeeping now in use.

By a resolution passed on November 3, 1941, the Board gave authority to the Roads engineer to sign all checks for the roads department. And who were county commissioners at that time?—Cheston H. Browning, Blaine Giessman and Paul Friend. Who was Senator?—Clifford Friend.

That authority was given to keep the treasurer (Jesse J. Ashby) from getting his one percent commission on collections. At that time the treasurer's pay was determined by the amount of money he collected.

By another resolution on March 2, 1942, the Roads engineer was authorized to sign all checks and vouchers in conjunction with the clerk of the board pertaining to payment of all bids rendered to the roads department for materials, supplies and equipment and further authorized the signing of all labor payroll checks for employes of the roads department, and the same were to be honored by the Garrett National Bank without the signature of the clerk of the County Commissioners provided that the total payroll should be first signed and transferred by the clerk and engineer to the roads department for the total amount of each payroll period.

Who were the County Commissioners then? Browning, Giessman and Friend. And who was the Senator? Clifford Friend.

Mr. Friend claims published financial statements don't mean anything. They are not intended to show a list of every item of expenditure. But a list of every item is compiled and on record. That record is open to public inspection.

Is it so difficult for the Senator to get it through his head that ALL money received by the Roads Department each year is not spent on new construction? They get around $200,000 each year for new construction, not a million dollars. In four years the Commissioners built 48 miles of roadways. But the Senator calls this "no construction," and while speaking of a million dollars we might mention that the Senator himself cost this county a million dollars. If he had not been against the school program several years ago both high schools could have been built for less than half what they finally did cost. The amount Mr. Friend cost the county and is still costing the county in interest payments will more than total a million dollars. There's no way to ask him for an audit of this, but Garrett county stands the loss, just the same.

We'd still like to know why the Senator demanded that the County Commissioners "give in" and purchase the higher priced voting machines.

The whole trouble has stemmed from this fact. He learned that he couldn't brow-beat and coerce two of our county commissioners. So he wants to pin on them the responsibility for the conduct of the County Commissioners office ever since Browning and Giessman were there.

The present commissioners took their oath of office in December, 1954, at which time they reviewed the work of the Roads Department. By their own statements they said they found some ways of doing business which they did not approve. So they took steps in February of 1956 (a matter of record) to require three signatures of county commissioners instead of two, on all vouchers before checks were paid.

On July 16, 1956, (also according to official records) the County Commissioners had a discussion regarding the racing and gasoline funds received by the Commissioners for use in the roads department, whether these funds could be deposited with the county treasurer and orders drawn in favor of the Roads Department. The attorney to the board at that time advised that he did not think this could be done legally without levying for this amount first. It was decided that a record of the checks received would be made in the Commissioners' office before the check was turned over to the Roads department, and thus they would not go through the treasurer's office.

In the search for truth we merely ask that in that search the taxpayers absorb the full treatment—not just a small portion that is badly warped and very inconsistent.

I emphasize again—take what the Senator says with a grain of salt and not as the gospel truth. We feel it is a smoke screen to cover up his own shameful act in striking Webb DeWitt and breaking his jaw. This act, he will not be able to cover up so easily. Let the "pink sheet" man get out a circular explaining these few remarks.

Letter To The Editor

Accident, Md.
September 5, 1956

Editor, The Republican
Oakland, Md.
Dear Editor,

For some time I have observed and read with interest the letters to the Editor. Of course, I do not wish to enter the present controversy, but like so many other writers I have an axe of my own to grind.

To begin, since our good Senator is so interested in saving the taxpayers dollars, I am wondering if he has given any thought to helping the physically handicapped in Garrett County who are able to do light work and thus help obtain a livelihood, but who, due to the isolation of their homes are on the relief rolls.

Due to an illness, I am one of these unfortunate people with a family to support. I am unable to do heavy work, but the family physician says that if I could find light work I could carry on to support my family. This would take me off the relief rolls and be a saving to the taxpayers of the county and state.

I know that I am not the only person in Garrett County that is handicapped and on relief and still able to do useful work. Therefore, I wish to ask the question: What has the Senator done to alleviate this condition in Garrett County? In all my reading of the public press and in coming in contact with other people of the surrounding section I am still in the dark on this point.

If all the physically handicapped people in Garrett County who are able to do light work could be gainfully employed, many thousand dollars could be saved to be used for other purposes.

Does he (the Senator) expect us to depend on doles or public funds to feed our families or would he rather induce some private industry to come in and gainfully employ us?

Yours truly,
Jacob J. Oester

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

When we try to do something contrary to natural laws we ultimately fail. When we acknowledge the natural laws and exercise our brains to find better ways to use them—then we're on the right track. Lamar Fleming, Jr., is chairman of the Board of directors of Anderson, Clayton & Company, one of the nation's largest concerns dealing in raw cotton. All his life he has been engaged in the cotton business. The cotton farmer's welfare is important to the success of his company. What he has to say about American cotton production and the Government's high price support and acreage control program carries great weight.

"Let us sum up the price the American cotton grower is paying for his high price supports," Mr. Fleming said in a speech before the American Cotton Congress. "The supports have accelerated the expansion of cotton growing and of production of alternative materials here and in other countries and have contributed to the accumulation of a crushing surplus.

"To check this accumulation of surplus, we have resorted to restriction of cotton acreage, and American farmers have been deprived of freedom to plant cotton on new cotton lands, and compelled to reduce their cotton acreage on old cotton lands. This substantially has stopped the natural migration of cotton-growing to lands within this country that can produce it cheaper than the less suitable of the old lands, so that natural reductions in the production cost of U. S. cotton have been impeded.

"Moreover, the reduction of acreage on every cotton farm has increased the cost of production of all of them, just as running a factory on a short-term basis increases its costs. And the object of checking accumulation of surplus has not been accomplished.

"These devices, however well intentioned," said Mr. Fleming, "have cost the farmer his freedom in use of his land and his possibility of achieving low production-cost on the land that he still is permitted to use . . . The further we go with price supports and with the unnatural measures that become necessary to protect them, the greater the cost becomes to the cotton farmer himself and to the rest of the American people."

Mr. Fleming's long-range remedy: "I believe," he said, "the ultimate salvation for our cotton economy must be sought in fundamentals—in making use of the best land resources we have, in reducing the cost of production on such land by ever better farming and by operating at the rates most efficient for each unit, and by meeting competition price-wise both in the home market and the foreign market." The job ahead for all segments of agriculture, it would seem, is to gradually get back to a healthy, natural situation in which all segments and all people can stand on their own feet.

THE AMERICAN WAY

THE RECORD PLAYS ON

(By George Peck, Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

One of my editor friends has rapped me over the knuckles, because, in his estimation, I am devoting too many of my columns to the battle between government and the investor-owned companies for control of electric power development in the U.S.A. Says he in a telegram: "Let's pull the plug on electric power and turn the record over before it wears out."

Now, as this telegram comes from an editor for whose judgment over a period of years, I have developed a great respect, it rather frightens me. As I know he is definitely against government operating anything that can be operated better by private enterprise, I can only conclude that in his own particular area there is no threat of government entering into the power business.

Quite frankly I admit that a large number of my articles have been devoted to the electric power issue. For that I make no apology, because, in my humble opinion, it is the most important, the most vital to the future welfare of this nation. Let me state why I believe this to be the case, not only for the benefit of my editor friend, but for any readers of this column who may likewise feel the electric power issue has been a bit overdone herein.

The investor-owned electric companies are the sitting-ducks, the entering wedge for the eventual socialization of all industry in the U.S.A. The government power advocates inject flood control and irrigation into the picture as the pretexts for by-passing private enterprise development of electric energy. That is the entering wedge.

As a for-instance; take a look at TVA—foisted on the taxpayers as a flood control proposition, with electricity only as a bi-product, today a great percentage of the electric energy it produces is made from coal. It presently is trying to bludgeon Congress into appropriating more of the taxpayers' money for expanding further production from coal.

As another for-instance, just consider the Niagara Falls fiasco. Here there can be no question of flood control or irrigation—it is simply a straight, out-and-out power development. But what do we see? The public power zealots bitterly opposing the development of further power at Niagara by five well-established investor-owned companies who can do the job at absolutely no cost to the taxpayers.

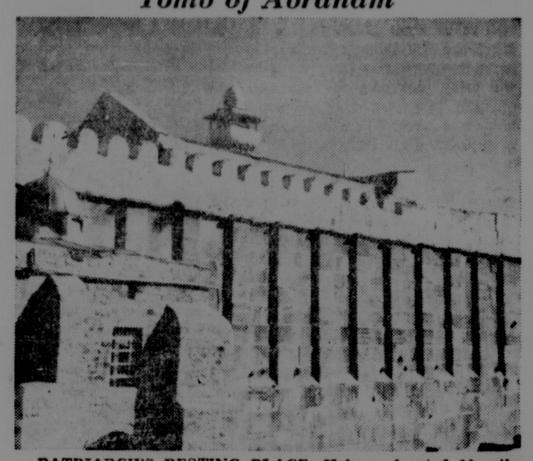
Now to get back to my editor friend. Perhaps at this particular time there is no threat of public power in his bailiwick, but let me say this to him with all the force I can command—if the public power advocates are not fought vigorously at every point in this nation where they rear their ugly heads, as surely as night follows the day, it is inevitable that one sad day his area will be infested with public power.

And once having completely captured the power industry, the next move of the socialists will be to gun for the coal mines and the oil wells, because they are vital to electric power production. Then having nationalized production of coal and oil, an all-out onslaught will be perpetrated against all production in the U.S.A.—and our economic system that has made us the world's outstanding nation, will be history.

The foregoing briefly is my reason, not my excuse, for sounding off so frequently on this power issue—and why I shall continue to do so. The Wayne Morses are hellbent to socialize electric energy production—they will not rest until they have either succeeded or been completely repudiated by the American people. During the past year the Federal Power Commission granted the Idaho Power Co. the right to develop the Snake River. Did that stop the Wayne Morses? Not by a jugful! They fought like wildcats to upset the award. But thank goodness, last month the U.S. Senate confirmed the Idaho Power award. For that confirmation, the Senate certainly deserves the heart-felt thanks of the American citizenry.

And so, just so long as the public-power pundits are abroad in the land, I am not going "to turn that record over." Readers of this column, herewith are given fair warning that I'll continue to hammer away against government ownership even at the calculated risk of not only "wearing out the record," but of wearing them out as well and perhaps even George Peck, himself.

Tomb of Abraham



PATRIARCH'S RESTING PLACE: Hebron, located 20 miles south of Jerusalem, is one of the oldest continuously inhabited communities in Jordan, one of the Bible Lands. It is situated in a valley and on a sloping hill 3,000 feet above sea level. It is surrounded by vineyards noted for their green and white grapes and olive groves. Hebron's outstanding attraction is the Mosque of Abraham, where the patriarch is reputed to be buried along with his wife Sarah, Isaac, Jacob, Leah and Rebecca.

Grantsville Beats Zihlman 5 to 2

Donnie Wilkinson and Bobby Dawson kept Grantsville and Mt. Savage in the running for the play-off title in the Pen-Mar Baseball league when they pitched Grantsville and Mt. Savage to victories over Zihlman and Barrelville Sunday in games at Grantsville and Mt. Savage.

Wilkinson turned back Zihlman 5 to 2 while Dawson shut out Barrelville's pennant winning club 3 to 0.

Results of Sunday's games tied up both series at one win for each team. The rubber game of each series is set for next Sunday at 2:30 at Grantsville and Mt. Savage.

Wilkinson who had a 6-0 record during the regular season, made it seven straight by mastering Zihlman which copped the series opener 4 to 1.

Grantsville scored three runs in the first inning on Fred Colaw's walk, singles by Toby Colaw and Wengerd and a two-base hit. Grantsville also tallied once in the fifth and once in the 8th. Junie Perry sparked Grantsville's attack with a double and two singles while Wilkinson struck out ten and issued only one base on balls.

Students Resume Studies

When colleges open their doors to incoming freshmen during the next two weeks, Southern High school will be well represented.

Thirty-five of the 139 students who were graduated this past June are continuing their education this fall. This represents an increase of eight additional students over the previous year's graduating class.

"The fact that almost one fourth of the graduating class is attending college this fall speaks well for the school and its program," Kenneth Johns, principal, stated. "Through excellent instruction, guidance and encouragement from their teachers, more and more students are striving to perform their studies in a superior fashion. We are happy to see so many students going to higher institutions of learning," he concluded.

At least forty-five other students are returning to schools and colleges to complete their training.

Hyde Advocates Tax Relief For Small Business

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Republican candidate for re-election from this district, speaking to the Frostburg Rotary club this week, advocated a reduction in taxes for small business.

Hyde said that the "ability to pay" principle should be applied to small concerns. Such savings in the tax burden would strengthen the competitive position of small business.

"Our very way of life is threatened by bigness in government, bigness in business and bigness in labor unions. Struggling for survival in the seas of bigness is not just the small operator, but the whole concept of free competitive enterprise and a form of government dedicated to serving, not destroying the independence of the people."

Those who advocate greater concentration of power in Washington must be checked, he declared. Hyde also pledged a continued effort to get the U.S. route 40 area between Hancock and Washington, Pa., placed in the Federal Interstate Highway system from which it has been deleted.

Senator John Marshall Butler also attended the meeting and spoke but his remarks were of a non-political nature.

Butler Begins Campaign

Republican Senator John Marshall Butler began his candidacy for re-election in Western Maryland on Monday by visiting voters in the Garrett county area. He plans to spend the week at it.

He toured parts of the county with members of the State Central committee and talked to voters on political issues at every opportunity.

He crossed into Allegany county Tuesday afternoon and planned to spend the balance of the week in that area.

Accompanying him to Oakland was Odell Smith, a political writer for the Baltimore Sun.

Town Announces Completion of Three Street Improvements

Announcement of the completion of the street improvements on Fourth street and adjacent streets, was made at the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council.

Three blocks on Fourth street, from Green to Crook, and one block each on Pennington and Center streets, between Third and Fourth, have been completely resurfaced at a cost of $19,425.41. This total included an amount of $4,972.56 carried over from the previous year. Russell L. Smith, mayor, said the improvements already had been paid for.

The council also passed a resolution in regard to the relocation of the Bradley Crossing across the B. and O. railroad. The resolution brought out the fact that the crossing was no longer used by the public generally and stipulated that upon construction of a new crossing the town would waive and release any and all rights and interests in the Bradley crossing. The relocation of the road is contemplated to provide a roadway for the new processing plant now in the construction stage just west of Oakland. The town decreed that none of the expense in relocating the road should be born by the town.

The Processing company officials have been in communication with the B. and O. railroad and the County Commissioners also in regard to the road. The Commissioners have agreed to restore the abandoned road and construct a roadway to the new plant and the railroad expressed the opinion it had no objections to the relocation of the present roadway.

Other Council Action

Among other council activities were the following:

Passed a resolution declaring that no further extensions of utilities would be made beyond the corporate limits except in case of public institutions financed and supported by public funds and taxes or industrial installations;

Made available application blanks for any person wanting to use the town equipment; heard a request from Ralph Pritts for repair of alley back of his garage and for improvement of 9th street; raised salary of Jack Uphold, caretaker at the city dump, from $40 to $50 per month, and also declared that outside hauling was prohibited. Councilmen were told that people from Hutton, Mt. Lake Park, and other areas were hauling their trash there.

Appointed James Carney as weighmaster for town, following recent resignation of Lee R. Mason. Carney was named from among four applicants who also included Boyd R. Sanders, Sr., Dennis Rasche and Walter N. Welch.

Granted the following permits:

To J. Paul Riley to remove 500-gallon tank and install three 2,000-gallon tanks and relocate pump island at Ralph Pritts garage;

To Harold S. Bierer for Shaffer Motor Sales, to erect frame dwelling 30 by 60, for storage; to Regis Kerins, to erect garage 24 by 32, at his present dwelling; to William E. Naylor, to erect one-story frame dwelling, 38 by 43, on Green street, at approximate cost of $15,000; to Mack Propst, to erect split level frame and stone house 24 by 48, on High street, at approximate cost of $10,000; to Bernard Nally, to erect addition to present building on Second street, 40 by 40, at approximate cost of $5,000.

42 Marriage Permits Granted Past Week

Forty-two marriage licenses were issued during the past week ending Monday at noon from the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court. This was the number issued for the month of September thus far. Three licenses issued were marked "don't publish."

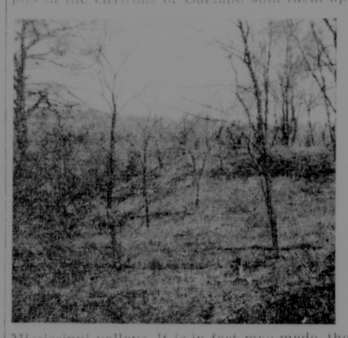
Fortalice 88

BY DENNIS T. RASCHE
—Reprinted from Glades Star.

Few visible reminders remain within the borders of Garrett County of the long and bitter strife of the Civil War. The extensive earthworks of Fort Pendleton, a few scars in the solid masonry of the railroad bridge at Bloomington now filled with concrete, and same small rifle pits in the environs of Oakland sum them up. Even the existence of the latter item has faded from the recollection of all but a few of the older residents of the vicinity.



Their purpose was protection of the railroad bridge across the Youghiogheny river against Rebel attempts to destroy it.

In the northeast angle formed by river and railroad stands a mound much resembling those made by the mysterious and long-vanished Mound Builders of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. It is in fact man-made, the earth having been heaped up by railroad workers on the order of John W. Garrett, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad during the war years. The height is about fifteen feet above the level of the tracks. On the mound's flattened top are the trenches forming a square each side of which measures 27 feet in length. Three of the sides are in a good state of preservation considering the rains and frosts of ninety odd years, the fourth side having been flattened by erosion. During the years the miniature fort was in use a log shelter stood inside the square. Today a pink oak with a 14-inch trunk grows there, and near the base of the mound a white oak with a stem 20 inches in diameter, both trees having attained this growth since the 1860's.

The approaches to the bridge were within easy range of muskets used by Union infantrymen. Thus the little fort was well-placed to enable its garrison to fight off small parties seeking the destruction of the bridge, then a wooden one. Known locally a half century ago as the Iron Bridge, its official designation among the railroad fraternity is 88 Bridge.

While the rifle pits were adapted to defend the bridge against small parties of raiders, a commanding hill nearby rendered the garrison more than vulnerable to attack by big forces operating from a higher elevation and with a down-hill shot into the pits. The slope is strewn with large blocks of stone, and these with irregularities in the ground would have availed an attacking force as cover during its approach to within range of the carbines used by Southern cavalrymen. Also the position could be brought under a flanking fire from two other sides while the main attack was being launched by men with carbines from the hill-side.

Such an eventuality came to pass on April 26th, 1863, when the little fort was taken without bloodshed. Upon seeing an overwhelming Rebel force suddenly appear and begin getting into position for an assault the non-com in command wisely and prudently surrendered his force of a dozen or so.

Only half an hour earlier 30 men and 2 officers had been surprised and captured in Oakland when a large Confederate cavalry force suddenly appeared and entered the town.

The 1200 Rebel riders led by Colonel Asher W. Harman were part of a larger force of about 4500 commanded by General William E. Jones, the main body proceeding along the Northwestern turnpike (now Route 50) toward Grafton and Fairmont.

Col. Harman rested and refreshed his men at Oakland, paroled his prisoners, burned the railroad and vehicular bridges, and went on to rejoin his chief just before the main force entered Grafton.

The destruction of Bridge 88 was the only important success achieved by the men in gray within the borders of the county.

A year later, on May 6th, 1864, a small party of 62 men of McNeil's Rangers attempted to blow up the stone arch railroad bridge at Bloomington. This was thwarted by the arrival of a stronger Union force from New Creek (now Keyser).

Excepting the railroad traversing it Garrett County was without important military objectives and was therefore spared he destruction and spoliation visited upon many other areas during these troubles and violent years. The strategists of both North and South from the war's beginning always kept in mind the importance to the North's war effort of the railroad—the Baltimore and Ohio. Rebel attempts to cripple or damage the line were persistent and repeated. They were often successful, damage exceeding three million dollars worth being inflicted in the dozens and scores of destructive raids.

So important did the continued operation of the new road seem to Mr. Lincoln and his military advisers that nearly 24,000 soldiers were posted for its defense between Parkersburg and the Monocacy river, with the biggest concentration of 5000 at Harper's Ferry. Collected together in one unit this force would have exceeded in numbers any of the bigger army corps of the time.

The railroad then was the principal objective of the big raid led by General Jones insofar as this county was concerned. A secondary objective was that concentrations were in progress that would lead to the great battle of Chancellorsville only a week later. It is probable General Lee expected that a strong force might be detached from the Army of the Potomac and sent by rail to try to intercept Jones and ward off the Rebel thrust, a very serious one. Or, if that did not transpire Marse Robert could at least be sure that General Benj. F. Kelley, in command of the large forces guarding the railroad would be prevented from sending any of his men to reinforce Hooker because of the threat of the Jones raid.

Thirdly—and this was a continuing objective for both sides throughout in Garrett County and elsewhere—General William E. Jones was interested in collecting horses and cattle. At the end of the raid he sent southward 1200 horses and 1000 cattle, but only a few were taken from this county. Sixteen railroad bridges were burned, one tunnel blown up, and 150,000 barrels of oil destroyed, besides other damage.

Shortages of many kinds of materials and supplies were embarrassing in the Southland from the beginning. By the time the shooting war had been going on for two years they had become acute. In another six months, they were well-nigh desperate and General Lee would be writing to Richmond that the health and morale of his men were deteriorating because of inadequate food; that desertions were becoming a very serious problem; that when a brigade would be ordered out on duty sometimes a couple of hundred men had to be left in camp because the men could not endure the cold and privation without shoes and blankets.

Mention of the cattle General Jones sent southward recalls orders frequently issued by General Kelley (later identified with this county as a resident) when detaching small parties for patrol and reconnaisance in enemy territory: "The men will carry six days rations of hard bread, coffee, sugar, and salt." The implication of the last item was broad: there were beef critters, hogs, sheep, and poultry in the country to be traversed.

As was natural the country people looked askance, lifted their eyebrows, and otherwise as we say nowadays took a dim view of all this. Hundreds were ruined—thousands. But in war time who'd argue with a passel of determined and hungry-looking chaps carring lethal weapons?

SWANTON

Scout Activities

The Swanton Girl Scouts will have their annual primitive camp this week-end, leaving from the school house Friday evening for their campsite at Green Glade where tents will be pitched. Saturday the girls will cook meals, wash necessary articles for use during camp and do other badge work. A campfire will be held Saturday evening. Sunday morning the girls will attend Sunday School, returning to camp for "clean up." Since returning from camp at Oldtown, the girls have worked on clearing their campsite and erecting a primitive kitchen for use during the camp. Plans for the camp were made by the girls working on their pioneer badge.

Brothers Killed In Auto Crash

Two young McKeesport, Pa., brothers, riding in a car driven by Mrs. Sally Weir, 43, owner of the Chalk Hill hotel, near Uniontown, were killed early last Monday morning, September 3, in an accident on Woodcock hill, route 40.

Mrs. Weir was returning to the hotel from Deep Creek Lake where she had taken the boys for an outing when the accident occurred at a point six miles east of their destination.

Pronounced dead upon arrival at Uniontown hospital were Stephen Furlong, 12, and Raymond Furlong, 9, sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Furlong, McKeesport. Mrs. Weir suffered head and internal injuries and was admitted to the hospital.

The trip to Deep Creek to spend the day with friends was arranged after the boys and their father had stopped at the hotel Sunday morning.

Pennsylvania State Police said Mrs. Weir lost control of her car in a heavy fog and it sheared off a telephone pole and rolled over into a field. The accident occurred about 2:30 a. m. on a dangerous curve about three miles east of Farmington.

Meet The Students

In the first of this year's series of "Meet the Students," Southern presents two of its outstanding senior academic students.

Frederick O. Teets

Presiding over the first school assembly of this year, was the president of this year's Student Council, Frederick O'Neil Teets. Fred is a senior and an honor student. Last year he was Vice-president of the Council and previous to that he was a representative.

Fred is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Teets of Underwood. He has two brothers, one of whom William, was graduated from Southern High two years ago. His younger brother, Charles, is in the fourth grade.

Fred's schedule consists of core, physics, solid geometry, trigonometry, Spanish 2, and band. He is interested in extra curricular activities, especially dramatics. He attends the Brethren Church at Red House. He was vice-president of the Oakland Teen-Age Club this past year.

To become an engineer is Fred's greatest ambition, and his high school record so far indicates he is likely to succeed.

Doris Lawson

The second half of the assembly was devoted to learning and reviewing Southern High's cheers. In charge of this part of the program was Doris Lawson, head cheerleader this year.

Doris, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Lawson, lives on Oak Street in Oakland.

Taking the academic course, Doris' classes include core, physics, journalism, trigonometry, and creative writing.

In addition to being captain of the cheerleading squad, she is editor of the Highlander, Southern's yearbook. Both of these positions require a lot of planning and hard work.

Doris is a member of the dramatics club, Girls' Athletic Association, and the Oakland Teen Age Club. She was also a delegate to a Journalism Convention at Lexington, Va., this past May.

Doris attends the Maple Spring Brethren Church and participates in the activities of the Christian Brethren Youth Fellowship.

Besides being a sports' fan she is also a fan of Elvis Presley, as most girls are.

As for future plans, Doris has not decided on anything definite except college.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Our Own Acre of Diamonds

You've read or heard the story about the man who travelled the world over looking for wealth and found acres of diamonds in his own backyard. That's been our experience since we decided to see Garrett county by the way of the byways.

Strange as it may seem when we were charting our course Jane came through with "Let's go to Crellin, I've never been there." Being a mere three miles away we could hardly believe she was being truthful.

So we did Crellin before the mist lifted from the mountains. Actually I can only say two things about our neighboring town which has supplied us with high school athletes this past four years. It's a town of fine people who grow pretty flowers. It is one of the best kept mining towns I have ever seen.

We did Kempton for the second time this summer as well as Fairfax Stone. The message of these two places are quite opposite. The ghost town a perfect example of the lack of security in material things; the spring, that is the size of a wash basin which is the beginning of the Potomac clearly tells us that all great things are small in the beginning. For these two lessons it is worth the trip.

We saw Red Oak for the first time and were grateful for a few names on mailboxes since it helps to connect people with communities. (I have noticed that the better kept farms and homes are usually the ones who identify themselves.)

To get to Wilson and Gorman we took a new road from Thomas that seems to be cut in a straight line through the forest to Bayard. A beautiful road and not a commercial sign on it.

A wide view of cultivated fields, corn in tassel, golden grain waving, joe-pye weed blooming along the fence rows, white clouds against a blue sky.

A perfect day for color photography, but we had no such luxury. So we had to stamp on our minds and in our hearts, which may be the better way, that Gorman and Steyer are an important section of our great county.

A Stone's Throw

Have you ever looked out on a spot from your window or porch and wondered what the world looked like from that spot. A thought like that never entered my mind until recently. It would seem that views is my hobby these days, but I was downright ashamed when I stumbled on one this past Sunday at our back door that is equal to Pea Ridge.

I have always been content to look out on my neighbors' fields and be content with what I saw. It was only because we were taking a near cut from the woods behind Monte Vista that we came upon this one. There's a meadow above Carlton Callis' home (the former Newman farm) that joins a cultivated field of T. C. Bittinger. A lone oak stants there. If you can see one third of the world from Monte Vista you can see two thirds from this spot.

As guests from New York, Florida and Boston, world travellers too, remarked as we were driving around Deep Creek Lake, "there's no greater scenic beauty anywhere than in these Allegheny Mountains."

But we've got to take time to see them, says I, who looks out on Ferguson's hill every time I sit at the desk. Yet I've never set foot on this west ridge which is only a stone's throw away.

—o—

It's all right to be smooth but have you ever noticed that things not so smooth have the most grip?

—o—

Speak of grip. If I were a high school principal I would never hand out a diploma to a graduate who hadn't learned how to shake hands. I don't know which is worse, the pump handle swing or the hand that makes you think you're handling the rear end of a mackerel. A dead one at that.

From A Reader

Occasionally I get a letter from a reader that gives me quite a lift. I'd like to print a bit of one from Mrs. Kathleen Layman, of Finzel. "I was more than pleased to read your kind comments about Finzel because for a number of months now, our only publicity has been the frequent reference to our obsolete school. In our thinking we feel that we are doing our best under unfortunate circumstances. How nice to call attention to pleasing conditions and tactfully ignore or at least to remain silent, about any unpleasant conditions. I hope my washing was on the line that day."

Judging from the neatness of Mrs. Layman's letter I'm sure her wash was on the line and she probably had four pins on every sheet.

Final Rites Held For Thomas Lewis

Funeral services for Thomas Lawrence Lewis, 52, of Salt Lick, near Terra Alta, who was killed September 5 when caught in a drum that was pulling a cable and bailer from a gas well in a drilling operation near Accident, were conducted Saturday afternoon at Terra Alta.

Rev. W. C. Dunson, pastor of the Ev. United Brethren church, officiated and interment was in the Terra Alta cemetery.

The victim was the father of four sons and two daughters. Sheriff Paul Fisher said the accident happened on the rig operated by John Roberts, also Terra Alta, on the farm of Alston Hanlin.

Lewis, a helper, was standing on the deck containing a cable drum, about a story off the ground. The drum was reeling a bailer from the well to take off water that had accumulated in the hole when Lewis fell or was caught by the cable, whipped under it and tossed to the ground. Roberts, the operator, could not see Lewis but stopped the motor when he felt the cable jerk, the sheriff said.

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, deputy state medical examiner, said Lewis was practically decapitated. In addition his chest was crushed and his left arm torn off.

Lewis, a native of Terra Alta, was a son of Jacob W. and Mary E. Lewis, and was born October 8, 1903. Surviving are his parents, his wife, Mrs. Mary Lee Willison Lewis, four sons, Charles J. Lewis, Thomas L. Lewis, Ralph E. Lewis and Jerry W. Lewis; two daughters, Linda Marie Lewis and Rebecca Dale Lewis.

Also surviving are seven brothers, Harvey F. Lewis, William E. Lewis, Albright, W. Va.; Harley M. Lewis, Charles S. Lewis and Clarence L. Lewis, Terra Alta; David V. Lewis, San Bernardino, Calif.; and Robert F. Lewis, Kingwood; and two sisters.

Southern Loses To Vikings, 34 To 0

First Half Is Disastrous To Locals But Improvement Noted

Southern High school of Oakland inaugurated its 1956 football season last Friday by losing to Petersburg on the latter's field 34 to 0.

After failing to gain a first down Bill Deckman punted to the Petersburg 31 from where Petersburg marched through a series of short ground plays to Southern's 18. A pass for 18 yards brought the first touchdown and the placement was good.

In the second quarter Petersburg made two touchdowns on two consecutive plays, Frye breaking through left tackle for 80 yards for the first, and again catching a Highlander fumble in the air and going 70 yards for the second. Near the end of the first half Petersburg added seven more points on a 58-yard pass and a point after touchdown, making the score 27 to 0.

The Highlanders looked like a different team in the last half, forcing Petersburg to use its regulars until the closing moments of the game. They advanced twice to the 30 and 21 yard lines but were unable to score on their more experienced opponents.

With aid of an intercepted pass early in the third quarter Petersburg was able to score its last seven points. The touchdown run by VanMeter was for 23 yards.

Bill Deckman was the workhorse for Southern, carrying the ball 14 times. Gary Bittinger, playing his first year, had the best ground gaining average. Wayne Callis recovered two and Bill Murphy one on Petersburg fumbles, while Lester Bittinger and Deckman recovered four of Southern's five fumbles.

Southern had little success with its passing game, completing only one out of nine attempts and having one intercepted. Petersburg passed 15 times, completing six, for a total of 142 yards.

Offensive lineup for Southern included L. Bittinger, G. Bittinger, Don Mason and Bill Deckman, in the backfield, with Hoye, Kelly, Rodeheaver, McRobie, Murphy, Don DeWitt and Paugh, on the line. Defense line-up also included Colaw and Callis in the backfield, Don Stemple, Sanders and Michael on the line. Substitutes included White, Fry, Roth, Henline, A. DeWitt, Martin, Friend, Jack Gnegy, Liller and Ours.

Southern will play its second game Friday afternoon at Moorefield beginning at 2 o'clock, standard time. The first home game is Friday, September 21, with the West Virginia School for the Deaf.

"He'll pay the tax on my ticket"

If the stranger in front of you at the theater ticket window told the cashier you'd pay his tax, you'd think he was crazy.

Yet that's exactly what you're doing every time you pay your income tax or buy anything that's federally taxed—you're paying part of other people's taxes. These people are the customers of federal government power plants.

Your taxes helped build the plants that serve these people. Then because customers of government power plants don't pay a full share of taxes in their electric bills, your taxes have to be higher to make up the difference.

We don't think that's fair to you or us or any other taxpayer. That's why we bring you this message.

Judge Fraley Gives Grand Jury Charge

Associate Judge C. Fraley delivered the charge to the grand jurors on Monday morning as the September Term of court got under way.

At each jury term of the Circuit Court in this county, twenty three citizens are selected to serve as Grand Jurors. The institution of the Grand Jury, as it existed in England at the time of the settlement of this country, was adopted by the Declaration of Rights of the Constitution of Maryland as a fundamental and integral part of the judicial system in this state. Since then no material limiting change has been made in its procedure or powers. Thus, upon qualification as a Grand Juror, the same oath is administered to you as was used in England before this country was settled.

From that early time to the present, the Grand Jury has been continued and preserved as an institution necessary for the preservation of the peace, good order and dignity of the state in bringing to trial those guilty of violations of the criminal laws and in protecting people from being put on trial upon frivolous, unfounded or false accusations.

The oath which you have just taken, requires that you "shall diligently inquire, and true presentment make of all such matters" which may come before you and that "you shall present no person through envy, hatred or malice," nor "leave anyone unpresented through love, fear, favor or affection, or for any hope or promise of reward." The obligation of the oath is the greater, in that the Grand Juror himself is the sole judge of his good faith. He cannot be questioned for anything that he may say or any vote that he may give relative to any matter legally pending before the Grand Jury, save only for perjury committed in making an accusation or in testifying as a witness before his fellow jurors.

A Grand Juror, except when lawfully required by a court, may not wilfully disclose any evidence adduced before the Grand Jury or anything which he himself or any member of the Grand Jury said, or in what manner he or any other Grand Juror voted upon any matter before it.

A Grand Jury is an investigating body and has very broad power and authority to investigate and inquire into alleged violations of the criminal laws of the state. You are not, however, a fault finding or criticizing body. If there is sufficient evidence presented to you to lead you to believe that there has been a violation of the criminal laws of the state and that a certain accused is guilty of such violation, then it becomes your duty to find an indictment and thus bring the accused to trial before a petit jury or the Court.

In discussing the duties and powers of a Grand Jury under the laws of this state, our Court of Appeals, in a case decided many years ago, said this:

"However restricted the functions of grand juries may be elsewhere, we hold that in this state they have plenary inquisitorial powers and may lawfully, themselves, and upon their own motion, originate charges against offenders, though no preliminary proceedings have been had before a magistrate, and though neither the Court nor the State's Attorney has laid the matter before them. The peace, the government and the dignity of the state, the well being of society, and the security of the individual, demand that this ancient and important attribute of the grand jury should not be narrowed or interfered with when legitimately exerted."

You will find that most of the cases brought to your attention will have been investigated and prepared for presentation to your body by the State's Attorney and other law enforcement officers.

You will generally hear only witnesses for the prosecution and it is your duty to decide if the charge is supported by such evidence as warrants the trial of the accused by the Criminal Court. It is your responsibility to determine whether the charge may be true or false. You must have evidence before you, first, that a crime has been committed, and, second, that the accused is the person who committed the crime. It is necessary for at least twelve of your members to vote in favor of finding an indictment. An affirmative vote of a mere majority of your members present will not be sufficient to sustain an indictment. When you vote, nobody except the Grand Jurors may be in the room.

The State's Attorney is your legal adviser and he will furnish such legal advice as you may require.

It is customary for the Grand Jury to inspect the Court House, jail and sheriff's residence and make such recommendations as to repairs and proper upkeep as seem desirable. You will also inspect the offices of the various officials in the Court House and report upon the conditions you find. You will be furnished a copy of the Grand Jury report made at the March Term of Court and you should consider whether or not the recommendations then made have been carried out.

The State's Attorney, Sheriff and other county officials will be available to you at all times during your deliberations and to assist you in the performance of your duties.

It is desirable that your deliberations be completed as promptly as possible, but you should not sacrifice thoroughness and efficiency for the sake of brevity.

I am confident that each one of you will faithfully and conscientiously perform your duty as Grand Jurors.

The bailiff will conduct you to the Grand Jury room where you will begin to perform your duties.

MARRIED

Miss Eva Frances McIntire, daughter of Mrs. Ronald E. McIntire, of Washington and Oakland, and the late Mr. McIntire, became the bride of Ronald William Bamford, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Bamford, Hyattsville, on Saturday, September 8.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 4 o'clock in St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Washington, with Rev. N. C. Acton officiating. Bouquets of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums were used in the decorations.

Miss Kathryn Embree was the bride's maid of honor, while Miss Susan Turner, Miss Janet Bechtoldt, Miss Barbara Bechtoldt, Miss Joanne Cooper, Miss Ann McIntire and Miss Paula Warfield were the bridesmaids. Allan Osborne was best man, and ushers were Joseph Benson, Paul McIntire, Kenneth Krewatch, Bernard Nees, Jr., Ronald Brierley and Charles McKeown.

Miss Anna Jacquette sang "O Perfect Love," and "I Love You Truly."

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Carl O. McIntire. She wore a gown of Dupioni silk, fashioned with fitted bodice with long sleeves and lace and seed pearl trim around the neckline, and long skirt ending in a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil, edged with lace, was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Her attendants wore ballerina length gowns of sea foam green taffeta, made with boat neckline and full skirts with bustle effect in the back. Their bouquets were colonial cascades of yellow fuiji mums and rust pompons. Their headdress were headbands of sea foam green with small veil.

Mrs. McIntire chose a Dior blue reembroidered lace dress for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore pale turquoise hat and gloves and had a corsage of pink dot pompons. Mrs. Bamford's gown was of rose lace, and with it she wore matching accessories and a corsage of ink dot pompons.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Maryland, and is a member of Alpha Delta Pi, social sorority, Home Economics association and the Canterbury club. Her family is known throughout Western Maryland and West Virginia, having been in the hardware and real estate business in Oakland and Thomas, W. Va., for a number of years. Her father was a member of the Maryland State Legislature, as was her grandfather, the late Charles N. McIntire.

The bridegroom is a student at the University of Maryland and a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. His father is well known throughout the state, having been affiliated with the University of Maryland over 25 years, being Dean of the graduate school and chairman of the university's program of advanced research, covering 51 different departments at the university and abroad.

For a wedding trip through New England the bride chose a tan suit of pure Italian silk with white accessories. Upon their return Mr. Bamford and his bride will reside in Washington.

This summer has been a very busy one at the library with 13,116 books, magazines and phonograph records being circulated from the library and the bookmobile during the months of June, July and August. The bookmobile has been in operation three days a week, stopping regularly at 22 places in the county. Two hundred seventy new borrowers have been registered. Many visitors have come to see the library. An outstanding attraction this summer has been Mr. Edward O'Donnell's gun collection which is still on display in the large exhibit case.

Mrs. Frederick Thayer III very kindly volunteered to assist in the library two afternoons a week during the summer.

The flowers in the library this summer have been brought from the gardens of Mrs. Walter DeBerry, Mrs. D. T. Rasche, Mrs. Edward Kahl, Mrs. Roger Tower and J. C. Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Aiken have given a volume of the Interpreter's Bible in memory of Mrs. Aiken's father, William Miller. State Engineers Conclude Meeting

Members of the County Engineers association of Maryland concluded their two-day session in Oakland Saturday with an inspection tour to see progress in various roads projects in this county.

Friday night Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the State Roads commission, spoke to the group during a dinner meeting at the William-James hotel.

He pointed out the desirability of cooperation all along the line from the state to county and municipal levels so that Maryland might be better able to meet the ever mounting traffic demands.

He said too few tourists realized the scenic magnificance of this section or there would be thousands more visit here.

"If Maryland is to make the most of its 12-year roads building program and take full advantage of the Federal Interstate Highway program our state, county and municipal agencies must work as a team, reconciling sectional differences promptly. We must be prepared, too, to take full advantage of all federal funds available.

SRC Chief Engineer Norman Pritchett, who inspected a number of projects in Allegany and Garrett counties during his visit, outlined the new federal highway bill at the Friday afternoon session and told how it will affect the nation's roads system. Pritchett said the monies which will go to the various counties under the new federal program will not amount to much to individual counties. An increase in the amount of federal aid for secondary and urban road projects will total $25 million for the entire nation.

Pritchett inspected a proposed overhead crossing at Weber, south of Oakland. The Weber project would eliminate the B. and O. railroad crossing on U.S. route 219, at that point.

Other talks were heard Friday afternoon by approximately 100 officials from twenty-two of the 23 counties of the state.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Devotional Reading: Revelation 3:7-13.

Revelation

Lesson for September 16, 1956

THE book of Revelation was several hundred years old before the whole Christian church accepted it into the Bible. Even after it became an official part of the New Testament, there were Christian scholars who questioned it. Saint James places it somewhere between the "canonical" and "apocryphal" books—that is, between Bible and not-Bible. Luther's first preface to his German translation of the New Testament said of Revelation that it did not seem to be either apostolic or prophetic. He came to think better of it, but he never did print Revelation except as an appendix to the New Testament. Zwingli, the Swiss reformer, considered Revelation "not Biblical"; and John Calvin, who wrote commentaries on almost every other book of the Bible, never undertook to write on Revelation.

Dr. Foreman

A Strange Book

One of the reasons why so many distinguished Christians have had difficulty with the book of Revelation is the simple one: it is extremely hard to understand. Its pages swarm with weird monsters; fire and blood flow through its scenes; it is loud with the agonies of a crashing universe. Literally hundreds of persons, fascinated by the puzzles here, have written out their answers in books and commentaries; but the very fact that these commentators do not agree among themselves is eloquent testimony to the fact that no one yet has found the key that gives an answer the whole church accepts. What makes the book so strange is that it is written in the language of symbols. As one eminent conservative scholar, Dr. Warfield, said (with some exaggeration), everything in the book means something else. The author as it were puts us on notice when he tells us himself that his "stars" mean angels, and "lampstands" mean churches, and "incense" means prayers. Even the numbers in this book are symbolic—that is, not to count with but to express ideas. Readers who wish to pursue the study of Revelation more fully should write to their denominational headquarters and inquire whether their church has authorized some particular interpretation of this book. So wide are the disagreements that this writer could not recommend any one book without raising objections from some part of the church or other.

Some Things Are Clear

Sunday school lesson planners seldom select from Revelation; but those who planned our current series, used in more than 80 denominations, wisely selected three studies based on parts of Revelation about which there can be little dispute. For some things in this obscure book are clear as day; and it is probably in gratitude for these things, rather than in hope of unraveling all the knots, that the church, in spite of its uncertainties, has kept this book at the end of the Bible all these centuries. One of the clearer and best-loved sections is in the first three chapters, where we have seven letters to seven churches of Asia Minor. There is obscurity here too; but also much light. Those seven churches have gone the way of all flesh, long since. But in those sharply etched pen-pictures the modern reader can see portraits, amazingly modern, which come close to describing churches we all have seen.

Christ in His Churches

The warnings and the promises to those far-off and long-gone churches are good today for us. One thing stands out in every one of these short piercing messages to the "seven churches": Every true church—then, now always—is a true one only when and so long as it keeps faithful to Christ, so long as he can be satisfied with it. What are the points of a church Christ approves? The reader of Revelation can make his own list and should not skip the first two in the very first letter: "hard work and patient endurance" (to follow Moffatt's translation). It should be noted too that even in the church most praised (Ephesus) the thing that comes in for blame is their let-down of love. For of all things that make a church weak and unChristian, loss of love is the most serious. Even Christ's severest judgments are judgments of love. To the weakest and worst church of the seven, the word is, "As many as I love, I rebuke."

Sealed bids will be received by the Town of Grantsville, Maryland, at the office of the Town in the Grantsville Fire Department Building, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland, until 12:00 o'clock Noon, E. D. S. T., on for the purchase of Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000.00) par value serial maturity coupon bonds, known as "Grantsville Water Bonds of 1956."

Thursday, September 20, 1956

At 12:05 o'clock P. M. on said date said sealed bids will be publicly opened by the Mayor and the Council of Grantsville in said Town office, and said bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder therefor, for cash.

The bonds will all be dated October 1, 1956. The issue will consist of Forty (40) bonds, of the par value of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) each, numbered consecutively from No. One (1) to No. Forty (40), both numbers inclusive. Said bonds will be in serial maturity coupon form and will mature and be payable over a period of twenty (20) years, 1957 to and including the year 1976, in annual serial installments of Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000.00) in each of said years.

The bonds will bear interest at the rate or rates fixed in the accepted bid, as hereinafter provided, said interest to be payable semi-annually on October 1 and April 1 in each year, accounting from October 1, 1956, until the respective maturities of the bonds, in accordance with the interest coupons to be attached thereto.

Both the principal and interest of the bonds will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the time of payment, at The First State Bank of Grantsville, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland.

The bonds will be issued subject to registration as to principal only at the office of The First State Bank of Grantsville, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland, Registrar.

The proceeds of the sale of these bonds are to be used for the purpose of constructing a water tower, water tank and connecting water lines, and the payment of professional fees and other expenses incident thereto, and for no other purpose.

Bidders are requested to specify with their bids the rate or rates of interest to be paid on the bonds, on which rate or rates their bids are based and submitted. The rate or rates of interest shall not exceed the rate of four per centum (4%) per annum, and must be in multiples of one-eighth (1/8th) or one-tenth (1/10th) of one per centum (1%) per annum. Bidders may specify more than one rate of interest to be borne by the bonds, but may not specify more than one interest rate for the bonds of any one maturity. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder naming the lowest rate or combined rates of interest named in any legally acceptable proposal and offering to pay not less than par and accrued interest for the bonds. As between bidders naming the same rate or rates of interest, the proposal of the bidder offering to pay the largest premium will be accepted; where the bids of two or more bidders are identical in all respects, the bonds will be apportioned equally between all of such bidders, but if this shall prove unacceptable to the Mayor and Council of Grantsville, said Mayor and Council of Grantsville may, in their discretion, determine to which of said bidders the bonds will be awarded. The lowest rate or rates of interest will be determined on the basis of the lowest interest cost to the Town of the bonds so issued, from the date of their issue to the last date of maturity of any of the said bonds, by adding the dollar amount of interest payable on each bond to maturity under any proposal, and deducting from the total thereof the amount of the premium offered to be paid for such bonds in any such proposal.

The right is reserved to the Town of Grantsville to reject any or all bids. In the event any question arises as to the regularity of any bid, or its conformity to the terms of the advertisement, the decision of the said Mayor and Council of Grantsville shall be final, and shall bind all interested parties.

Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the "Town of Grantsville, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland," and marked on the outside, "Proposal for $40,000.00 Grantsville Water Bonds of 1956," and must be accompanied by a certified check drawn to the order of "Clerk-Treasurer of the Town of Grantsville, Maryland," for One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00), to secure said Town against any loss resulting from the failure of the particular bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the deposit. Checks deposited by unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them when the bonds are awarded to the successful bidder.

Accrued interest shall be adjusted to the date of delivery of the bonds and payment therefor.

These bonds are issued pursuant to the authority of Article 11-E of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, Sections 31 to 39, inclusive, of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1956 Supplement), and the Charter of the Town, and also in accordance with proper proceedings duly had and taken by the Mayor and Council of Grantsville.

The bonds are issued upon the full faith and credit of the Town of Grantsville, and said full faith and credit is irrevocably pledged to the payment of the bonds and the interest to accrue thereon. Under existing laws, these bonds are exempt from state, county and municipal taxation in the State of Maryland. Under the provisions of the Charter of the Town and an Ordinance approved by the Mayor and Council of Grantsville, provision is made for the levy of an annual ad valorem tax on all property within the corporate boundaries of the Town of Grantsville subject to assessment for taxation by the Town of Grantsville, sufficient in rate and amount to pay the principal of and interest on these bonds as they respectively become due and payable.

The bonds will be delivered to the purchaser within a reasonable time after the sale thereof, at the office of the Town of Grantsville, in Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland, or at any incorporated bank or trust company in the City of Baltimore, Maryland, without expense to the purchaser; if the purchaser shall specify any other place of delivery, such delivery shall be at the expense of the purchaser.

The legality of this issue of bonds will be approved by Messrs. Niles, Barton, Yost & Dankmeyer, Attorneys, of Baltimore, Maryland, and the approving legal opinion of said attorneys will be delivered upon request to the purchaser of the bonds, without charge, together with the usual closing papers.

Financial information with respect to the Town of Grantsville will be supplied upon request directed to the Clerk-Treasurer of Grantsville, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland.

By order of:
TOWN OF GRANTSVILLE
Lee Beachy, Mayor.

Section 4

Immediately after the sale of the bonds, the interest rate and/or rates payable thereon shall be fixed by supplemental ordinance of the Mayor and Council of Grantsville, within the limitations as to such interest rate as hereinbefore set forth, in accordance with the terms and conditions of the sale of said bonds, and the bonds shall thereupon be suitably printed or engraved and delivered to the purchaser in accordance with the conditions of the sale. All of the proceeds of the sale of said bonds shall be paid directly to the Clerk-Treasurer of the Town, upon the receipt of said Clerk-Treasurer, and, with the exception of accrued interest and/or premium, which shall be set apart for payment on account of the first maturing interest coupons on the bonds, and any necessary expenses incurred in the issuance, sale and delivery of the bonds, shall be immediately deposited in one or more banks or trust companies located in the State of Maryland, to the credit of the Town of Grantsville, and shall be used exclusively for the construction of a water tower, water tank and connecting water lines in the Town of Grantsville, and the payment of professional fees in connection therewith, and said funds shall be paid out by the Clerk-Treasurer for such purposes, from time to time, upon the order of the Mayor and Council of Grantsville.

Section 5

That for the purpose of paying the interest on the bonds hereby authorized as and when the same becomes due and payable, and also for the purpose of paying the principal of said bonds as the bonds respectively mature and are payable, there is hereby levied, and there shall hereafter be levied by the Town of Grantsville in each fiscal year that any of said bonds are outstanding, upon all the assessable property within the corporate limits of the Town subject to assessment for taxation, a tax in an amount sufficient to provide in each fiscal year the sum necessary to meet the principal and interest maturities of the bonds hereby authorized coming due during such fiscal year, and the proceeds of such levy, when collected and paid, shall be used for the purpose, and for no other purpose than that for which such levy was made. The full faith and credit of the Town of Grantsville is hereby irrevocably pledged to the levy of such taxes and to the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds as and when they respectively mature. Should any of the bonds hereby authorized be issued before the making of the next annual levy by the Town of Grantsville, any interest upon said bonds falling due before the next annual levy shall be paid out of other funds at the disposal of the Town of Grantsville, and there shall be included in the next annual levy a sum sufficient to reimburse the funds from which such amounts have been advanced.

Section 6

The within Ordinance is deemed to be an emergency Ordinance and shall become effective on the day of its passage.

APPROVED: AUGUST 30, 1956.
LEE BEACHY,
Mayor,
(SEAL)

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Red China and The U. N.

Unfortunately, the clatter of political conventions, during this period of August, has made obscure most all else in the way of contemporary affairs. Every four years these gatherings give vent to much political enthusiasm and expression—some constructive, some not. But, the common denominator of both conventions is the promise of solving the problems and ills of the world.

Important among these, in terms of the ceaseless conflict between freedom and communism is the renewed possibility of another attempt to gain admission to the United Nations for Red China. Much significance must be attached to the recognition of communist China by Egypt, and one can reasonably assume that out of the shadows of the Iron Curtain, other countries will join in supporting a new drive to obtain a cloak of respectability for this aggressor.

These apprehensions prompted me recently to enquire of my former colleague in the Senate, now United States Representative to the United Nations, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., as to whether the United States would use the much-discussed "veto" when, and if, again faced with the issue of Red China's admission. His response to me is most reassuring:

". . . It is unthinkable that a regime that stands convicted of agression by the United Nations and whose conduct continues to be that of an international bandit and blackmailer should be permitted to sit in the United Nations as the representative of China. During the time that I have been United States Representative here, this issue has been raised by the Soviet Union almost thirty times and, on each occasion, the viewpoint of the United States has received overwhelming support. We will not relax our efforts to see that this continues to be the case. Should the situation change, I can assure you, as I have publicly stated, that I would not shrink from using the veto on this question in the (U.N.) Security Council."

The alacrity and frequency with which Russia has used, or misused, this unusual "veto" power, gives Ambassador Lodge's words special and timely meaning. So much so that a representative of Tass, the Russian news agency (for propaganda and espionage) in America, called at my office to obtain the full text of his letter.

Only through a policy of resolute purpose, as indicated by Ambassador Lodge, can this international bandit and Soviet benefactor be foiled.

Charles William Dishong, % Peter Kiewit, Sons & Co., Post Office Box 185, Claremore, Oklahoma, Defendant.
No. 4673 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill recites that the parties were married on or about the 27th day of November, 1946, in Cumberland, Maryland; that the plaintiff is a resident and citizen of Garrett County, Maryland, and that she has been a resident and citizen of said County and State for more than one year continuously immediately preceding the bringing of this suit and that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and when last heard from he was residing in the State of Oklahoma, at the aforesaid address; that one child has been born to the plaintiff and the said defendant as a result of said marriage, namely, Roger David Dishong, who was born on the 28th day of December, 1947, said child being in the custody of the plaintiff; that, although the conduct of the plaintiff toward the defendant has always been that of a kind, chaste and affectionate wife, the defendant has committed the crime of adultery on divers days and times subsequent to said marriage and prior to the institution of this suit, and that the plaintiff has not lived or cohabited with the said defendant since she discovered his said adulteries, nor has she forgiven him or condoned same; that the plaintiff is not possessed of the means with which to maintain herself and the said infant child, of which she desires custody, and that she desires that an adequate sum of money be awarded her for the support of herself and said child.

It is thereupon ORDERED, this 29th day of August, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, Betty Theresa Dishong, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 28th day of September, 1956, give notice to the said absent defendant, Charles William Dishong, of the object and substance of the bill of complaint, and warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1956, and show cause, if any he may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Ex Parte: In the matter of the adoption of Arlie Granville Shrout, an infant
No. 4671 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to procure the passage of a decree for the adoption of Arlie Granville Shrout, an infant, by John Edgar Lilley and Juanita Lilley, his wife, and to give him the name of Arlie Granville Lilley.

The bill states:

That the petitioners are residents of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland; that Arlie Granville Shrout was born August 13, 1951, and the parents of said infant are Norman Arlie Shrout and Alvetta Shrout, his wife; that on numerous occasions since the birth of said infant his parents have separated, leaving the said Arlie Granville Shrout and their other children without care and supervision, and your petitioners have had the said Arlie Granville Shrout in their home on prior occasions for long periods of time until a reconciliation was had by their parents at which time he was broken away from them and returned to the home of said parents; that the mother of said child, Alvetta Shrout, has now deserted her family, including the said Arlie Granville Shrout, and he is now being cared for in the home of your petitioners; that the whereabouts of the said Alvetta Shrout are unknown to your petitioners and they are advised by the father of said infant that he has attempted to learn of her whereabouts but has been unable to do so; that the said Arlie Granville Shrout after the last desertion by his mother was placed in the home of your petitioners by the said Norman Arlie Shrout; that the father of said infant has concurred in and has given his consent to the adoption of said infant by your petitioners, said consent being filed herewith and prayed to be taken as a part hereof; that your petitioners have no children of their own even though they have been married for nine years, and are able to support, educate and maintain said infant and feel that under the circumstances it will be for the best interest of said infant as well as all concerned, that the prayers of your petitioner be granted.

The petition then prays for a decree declaring the infant child of Norman Arlie Shrout and Alvetta Shrout, his wife, born on the 13th day of August, 1951, to be the legally adopted child of John Edgar Lilley and Juanita Lilley, his wife, and to name said child Arlie Granville Lilley.

It is thereupon this 22nd day of August, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ORDERED that the petitioners by having a copy of this Order inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 21st day of September, 1956, giving notice to Alvetta Shrout warning her to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor on or before the 6th day of October, 1956, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Totten Andrew Kimmel, of Mountain Lake Park, natives of Garrett county, but who resided at Wolf Summit, near Clarksburg, W. Va., for 40 years where Mr. Kimmell was employed by the South Penn Oil and Gas Company, observed their 50th wedding anniversary on September 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimmell (Mrs. Kimmell is the former Miss Lucia May Hamill) were married on September 8, 1906, at Mt. Lake Park by the Rev. John M. Davis, of the Methodist church. Their attendants were the late Mrs. Stella Hamill Schooley, a sister of Mrs. Kimmell, and Herbert Browning, who now lives near Deep Creek Lake. The newlyweds set up housekeeping at Wolf Summit where Mr. Kimmell had been employed for over a year with the South Penn company.

The Kimmells made their home in West Virginia until October, 1944, when Mr. Kimmell retired from the South Penn Company and the couple returned to Garrett county to make their home. The Kimmells are the parents of two children, Glenn Alton, who operates the city bus terminal in Clarksburg, and Mrs. Mary Rose Corwin, who resides in Richmond, Virginia. There is one grandchild, Cathryn Ann Corwin, of Richmond.

Mr. Kimmell is one of the 14 children (seven still living) of Chauncey F. and Harriet Sinclair Kimmell. He was born near Swallow Falls. His father came to this area from Pennsylvania, while his mother was a native of western Maryland. His maternal grandparents came from Scotland.

Mrs. Kimmell is the daughter of Henry O. Hamill, of Irish descent, and Mary Ann Price Hamill whose ancestors came from Wales. Prior to her marriage she taught school in Garrett county for several years.

In 1900 Mr. Kimmell and his brother, Daniel O. Kimmell, of Shinnston, W. Va., a former deputy sheriff of Harrison county, formed a partnership known as the Kimmell Brothers and for several years engaged in the lumber contracting business in this area with the Meadow Mountain Lumber Company. During a five-year period they cut several million feet of timber in logs delivered to the company skidways at the railroad, including the cutting of over 3,000 cords of pulpwood and loading it on railroad cars, and the cutting and hauling to the lumber company's railroad of over two and one-half million feet of sawed lumber. He tells of having cut many trees over 125 feet high, furnishing from 4,000 to 5,000 feet of lumber each when processed.

In 1905, Mr. Kimmell went to the West Virginia oil fields, locating at Wolf Summit with the South Penn Company. He was first employed as a carpenter and rig builder, then served as a foreman for over 30 years. During his 40 years with the company, Mr. Kimmell helped build, or directed the building of, over 360 oil and gas well derricks and drilling outfits, installed hundreds of steam and gas engines, built boiler houses, worked as a tank setter and maker of tanks, and as foreman had the responsibility for the maintenance of over 1,500 wells in six counties of Central West Virginia.

When he retired in 1944, he found time for his favorite hobby, woodworking, and in his home workshop has turned out hundreds of articles of all types, including two complete miniature operating oil derricks which have been widely displayed in this area. Both he and Mrs. Kimmell are active in the Mountain Lake Park Holiness Camp Meeting Association. He has served as a board member and trustee for the last 30 years and took a leading role in the building of the present tabernacle several years ago.

Besides the brother, Daniel, who lives at Shinnston, W. Va., Mr. Kimmell's other living brothers and sisters include: Samuel F. Kimmell, now 86, a former deputy sheriff and U.S. marshal in Logan county, W. Va.; L. L. Kimmell, of Casey, Ill.; George F. Kimmell, of the Finger Lakes region of New York state; Mrs. P. H. Hamill, and Mrs. H. C. Myers, of Oakland; and Mrs. L. C. Browning, of near Baltimore.

Article On Grantsville In Motor Transport News

A lengthy article about Grantsville appears in the August Motor Transport News.

The town is described as rich in historical tradition with industry active in the community. Harry C. Edwards, member of the House of Delegates, is credited with furnishing much of the material that is incorporated in the article, while W. E. Nary, of the Harbison-Walker Refractories company, is credited with furnishing the illustrations which accompany the story. A large picture of the old stone arch bridge over the Casselman river precedes the article.

Grantsville is termed the "gateway to Garrett county."

Children in the second grade of the Thomas Johnson School in Baltimore set up a model telephone system as part of their telephone training. Teacher is Mrs. Mary Rusinko.

Thousands of Maryland school children travel to Telezonia

You never heard of Telezonia? Chances are that your children have. Each year many thousands of Maryland school children see the color film, "Adventure in Telezonia," which is part of the telephone training kit used by most of our schools.

After seeing the film, children make calls over actual telephones and use directories right in the classroom. They learn how the telephone works, how to look up numbers, the correct way to dial and good telephone manners. And they love it.

The telephone is such a useful and valuable tool in modern living that we're always glad to help our schools and teachers give children this important training.

1. BLUE CROSS protects the interests of subscribers through its close association with member hospitals and local medical profession.

Blue Cross has written agreements with member hospitals. Under these agreements, hospitals contract to furnish hospital care to Blue Cross subscribers—the hospital care needed in each case.
Blue Cross, you see, puts the emphasis on hospital care, not just cash to help pay bills. Through its unique working agreements with member hospitals, Blue Cross and the hospitals work in joint responsibility to see that subscribers get the hospital care benefits they need, at the lowest possible cost.

2. BLUE CROSS gives you free choice of hospital and physician.

All forty general hospitals in Maryland are members of the Blue Cross Plan. When your physician arranges to have you admitted to one of these member hospitals, you simply show the hospital your Blue Cross membership card. Blue Cross pays the hospital direct. And, through working agreements with all Blue Cross Plans throughout the country, your Blue Cross protection goes with you when you are away from home.

3. BLUE CROSS is not operated for profit!

Sponsorship, control, and operations of Blue Cross are non-profit, in accordance with the requirements of the American Hospital Association for approval as a Blue Cross Hospital Service Plan. Overall administrative costs—the only part of income not used to pay for subscriber benefits—require currently a little over six cents out of every subscription dollar. Ninety-four cents out of every subscription dollar is used or set aside to pay subscribers' hospital expenses, another reason why Blue Cross pays so many hospital bills in full.

4. BLUE CROSS benefits mean hospital care.

The primary purpose of Blue Cross is to make available the widest possible range of hospital care benefits to as many persons as possible, at the lowest possible cost. Because Blue Cross subscription rates are based upon the actual cost of basic necessary hospital services, Blue Cross benefits mean hospital care. Membership in Blue Shield, the companion plan to Blue Cross, rounds out the protection afforded by Blue Cross. Blue Shield provides medical and surgical benefits, includes payments for consultations and obstetrical care. Blue Cross means hospital care—Blue Shield means doctor's care. Membership in both means a broad, realistic protection against the expense of sudden illnesses and accidents.

Essentially, Blue Cross is a community enterprise, organized by local business and civic leaders, and local hospitals and physicians, to provide a prepayment hospital care program for the people of each community. Today, nearly one million Marylanders enjoy the unique protection afforded by Blue Cross.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 80. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., SEPTEMBER 20, 1956. PER COPY, 8c. NUMBER 30.

Free Enterprise . . . .

Secretary of Commerce Weeks recently offered an excellent definition: "Free private enterprise is an economic system of the people, by the people and for the people. It is the instrument invented, developed and used by the people themselves to reward themselves for their own individual effort and to give themselves the best in goods and services.

"Private enterprise can do a better job than government in keeping the average family well fed, well clothed, well housed and provided with those extras which give us in America the really abundant life."

Mr. W. Alvis Parish, president of the Houston Lighting company, passed this definition on to the employees of his company with the following bit of advice:

"The next time you hear someone advocating or defending Socialism—whether it be a comparatively small matter such as government-printed envelopes, sold in unfair competition with taxpaying private printers, or in a great matter such as government electric power, sold in unfair competition with the taxpaying electric utility industry—in either case the principle is the same and equally bad, remember Secretary Weeks' definition of free enterprise and ask yourself where this nation, our city, our company, and we ourselves would be if we had looked to and relied upon government to place, build, finance and operate all the industries and businesses that have made our nation the outstanding nation in the world."

Yet the Democrat party is advocating public power over privately owned and tax-paying industry. Need we say more?

Three Are Held After Car Wreck

Three persons are being held in the Garrett County jail this week under unusual circumstances, following an automobile wreck on U. S. route 219, near the Cove, on Monday morning.

County authorities are holding John Curtis Dangher, 32, and Charles James Benson, 20, both colored, of Buffalo, N. Y., and a white person, about 20, whose name is not known, who was the driver of the car.

Sheriff Paul W. Fisher said he did not know whether the man was an amnesia victim or whether he was pretending. He did not remember his name or where he lives.

The two Negroes told Sheriff Fisher they were hitchhikers and that they did not know the third individual or where he had come from.

Blair Buckel, of the Maryland State Police, investigated the accident. They ran off the road near Cove and wrecked, and Dangher was the only one requiring hospitalization. He had a cut over one eye.

Buckel said that the driver ran from the car following the wreck. The two Negroes stayed on the scene. Their identifications seemed to be in order but they are being held as witnesses.

Fisher said the car's license tags were stolen from Cecil Gordon, of Mercersburg, Pa., but the car was not Gordon's car. They were of the opinion the car had been stolen also, but ownership had not been established.

Fisher said the youth recognized his picture but when asked what his mother's name was, said "Mom."

Cancer Drive Nets $434.42 In County

Howard M. Smith, Commercial Manager of the C. & P. Telephone Company and Vice Chairman of Counties for the Maryland Division, American Cancer Society, announced recently that $434.42 in cash and pledges was raised by the people of Garrett County in the 1956 Cancer Crusade.

The success of the campaign in Garrett County, Mr. Smith said, is attributed in great part to the leadership of Dr. Robert E. Proudfoot, Oakland, Chairman for Garrett County, and the many volunteers who assisted him.

Mr. Smith revealed that science is making progress in solving the many mysteries of this disease, and with the continued support of the public the future is sure to bring the victory we all have been waiting for so long—a cure for cancer.

Agricultural Fair Again Is Possible

The possibility of an agricultural fair for Garrett county is again being explored.

At a monthly meeting last Thursday of the Garrett County Agricultural committee a committee was selected to meet with all other persons interested in a County Fair to see if enough interest existed to plan a county fair.

Another meeting his been called for this evening at 8:30 p. m., in the Oakland Fire department hall, according to H. G. Gortner, chairman.

All interested persons are urged to attend tonight's meeting.

Henry McComas Is New Hospital Superintendent

Former Oaklander To Succeed Miss Irene Sharpe On November First

Henry W. McComas, 50, former Oakland resident, was named superintendent of the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland, at a meeting of the hospital board on Monday. He will succeed Miss Irene Sharpe, who resigned.

Announcement was made officially on Tuesday by H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the hospital board of directors and also president of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

Miss Sharpe resigned on August 21 and again on August 24 and the decision to accept her resignation was made by a 7-3 vote of the board at a special meeting called during the last week of August. She agreed to have the effective date made January 1, but at any time between the present and that time she could give the board a 30-day notice, or the board could give her a 30-day notice.

Swartzentruber said the board had voted to notify her that her position would be assumed by McComas, as of November 1. He will begin work actually on October 15, but will work with Miss Sharpe for a period of two weeks.

Appointment Unanimous

The appointment of McComas to the superintendent's job was made unanimous by a 11-0 vote of the directors.

McComas is a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Henry McComas. Dr. McComas was one of the pioneer doctors in Oakland.

Mr. McComas formerly worked as a teller in the Garrett National Bank in Oakland. He has been in Beaufort, S. C., for the past six years as manager of a furniture

League of Christian Voters Makes Plans For Coming Election

The Garrett County League of Christian Voters met again Tuesday night at the Church of the Nazarene. The meeting opened with devotions led by the Vice-Chairman, Dr. Paul S. Parker.

Dr. W. S. Patterson presented a check to the treasurer for $50.00 from St. Paul's Methodist church. A group of Temperance women from the Brethren church in Accident is donating $30.00 for the purchase of tracts. Glenn Rodeheaver also is donating $50.00 to purchase tracts to be sent out to all box holders.

A tract committee has been appointed and tracts have been ordered for distribution.

A letter from Rev. Frederick Smith, Executive Secretary of the Maryland Temperance League, was read by Dr. Parker and its contents as to suggestions in furthering the committee's goals were noted and plans have been laid to carry them out.

Rev. Glenn W. Eagle, chairman, said the group's main concern is to bring the true facts about alcohol to the attention of the voters and to urge them to vote against having a dispensary system in the county at the November election.

Wilt Fined $2,000 For Moonshining

Leroy Wilt, 38, Somerset, Pa., was fined $2,000 and given a one-year suspended jail sentence on moonshining charges on Thursday, September 6.

He was arrested two weeks previously near Bittinger by State alcoholic tax enforcement agents. They seized a 100-gallon still, a pick-up truck and destroyed 50 gallons of moonshine liquor.

The man pleaded guilty before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland to charges of unlawful manufacture of whiskey and possession of apparatus for the manufacture of illicit whiskey.

The fine and costs were paid. The fine was turned over to county authorities while the truck was confiscated by the federal authorities.

Four Arrested on Whisky-Gaming Violations in County

County authorities cracked down on alleged violators of the liquor and gaming laws on Monday. Four persons were arrested by Sheriff Paul W. Fisher and Deputy Sheriff James Frantz.

State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt has prayed a jury trial in every instance, which means that all cases will be heard before the Circuit court at the September term which gets under way next week.

The following arrests were made:

All filed bonds of $500 each for their appearance at the September Term of Court.

The alleged violations were committed on July 14th, but arrests were withheld until this week.

This is the second violation for the American Legion and Guy Hinebaugh. On January 19, 1954, Theodore James pleaded guilty for the American Legion to a charge of having whisky for the purpose of sale and was fined $500 and costs when given a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer.

Guy Hinebaugh was tried in the Circuit court of the county for violations committed September 11, 1934. He was indicted for the sale of liquor and also for possession for the purpose of sale. He pleaded guilty in both instances and was fined $400 in each case at that time.

Promotion Council Elects Officers

Officers of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council were elected last night at a meeting of the directors in the town council chamber in Oakland.

Helmuth Heise was re-elected president. Others named were Aza Stanton, vice-president; Howard Naylor, secretary; Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., treasurer.

The group discussed the possibility of a ski tow on Marsh Mountain and nothing definite was decided, pending further word from Ed Couch, a Washington ski consultant and engineer. Mr. Couch was here last week-end and made preliminary surveys of the area. Heise said the survey showed it as a favorable slope with snows as good as Davis, W. Va., and better than Laurel, Pennsylvania, in terms of holding snow. The mountain has a north by northeast exposure which is considered favorable.

To Address Lions

William Dunn, assistant manager of the social security board, Cumberland, will be the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club on Monday evening, September 24.

He will speak on the new amendments to the social security act.

At the last meeting of the club, C. Ferdinand Sybert, attorney general of Maryland, explained in some detail the duties of the attorney general.

Shirer-Hardesty Firm Low Bidder On Two Schools

Shirer and Hardesty, Oakland contracting firm, submitted the low combination bid of $552,533 to build two new elementary schools in this county, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, following the opening of bids Tuesday morning.

Bids were opened in the presence of members of the Board of Education, Board of County Commissioners and other interested persons.

The bids were for construction of a 12-room school in Oakland, adjacent to Southern High school, and an eight-room school on U.S. route 40, at Long Stretch.

Hawkins said the George Construction company, Cumberland, submitted the low bid of $289,213 for the Oakland school, being several hundred dollars less than the Shirer-Hardesty bid, but in combination with the low bid on the other school the George company was higher than the Oakland firm's combination bid.

Baker and Combs, Morgantown, W. Va., also submitted a combination bid of $645,900, about $90,000 higher than the local firm's price.

Mr. Hawkins said both boards seemed to be well pleased with the bids, particularly in the face of a bid last week of $410,000 for an eight-room building scheduled to be built in Cumberland.

He said the Board is expected to award the contract early next week. In the meantime efforts are being made to modify the plans to such an extent that about $25,000 will be deducted from the total bid, since only about $550,000 is available to build and equip the two schools.

Hawkins said construction would begin at once on both schools with probable completion date of January, 1958, for completion of the Oakland school, and the middle of the same year for completion of the route 40 school.

Annual Pilgrimage of Historical Group Set For October 6

The general public, in addition to the membership, is invited to participate in the third annual historical pilgrimage of the Garrett County Historical society, which will take place Saturday, October 6.

The caravan of cars will leave from the Ruth Enlow library in Oakland at 10 a. m., for a tour of historical sites in the southern part of the county. The itinerary includes the grave of Capt. James Brock, the Howard residence, the site of the Mt. Lake Park amphitheatre, the site of Deer Park hotel, Kittery Hill, Fort Pendleton, the grave of Thomas Lionel Lincoln, Corunna and the Fairfax stone.

The committee is suggesting that those having cars invite neighbors. Each person attending will bring his own picnic lunch. This year the picnic lunch will be eaten at the Fairfax stone where the state of West Virginia has placed picnic tables. Those having cameras are urged to bring them.

Named Temporary Head Of Democratic Committee

James B. Nally was named temporary chairman of the Democratic State Central committee this week by Clarence Spear, chairman.

Mr. Spear notified Mr. Nally by letter, stating he was temporarily unable to act in full capacity. Mr. Spear also gave Mr. Nally authority to call meetings and to name either a temporary chairman or a permanent vice-chairman to act whenever it is impossible for him to be present.

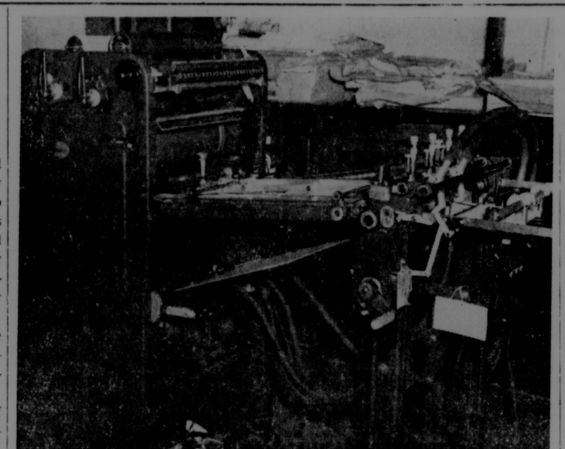
He said the letter did not indicate that he was resigning but expects to retain his place on the committee.

Issue Special Edition

The Republican issued a special county edition of it's newspaper last Friday in order to give a full report of the recent Grand Jury Session.

Eight-page papers were mailed to every subscriber within Garrett county and several hundred extra copies placed upon the news stands.

Because the grand jury news was not mailed to all our subscribers quite a bit of the extra edition is being reprinted and appears in today's issue.



IT'S NOT THE TYPE—This newest addition to The Republican staff is not quite the type we have been accustomed to. The speedy commercial printing press installed last week produces high quality work from photographically prepared printing plates which do not require typesetting. The machine is the latest of several units acquired during the past five years to keep The Republican's mechanical department abreast of rapidly developing improvements in the graphic arts field. All phases of the printing and publishing industry, from layout, photoengraving, platemaking and printing by letterpress or offset can now be carried out without help from outside sources.

New Machine Now Makes Offset Printing A Reality

The sheets rapidly issuing from the printing press in The Republican office last week looked no different from thousands of others which the plant has produced over the past eighty years.

But the difference was unmistakable to the group of curious printers gathered around the newly-installed press. For in the production of this job, science and chemistry had replaced type and mechanics.

No type is used in this newest machine. It is an offset printing press, and prints directly from a photographically obtained image of anything written, drawn or previously printed. By this method, printing can be produced more quickly because the laborious job of typesetting, in most cases, is completely eliminated.

This is the first press of its type in the county, and during last week's "trial run" was turning out 70 printed sheets per minute, with the speed control handle just past personnel, Mr. Stemple said, the half-way mark.

The installation of this Davidson offset brings to five the number of presses in The Republican office devoted to commercial printing. During the past five years, the production potential of the plant has been greatly stepped up to keep abreast of the growing demand for printed products.

Recently installed have been a wide range display Linotype, bringing the machine composition capacity to a total of three. Another automatic cylinder press using ordinary printing processes, was added as well as an automatic folding machine and innumerable smaller pieces of equipment.

A complete photo-engraving plant is in operation, and is also utilized to make photographic plates for the offset press.

Besides the presses used for commercial printing, the newspaper itself is printed on a roll-fed, flat-bed perfecting cylinder press which produces folded newspapers at the rate of one each second. This machine is also used extensively for circular printing, which is one of the specialties of the plant.

With the installation of this latest machine, customers of The Republican are assured of prompt service in the production of their printed requirements, and in many cases work can be attempted which has previously been out of range of the existing equipment.

Strangely enough, the offset press is manufactured by the same company which caused another revolution in the printing industry sixty years ago. For it was then that the Mergenthaler Linotype Company put on the market the first successful typecasting machine, which made obsolete the tedious hand-setting of small type and sparked the tremendous expansion of the industry during the years following.

Welfare Board To Elect Chairman

A chairman of the Garrett County Welfare board will be elected to serve for one year, at a meeting of that group scheduled this afternoon. Mrs. Mary Jones, former chairman, resigned several months ago and Rev. John J. Atwell has been serving as acting chairman of the board since that time.

Robert W. Stemple, director, said that two recent appointees, Mrs. Aldine McIntyre, of Kitzmiller, and Glenroot Dilley, of Oakland, would be attending their first meeting.

Other members of the board are Aubrey Brenneman, county commissioner representative; Mrs. Ruth Selby, Friendsville; Mrs. David Hardesty, of Oakland; and Guy Stanton, of Grantsville.

Mr. Stemple and Mrs. Kathryn Helbig, child welfare worker, attended the Governor's commission conference on juvenile delinquency at College Park September 10, 11 and 12, and were among about 600 persons representing public and private welfare agencies, religious and church organizations, public health agencies, school and educational departments, employment commissions, police and court officials, public and private institutions, recreation leaders, high school students, and other interested persons who attended various workshops. The theme was "Joining Hands in a Community Partnership to Resolve a Common Crisis." Nationally known leaders and speakers were there to assist in planning to combat the increasing problem of delinquency.

Stemple said Mrs. Martha Brookhart and Mrs. Twila Sprague would represent the local board at the Northeast Regional Conference of the American Public Welfare association's annual meeting in Pittsburgh September 20 and 21.

Two Resign

Leo Treacy, case worker with the local board for several years, has resigned to accept a position as classification officer with the Maryland Department of Correction. His resignation is effective September 19. Mrs. Treacy, who has been employed by the board as a Junior Stenographer, has also resigned. Both of these vacancies will be filled by the Board through the Maryland Commissioner of

Named To Supervise Livestock Laboratory

Donald Glotfelty, Doctor of Veterinary medicine, has been employed by the University of Maryland to supervise the new Live Stock and Sanitary laboratory in Oakland. Since July 1st he has been doing special work in other laboratories over the state, including Salisbury, College Park and Centreville.

He attended Gettysburg college from 1946 to 1951, the University of Maryland 1951 to 1952, and attended for four years the University of Georgia's School of Veterinary medicine. He received his degree in medicine from that school in June. He passed the State Medical Board test of Maryland two weeks later, enabling him to practice in this state.

Work in the laboratory is limited to diagnostic and regulatory work, and was set up to help the farmers in Garrett County and local veterinarians with their disease problems of poultry and live stock.

All personnel is hired by the University of Maryland. Don Geddis, graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, is the technician at the laboratory and the University will soon hire a laboratory assistant.

Canada's industrial boom was creating a record labor shortage.

September Court Term To Begin Next Monday

The September Term of Court will convene on Monday at the Court House in Oakland with a number of criminal trials to be heard. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley will be on the bench.

Most of the individuals indicted by the Grand Jury have been apprehended and placed under bond for their appearance when called.

On a charge of false pretense: Willard A. Crosby (two indictments).

On a charge of perjury: Ervin Roth. Mr. Roth filed a motion with the Circuit Court, declaring he could not obtain a fair and impartial trial in the Garrett Court and asked the court to transfer his case to some other jurisdiction. The motion was sworn to before Charles Laughlin, notary public, and was signed by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., attorney for the accused. Mr. Roth is specifically charged by the Grand jury with "unlawfully and falsely swearing he did not know that drilling was being done on overburden at Bishoff's quarry and that he was not notified that drilling was being done on overburden until all of the holes had been drilled."

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, in an order of court on the 19th of September ordered that the case be removed to Allegany county for trial.

On a charge of assault: Clifford Friend.

On charges of statutory rape: Joseph Niner, Mark Uphold. Two other indictments have not yet been served, since traversers are not within the county.

On charges of carnal knowledge: John Thomas, James Fike and Larry Lawson. One indictment has not been served on a similar charge.

For assault with intent to murder: John Guthrie Luke, II. (two indictments).

Scouts Seek Funds

The Deep Creek Boy Scout district workers are endeavoring to raise $900 as their share in the budget of the Potomac Council.

Maurice Brookhart, district finance chairman, announced that solicitors would call on the various homes within the next few days and seek voluntary contributions.

Money collected in this manner will be given to the Potomac Council to help bear the expenses of the office. The money pays for field trips to Garrett county troops by the scout executive and the field executive and partially takes care of the expenses of the district office in Cumberland where records are compiled.

Last Steam Engine Leaves This Area

Early Sunday morning a huge mallet type steam locomotive chugged out of the B. and O. railroad roundhouse at Cumberland, headed for the Wheeling division, to bring an end to the days of the "Iron Horse" on the Cumberland-Grafton division.

The engine was purchased in 1944. The Cumberland division has been completely dieselized for almost a year and the Pittsburgh division as of last week. There is some steam used on the Monongah and Wheeling divisions, and in the central region of Ohio and Indiana.

It was in 1842 that the B. and O. railroad reached Cumberland and for more than 100 years steam locomotives were used to haul freight and passenger trains across the steep grades of the Allegheny mountains. Millions of tons of coal were hauled each year. The B. and O. was one of the first railroads in the United States to use diesels to haul passenger trains, but since World War II the trend to diesels for freight has gradually eliminated the familiar steam engine with its clouds of thick black smoke pouring from the smokestacks as heavy freights were pulled along the tracks.

Treat Seed Now For Smut Disease

Treat grain seed now to stop smut diseases next spring. This suggestion comes from Dr. L. O. Weaver, Maryland University extension Plant pathologist. Seed treatment is the main way to control smut and other fungus diseases such as seed decay and seedling blights.

You can buy treated seed from grain dealers, Dr. Weaver says, but untreated seed can be treated at home. In treating seed on the farm, weed seeds and debris should be removed. The seed and a fungicide are then mixed together. This should be done at least 24 hours before the seeds are planted and can be done up to two months ahead of planting.

Some of the recommended treatment chemicals are Ceresan M, Panogen and Setrete. These chemicals should be used according to the manufacturers' directions.

Smut is caused by a fungi which is carried on the surface or just under the surface of the seed. When untreated seed grows the fungus grows too, producing smut instead of grain. The smut then spreads to neighboring plants produced by the smutted plant. Smut does not overwinter in the fields.

More information on smut and seed treatment is found in two university Fact Sheets. They are Fact Sheets 58, "Plant Good Seed," and 109, "Smuts of Grain and their Control." These fact sheets are free and farmers can pick up copies at their county agent's office.

Is Your Name ARNOLD?

Do you know that:

ARNOLD, an old and honored personal and surname, is principally of German and English origin. In the former aspect, it stems from the German "ehre" and "hold," meaning respectively "honor" and "devoted to"; and it therefore was bestowed, when surnames first came into vogue, upon those who were deemed to be of unquestioned honor and integrity. In the matter of its English antecedents, Arnold is obtained from the old English "earn" and "weald," signifying respectively "an eagle" and "power"; and consequently it was applied to those of unusual strength and stamina or, in other words, to those who had the power of an eagle.

Among the earliest settlers of this country was James Arnold, age 37, who sailed from the Port of London aboard the vessel "Assurance" in July 1635.

James Fielding Arnold (1754-1825) and Thomas Arnold (1727-1795) served respectively as major and captain in the Virginia troops during the Revolutionary War.

The Methodist Episcopal Church of Grantsville, Md., was erected in 1847. Prior to that time, services were held in an old log school house. G. W. Arnold was pastor of the church in 1863.

Numerous genealogies of the Arnold family have been published. One deals with the descendants of William Arnold, of Providence, R. I., and was compiled by Elisha Stephen Arnold and printed in 1935 by The Tuttle Publishing Company, Rutland, Vermont. Another, which was compiled by Willis Arnold Boughton, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and published in 1948, deals with the descendants of Edward Arnold, who was born in 1735 and lived in the vicinity of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Matthew Arnold (1822-1888) was a distinguished English poet.

John Carlisle Arnold is justice, Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Murr Edward Arnold and Ralph Judd Arnold are rear admirals, U. S. Navy.

Commendation Due 23 Grand Jurors

The Setpember Term of the Garrett County Grand Jury is certainly to be commended for its thorough job of investigating the alleged violations of the criminal statutes in regard to the County Commissioners.

The work which they did should dispel the fog that has surrounded the office and clear the air of all the unfounded rumors that have been spread all over this county in the past several months.

A. Leo Helbig was foreman of the grand jury. Members included Thomas Wilson, Sr., Raymond G. Loechel, Arvey M. Ritchie, Frederick W. Burgwald, John R. Murphy, Jr., Ray C. Arnold, Ernest N. Friend, Merle L. Willard, Roscoe Rohrbaugh, Neil G. Sanders, Leslie F. Rodeheaver, Charles Price, August F. Neil, Ross Speicher, Daniel J. Folk, Hubert Foy, Walter Harman, Clarence S. Hetz, Clyde E. Baker, Michael J. Duda, M. E. Lee, Merrill C. Cargo.

Clyde Gnegy and John Michael were originally named as grand jurors but they were excused from serving. In their place Hubert Foy and Clyde E. Baker were named.

No White Wash . . . .

Reprinted from the Special County Edition of September 14, 1956

The Grand Jury has just adjourned after four complete days of investigating conditions in this county, especially conditions around which there has been a great deal of controversy.

In an effort to do a thorough job they had a number of people summoned before them, including Senator Friend, Cheston H. Browning, Sr., Ervin Roth, William L. Gibson on the one side, and H. D. Swartzentruber, Aubrey Brenneman and W. W. DeWitt, on the other.

We can be very sure that if there had been anything serious to the insinuations of the former group, that some indictments would have been returned. But no indictments were returned against either Swartzentruber, Brenneman or DeWitt.

Summing up the whole matter we can repeat with certainty that all the trouble in this county has been stirred up by a few frustrated and meddlesome individuals, who first of all were not able to dictate the policies of the Board of County Commissioners, who were not able to land any contracts for purchase of certain material, and who were unable to coerce or browbeat the commissioners into submission to what they term the county's political machine. Turned down on appointments of persons to certain offices, and turned down on contracts because of a higher bid, these gentlemen turned their energies to other fields. They attempted to force the acceptance of the highest bid for the voting machines, and when this failed they began a series of civil suits in the courts for technical violations of the statutes.

By their actions these men are doing their best to ruin the Republican party in this county, and make no mistake about it. They have already made Garrett county a laughing stock in the balance of the state.

The electorate surely did fall down when they elected Browning, Friend and Roth to political office in this county and we certainly hope they will never make the same mistake twice.

The twenty-three men on the September grand jury have done a marvelous job in clearing the air of misrepresentations. If the people as a whole will learn from this that statements made by certain individuals with malicious intent will not be believed until the persons making those statements are compelled to prove them, then the county will have been well served and voters will show marked improvement in the selection of candidates, hereafter.

Blossoms In September

Apple blossoms in September may be a rarity but such an event has actually occurred this year.

William D. Casteel brought in one of the blossoms to The Republican office on Tuesday and he said there were numerous others where it came from, from an apple tree on the property of Mrs. W. H. Chesley, in Loch Lynn Heights. The blossom was quite fragrant, but somewhat smaller than the normal blossom.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Here is a report from the reliable publication—U. S. A. "Is there a Socialist U. N. plan to disarm and bankrupt the United States? Yes.

"What is this plan? Its current name is SUNFED (Special United Nations Fund for Economic Development.)

"What is SUNFED? It is a proposal sponsored by the U. N. Economic and Social Council.

"How much money do the Socialists want for SUNFED? Approximately $55 billion to be spent over a period of 10 years.

"How much money would American taxpayers be called on to put up for a 10 year SUNFED scheme? Thirty-five billion dollars, or about 70 per cent of the total. ($35 billion wouldn't bankrupt the U. S. A., but as a starter in a world-wide giveaway controlled by U. N. Socialists it would be very harmful.)

"Who is the key figure on SUNFED at the United Nations? Dr. Hans W. Singer, special adviser to the U. N. Bureau of Economic Affairs and representative of the U. N. Secretary-General on SUNFED."

The facts on Dr. Singer and the man working with him in the U. N., Assistant Secretary General David Owen, are not surprising at all to people familiar with the facts about the U. N.

Dr. Singer, German born, went to England in the 1930's and helped the Fabian Socialists gain control. A partner with him in England's Fabian Socialism was David Owen. In 1940 David Owen became General Secretary of the Political and Economic Planning Society in England. Reuters News Agency (British equivalent to the AP) described Owen's outfit as "the nuclear brain trust for the socialization and/or communization of England." These are the type people now staffing many key positions in the U.N.

In a lecture by Dr. Singer, published in the U. N. document "Formulation and Economic Appraisal of Development Projects," his viewpoints are stated: "In economics, you have no cause and effect . . . In Russia you have an example of what is clearly very successful planning for economic development . . . Supposing you borrow a hundred million dollars from the United States now, to undertake a certain project, and you repay the money over the next thirty years —well, it is possible that a dollar in thirty years' time in the United States will only buy half of what it buys now. But that is not your worry, that is the risk of the people who have lent you the money . . . "

These revelations in the publication U. S. A. (Box 134 Lenox Hill Station, New York 21) were spotlighted by my good friend, Herbert Philbrick, in his New York Herald-Tribune column, "The Red Underground." Herbert, who worked nine years as a key underground "Communist" for the FBI, feels as I do: That the U. N. while controlled by Socialist-Communist powers, constitutes a great danger to American freedom, especially with so many Americans unaware of what's going on. We all should know what's going on, and we should keep our Congressmen informed on our viewpoint. This is a small price to pay for our American prosperity and freedom.

At a meeting of Brownie Troop leaders and Mothers' committee held last Thursday, it was agreed that Mrs. Lee Bernard, Mrs. Betty Glotfelty and Mrs. Taft Oursler would continue as leaders for the coming year.

Mrs. Robert Nethken, Mrs. Kenneth Lawton, Mrs. James H. Feaster, Mrs. Robert Gibson, Mrs. J. J. Atwell and Mrs. Guy William Hinebaugh will serve on the Mothers' committee.

Registration for all old and new Brownies was set for Friday afternoon, September 21, from 3:30 to 4:30, and Monday evening, September 24, from 7 to 8 o'clock, in the Scout hall. There is a registration fee of one dollar for each Brownie, leader, or Mothers' committee member.

All mothers are asked to accompany their daughters at the time of registration. Mothers will be asked to volunteer to help the Brownie troop in various ways. There will be a meeting of all mothers and girls who expect to join the Brownies, in the Scout hall after the Monday evening registration, at 8 o'clock. Other interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

Mercury At 31

The thermometer dropped to 31 degrees Wednesday morning but a heavy fog kept the damage at a minimum.

This was the coldest temperature of the week which saw quite a bit of rainfall. A resume of the week's weather showed Friday as fair, turning to rain on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Tuesday was cool with clearing weather. Wednesday remained clear until evening when rain developed.

This morning was cloudy and cold with prospects of a heavy frost tomorrow morning.

Plan Annual Sing At Texas Church

The thirty-second annual all-day sing will be conducted at the Texas church near Horse Shoe Run, W. Va., on Sunday, September 23, and several hundred people are expected. Started in 1923, this annual event has been held each year since that time with one exception.

The sing starts immediately after Sunday School, is temporarily called off for a basket lunch and continues through the afternoon. Only hymns and religious music are used. There is no admission fee and no prizes are offered.

At least one verse of the song, "The West Virginia Hills," is sung for enjoyment of those who formerly lived in the community and who return for the sing. The Farm Journal featured an article, "Mountain Music," in August, 1937 and included the Texas Sing in the article, and this event has becoming widely known, attracting people from a number of states.

A committee composed of Loren Lantz, Orville Evans, George Wolfe, Mrs. David Teets and Mrs. Clifton Bachtel are making the plans for this year's sing.

Meet The Students

William Ernest Henline

This 6 foot, 170 pound, sixteen-year-old Southern lad is William Ernest Henline. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Henline, of Crellin. Bill has three brothers and one sister—Ed, 14 years old, Jerry 11, Tommy 9, and Betty 13.

Bill's classes in school are core, journalism, Algebra 11, creative writing and chemistry.

He also participates in many activities both in and out of school. He is a tackle in Southern's football squad, and is also in dramatics. He is sales manager of the yearbook and advertising salesman for the Acorn. He is also president of the teenage club in Oakland.

Bill attends church every Sunday and is a member of the Crellin Union church at Crellin.

Kathryn Hauser

Kathryn Hauser, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hauser, lives near Gnegy Church. Besides Kathryn there are three girls and seven boys in the Hauser family.

Core, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and journalism make up Kathryn's classes. She is taking the stenographic course. Her homeroom section is 11-D.

The club at school to which Kathryn belongs is F. T. A. She also has a very important position as editor of the school newspaper, the Acorn. Last year she was assistant editor. Kathryn was a delegate to the Journalism Convention at Lexington last May.

This summer, Kathryn worked in Baltimore in a Children's Hospital School as a Nurses Aid.

She belongs to the Red House Lutheran church.

Kathryn has not decided what she wants to do in the future except that she wants to attend college.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Thank You, Mr. Kellogg

At last Mr. Kellogg is on the ball. No doubt he has hired a famous psychologist to study the reactions of the female every time she opens a box of cereal. For years we have endured these gosh-awful rocket rings, submarines, diving frogmen, airplanes, badges, whistles—anything to add to confusion at the breakfast table.

There have been times that I have threatened to go back to grinding my own wheat just to get away from this trash and alluring offers—But now I change my mind, for in this last box of corn flakes I find a metal ruler. Just what I need. Like scissors they can never be found. This one has a sharp edge for making accurate lines. Not only that, it will hang on a nail.

And—not only that, it has a short cut multiplication and division table. Exactly what I need!

And now, Mr. Kellogg, I dare you to come up with something else as useful such as a cookie cutter or a thimble or a package of rubber bands or a card of safety pins. Let the children enjoy your cereal because it is good eating—but give the prize to Mom and give her peace with her meal.

Go to the Head of the Class

That's what I'd say to the women of the Presbyterian church in Kingwood. They're going to sell little jars of buckwheat starter.

Biblical Corn

We've grown Biblical corn this year. You know the quotation, "The first shall be last."

Our earliest variety of corn planted just as soon as was wise to plant in the spring was the last to mature, finally making it as the first fall frost hit.

The gardens have been so freaky this year that I've come to the conclusion that we should begin practicing the old method of planting in the signs. At least it would make an interesting hobby.

Now is the Time

To can those beets that should have been canned six weeks ago.

To search around in the garden to see if by chance there will be another mess of this or that.

To buy a head of lettuce. Won't it taste good after leafing through the summer.

To pamper any flower that's left in the garden. Some of us could go the summer through minus bouquets in the house because we enjoyed the flowers more in their beds, but now we bring them in and honor them by putting them in our very nicest containers, even if there's no occasion.

To gather milkweed pods for dried arrangements.

To start ducking meetings—if you have your eye on autumn leisure.

To study referendums—when it comes to government, ignorance isn't bliss.

Assistant secretary of defense for manpower said there was no early prospect of draft reduction.

Complete Wording Of Referendums Appears This Week

The complete wording of the two acts of the legislature which require referendums are printed in this week's issue of The Republican.

One is Senate Bill 582 extending provisions of the County Dispensary law to Garrett county and relating generally to the sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages by a County Dispensary in this county.

The other is Senate Bill No. 530, authorizing daylight saving time in the county. Both require a vote of the people before they become effective.

The liquor bill states that in this county a main county liquor dispensary may be established and maintained in Oakland and that others may be established, in the discretion of the liquor control board. The County Commissioners shall be ex officio, the members of the liquor control board.

It provides that nothing smaller than a pint-sized bottle shall be stocked or sold in any dispensary, that the control board is authorized to employ a manager at not more than $5,000 per year.

It provides that all net profits arising from the operation shall be first applied toward payment of any sums advanced to or borrowed by the liquor control board, but after these sums have been paid the board is authorized to create a reserve fund not to exceed $15,000 to meet any losses that may be sustained by the board. Any net profits over these requirements are to be paid over to the County Commissioners to be applied for general lawful purposes.

Referendum On Time

The act concerning the possible change of time provides that "notwithstanding the provisions in the article or elsewhere the variation from standard time commonly known as Daylight Saving Time shall be effective in Garrett County as in this section provided. From two o'clock A. M., on the last Sunday in April until two o'clock A. M., on the last Sunday in September of each year, the official time through Garrett County shall be advanced one hour; and all courts, public offices and legal and official proceedings insofar as the same are subject to or under control of the County Commissioners of Garrett County, or of the governing body of every municipal corporation therein, shall be regulated thereby, and all time shown by public clocks shall agree therewith.

In addition to these two referendum questions the voters will also approve or disapprove seven constitutional amendments.

Gonder Is Awarded Insurance Business

The Gonder Insurance Agency of Oakland has been awarded the bid for the covering of group accident-death insurance for participating member companies of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's association.

Delbert Valentine, chairman of the insurance committee, reported at a recent monthly meeting at Friendsville that the price per piece of equipment is $25.50. The insurance is on the firemen but is based on the number of pieces of equipment owned by each member company participating.

All companies were mailed a schedule on the price of the insurance and it is the object of the committee to have every company come in under the group plan.

At the same meeting the association passed a motion opposing the elimination of that portion of U.S. route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa., which is being by-passed and that this portion of route 40 be included in the Federal Interstate Highway system.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

In continuing our series on the Apostle's Creed, I will this week discuss the problems and questions concerning the statement: "Suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead and buried . . ." This, of course, refers to that point in which our Lord's earthly life came to an end.

The first thing I would like to discuss about this particular phrase is the fact that this is recorded history, not only in the gospel accounts, which are every bit as accurate, and more so, than any piece of contemporary newspaper reporting, but also in records of the Roman tribunals, who refer to the putting to death by crucifixion on the Friday before the Jewish Feast of the Passover, one "Jesus Cristus," over Whose head on the Cross was placed, by order of Pilate, the words: "King of the Jews." I will not go into the last words of our Lord on the cross, for this would be a subject for later and more lengthy treatment, but I want to state first of all the fact that it happened. It seems a ridiculous thing that the Son of the Living God would become subject to the order of men, and yet He did. In His hands was all the power of the world, and yet men were allowed to put Him to death. This is but one of the strange inconsistencies of the Christian faith, strange that is, except through the eyes of faith. From the viewpoint of man's judgment, this was the final defeat of One Who had become a pest, a sort of "fly in the ointment" in the official courts of the Jewish religion. It was at the hands of the Roman soldiers that He was put to death, but it was as a result of the Jewish leaders that He was put on trial in the first place, and though Pilate tried to release Him from this death, the Jewish crowds, led on by the rabble rousing taunts of the leaders of the Sanhedrin, cried "crucify Him! crucify Him!" And so He died. Most men who had supported this heinous act, thought, "well, that's that—we won't hear from Him again."

But how wrong they were. In the statement of the captain of the soldiers, "Truly this was the Son of God" we can already see some of that which was to happen three days later. The Pharisees, Sadducees, Essenes, and others of the proud aristocracy of Judaism had not read their Bibles well enough. In their tremendous interest and pride in the knowledge of the Law of the Old Testament, they had somehow missed the great message of the 53rd chapter of Isaiah, sections of which I will give to you now:

"He was despised and rejected by men . . . but he was wounded for our transgressions, and bruised for our iniquities . . . all we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all . . . When he makes himself an offering for sin, he shall see his offspring, he shall prolong his days; the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand; he shall see the fruit of the travail of his soul and be satisfied; by his knowledge shall the righteous one, my servant, make many to be accounted righteous, and he shall bear their iniquities."

The murderers had thought they were finished with Him, but He was to conquer even them, and more like them, through this apparent defeat, the death on the cross. He indeed bore the sins of all who believe in Him to the grave, dying once, and for all children of God that they may have eternal life, starting here and now. The stumbling, oft' mistaken Peter became a different man, a leader of men in the procession that followed Christ. Paul, who thought he was doing the will of the Lord in persecuting the Christians of the immediate decade following Christ was changed to a follower, perhaps the greatest of the followers of the Lord. That great institution that put Him to death, thinking that that was the end, the Roman Empire, died a slow yet definite death while at the same time Christ's followers grew in strength and numbers.

This phrase in the Apostle's Creed, then, has tremendous significance for the follower of Christ, for through this plain, historical fact is all important, in the words of Isaiah, "The will of the Lord [has] prospered in his hand."

Grading Authorized At Southern High

Decision to have some grading done in rear of Southern High school was made at a meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday.

Bids on the project were submitted for bulldozers on an hourly basis with Sanders and Sanders, and Del Signore Brothers being the only bidders. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the bids were so close when size of machinery was considered that the board decided to use both bidders on the project.

He said the project was necessary to establish some new playing area for Southern as the new elementary school will take over the present baseball field.

A contract for drilling a well on the school site on route 40 was awarded to Tressler Well Drillers, low bidder.

The superintendent was instructed to meet with the Town Council of Mt. Lake Park to discuss the matter of connecting sewerage disposal from the new elementary school with the Mt. Lake system.

A complete report on costs of renovating Friendsville, Center street and Red House showed expenditures of $8,750. This included a new roof for Center street, conpenditures of $18,750. This included for Red House, contracted for $2,347.70; and the removal of the Red House furnace to Crellin. At Crellin a new furnace room was constructed. In addition major repairs were made at the three schools and all were completely renovated.

The report of the CPA audit just completed was discussed and approved. All records and accounts were found to be accurate and correct. Hawkins said a CPA audit would be made annually.

The board ordered the West Vindex school to be advertised for sale if it was no longer being used as a community center.

Appointments of Mrs. Shirley Kent as teacher at Mt. Zion, and Mrs. Claire Wykoff, as teacher at Friendsville, were approved. A proposal from the attorney for the plaintiff in the Sunnyside School case to pay to the plaintiff the sum of $150 or the case would be appealed was unanimously rejected. Hawkins said the lower court had ruled in favor of the School Board as far as title to this property was concerned.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower proposed an expanded program of cooperation between U. S. and Latin American countries in field of atomic energy.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Purposes in Education

Behind all of our efforts in the field of education, there are many objectives. We need to define and think about them, for they are very important.

Here are some of the many things, in my opinion, that an education should do for us. In the field of higher education, especially is this true.

To teach a man how to think.

To make it possible for people to get along with each other.

To enable a person to look up important information when he needs it.

To develop good taste in the things a person does outside his job.

To develop the kind of interests and enthusiasm that will enable a person to put his leisure time to good use.

To teach a person how to use the English language proficiently.

To teach us how to listen.

To develop spiritual and moral values.

To enable people to run a home intelligently.

To know about human experience and the course of history.

To teach us how to keep up with the news, how to read a newspaper or magazine, how to appraise the news, and how to tell which columnists or commentators are reliable.

To be able to make moral judgments.

To give a child a strong mind and body.

To develop to the fullest whatever possibilities or potentialities a human being may have.

Our Universities, especially, have a task for they mold the future leaders of our nation.

President Nathan M. Pusey, of Harvard University, says, "Universities are not the creatures of modern industrial society-nurtured in adventure, boldness and fresh vision they have always recognized at their best that their responsibility is not to minister to utility but rather to call men to moral and spiritual and to intellectual responsibility. It is only thus that they can ever hope to serve the real needs of society—if the University does not stand in some sense a critic of society and a force always calling for fresh endeavor, it cannot be the university."

Another educator has said, "All education must have as its central objective the development of intellectual power. There is no substitute for a mind which has a high order of self-discipline. This is the kind of self-discipline which takes hold of situations with imagination, confidence and enthusiasm and proceeds by orderly, logical reasoning processes to intelligent solutions of the problem."

Of all the quotes I have read and heard, I like this one the best. President Dickey of Dartmouth college says, "The American liberal arts college can find a significant and unique mission in the quality of its historic purpose; to see men made whole in both competence and conscience.

What a challenge for our schools today is that last objective!

Southern Speaks

BY KATHRYN HAUSER

School is back in full swing once again. Douglas is off to college and that leaves me, Kathryn Hauser, editor of the Acorn this year, to keep the public up to date on Southern High news.

The enrollment as of September 18 is 1140. This is just about the same number as last fall.

Student Council

Fred Teets, president of the Student Council, this week initiated the program of the year by opening the election for representatives to the Council.

Any student may represent his class. Candidates in the seventh grade must have petitions with at least 29 signatures, eighth grade 34, ninth grade 35, tenth grade 31, eleventh grade 20, and twelfth grade 23. Students in the junior high may sign two petitions while senior high students may sign three. The election of representatives will be held on September 24 and 25.

Senior Pictures

Senior pictures were taken on Monday, September 17, by a representative from Delmar Studios whose branch office is in Silver Spring.

The seniors really looked sharp, especially the boys in their white shirts, bow ties and dress suits. It was interesting to see how short a time it took for them to shed their jackets and ties and to roll up their shirt sleeves after their pictures were taken.

Instead of the usual routine of "cheese" and "peaches," the boys were quite concerned when they had to say, "I'm a sissy." The girls, however, were delighted to say, "I'm a pretty girl."

30th Anniversary

The first issue of the Acorn came out Tuesday, September 18. This is the thirtieth year of having a printed Acorn. It was interesting to find that Leonard Murphy was the first editor of the Acorn. The assistant editor was Mary Louise Helbig. The Highlander is observing its fifth anniversary. Displays of the Acorn and Highlander are in the showcase in the school lobby.

Football

The Highlanders will play the West Virginia Deaf on Southern's field, Friday, September 21. The F. T. A. will sell red and white pom-pons at the game. The band will play a half-time show. They will play "Fanfare," "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here," "Rock Around the Clock," and the school song.

Bake Sale

The Future Teachers of America club is sponsoring a bake sale on Saturday, September 22. The sale will be held in the DeWitt and DeBerry store beginning at 10 a. m.

Glotfelty Outling Held

The descendants of the late F. J. Glotfelty held their annual outing at Fort Frederick on Sunday, September 16.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Glotfelty, Mr. and Mrs. James Glotfelty, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glotfelty, Accident; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Klotz, Friendsville; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buckel, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Beachy, of Grantsville; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hetrick, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Garlitz, Salisbury; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Englear, Westminster; Mrs. B. H. Stricker, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bland, Bernadette Glotfelty, Rhea Hetrick, Mrs. Alice Kayle, Mrs. Nelle Wiley, Reisterstown; Mr. and Mrs. P. Nolder, Mrs. Al Shockley, Everett Raley, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wiley, Baltimore.

Your present Life Insurance . . . will it pay you Disability Benefits?

Here's another reason it pays to be a member of Woodmen of the World. Every basic Woodmen plan carries a special feature that protects in event of permanent and total disability.

Any Woodman under 60 with one of these plans, who becomes totally and permanently disabled after his certificate has been in force a year, may, in lieu of death benefits, apply for one-half the face amount of his certificate. For example, if he has a $10,000 life insurance certificate, he would receive $5,000 cash.

15. TOTAL AND PERMANENT DISABILITY: After this certificate shall have been in force for twelve months, if satisfactory proof is furnished to the Society, prior to age 60 of the member, and while no payment or camp dues are in default or within the period of grace, that the member is totally and permanently physically disabled and will be permanently, continuously and wholly prevented thereby for life from performing any work for compensation or profit, or from engaging in any occupation or employment of a gainful nature, and if such disability has then existed for not less than ninety days, the Society will pay to the member in cash one-half the face amount of this certificate, or the cash surrender value if greater, less any indebtedness to the Society, in full settlement, on the cancellation and surrender of this certificate. Satisfactory proof must be furnished within 18 months of the date of commencement of such disability.

This is another of many "plus" benefits offered by membership in the world's financially strongest fraternal benefit society.

Ryan-Frazee Wedding Solemnized

Before an altar setting of palms and ferns, vows were exchanged at 12 o'clock Saturday noon, September 1, uniting in marriage Ruby Gertrude Frazee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Frazee, Friendsville, and James Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, Youngstown, O.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a white ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. It was fashioned with a fitted lace jacket with long sleeves and high neckline. Her finger tip veil was held in place by a crown of pearls and crystal sequins.

The matron of honor, Nancy Layman, of Washington, D. C., wore a blue chiffon gown with a scalloped neckline and matching head piece of lace, studded with pearls. Richard Teachout, cousin of the groom, was best man. Vic Teachout was usher.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The couple toured the southern states and now reside in Youngstown where the groom is employed at the Carnegie Steel plant.

Mulvey, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. Elaine Falkenstine, citizenship; Charles Blubaugh, auditing; Darrell Malone, Rathbun loan fund; Ralph Beachley, legislative; Miss Esther Opel, I.M.P.A.; Mrs. Elizabeth Randol, social; Miss Kathryn Speicher, welfare; Mrs. Bessie Price, membership; Mrs. Eva Ream, nominating; Mrs. Goldie Bittle, public relations.

No Indictments Found Against Either Swartzentruber Or Brenneman

The two County Commissioners, H. D. Swartzentruber and Aubrey Brenneman, were given a clean bill of health by the Garrett County Grand Jury after deliberating for three days and questioning witnesses concerning alleged fraud, misappropriation or misuse of county funds. In making their comments the jurors also "rejected attempts by persons to use the Grand Jury solely for political purposes."

The report of the Grand Jury which is reprinted in full in this issue, declared the jurors had found no violations of laws concerning the use and expenditure of public funds and that in every case investigated they found authentic bills for all monies paid.

They also declared they had investigated thoroughly the possibility of violation of the statutes of Maryland relating to the doing of business with the County by the several County Commissioners and after considering all the evidence they declared they were of the opinion that there was no criminal intention to violate these laws.

The jury found 23 indictments after having before it and examining 46 witnesses. The indictments included five for bastardy, four for statutory rape, two for false pretense, one for assault, two for larceny and receiving stolen goods, five for carnal knowledge, three for assault with intent to murder, and one for perjury.

Council Begins '56 Program

Southern's Student Council Executive Committee held its first meeting in the Student Center room the first period on September 11. Plans for the year were made.

Petitions for Student Council class representatives will be distributed this week. Elections will be held next week. The president encourages all capable students to run as representatives.

The Council plans to hold exchange meetings with Northern High School this year. It is hoped through these meetings the schools may share their ideas in conducting meetings, a better relationship may be promoted, and problems common to both schools may be solved.

Southern and Northern councils have been asked to lead a discussion on "The Student Council Versus Juvenile Delinquency" at the Maryland Association of Student Council Convention to be held November 1, 2 and 3.

The office of vice president of the Western Region of the M.A.S.C. is held by Southern High school. An active part will be taken by the school at the regional meeting held during the state convention.

The council is planning to help with the national election in the community by putting on a drive to get out the voters.

A mock election is being planned. A schedule of dates will be arranged, and to be eligible to vote one must register before school, during lunch period, or after school. It is planned to enlarge the school's monitor system.

Fred Teets, president, says, "This year is going to be one of the busiest Southern's Student Council has ever had because of the active part we are taking in the state convention, as vice president of the Western Region, and all the school projects we have planned. We encourage everyone to take a great interest in the Student Council. If everyone has an interest in the council and works to promote it, this can be the best Student Council Southern has ever had."

Southern's rapidly improving Highlanders were again unable to settle down in the first quarter and lost to Coach Jonathan Paugh's Moorefield Yellowjackets on the latter's field last Friday afternoon by a score of 27 to 7.

The game was only minutes old when Barr caught a punt on the Southern 45 and raced down the right side for the initial tally. Three plays later Peters recovered a fumble on Southern's 36-yard line. Four running plays put the ball on the one-foot line from which point Vetter bucked his way over center for the second score. Paugh failed to make good his tries from placement. Again after only two running plays by Southern, Barr intercepted a Mason to Deckman pass on Southern's 35 and scootted up the middle for his second touchdown. Paugh's kick from placement was good.

Late in the second quarter the Highlanders took the ball on their 36-yard line and began a march of 64 yards that ended in a touchdown pass from Deckman to left end Don DeWitt, good for 35 yards. Don Mason dashed around left end for the extra point to end the first half 19 to 7.

In the last half the teams played on even terms except for a pitchout to Paugh midway in the third quarter that was good for 52 yards. The final score of the game came in three more plays, and Paugh's placement made the final score 26 to 7.

Southern made eight first downs to six for Moorefield. They also outplayed their opponents in the passing department, completing 50 percent of their 18 attempts for a total of 167 yards. Moorefield's running game was aided by long runs.

Southern will play its first home game of the season on Friday afternoon, September 21, at 1:15 o'clock, against the Romney School for the Deaf. Romney lost to Petersburg last Friday 31 to 18, the team which defeated Southern 34 to 0.

Playing in the Southern lineup were DeWitt, Murphy, Roth, Rodeheaver, Kelly, McRobie, G. Bittinger, L. Bittinger, Callis, Mason and Deckman. Substitutes included Sanders, Cerne, Michaels, Colaw, Teets, Henline, Fry and Stemple.

Burning Rules Now Effective in State

Saturday marked the beginning of the three-month period in the fall when residents of Maryland are required under the Forest Conservancy District act to exercise special care in the burning of brush.

From September 15 to December 15 burning is permissible only after 4 p. m. and before midnight EST, except when the ground is covered with snow.

Unless there is a natural firebreak of at least 10 feet in width surrounding the area to be burned which is free of inflammable material the following precautions are required:

a. Plow or otherwise construct a fireline at least 10 feet wide completely around the area to be burned free of inflammable material;

b. Provide sufficient help, with tools, to prevent the fire from escaping, and;

c. Have at least one watchman on the ground until the last spark is out.

District Forester William H. Johnson urged all persons in this area to exercise caution so that the loss of valuable timberland from forest fires can be kept at a minimum.

Discussion Group Meets

"Stewards of the Soil" was the topic for discussion during August for the Farm Bureau Planning groups. Three groups sent reports to Merle A. Garletts, secretary.

Those reporting felt that laws forcing farmers to use standard soil practices are not needed. They felt the best approach was a continuation of educational programs on soil and water conservation which are more democratic and more effective.

Groups were conscious of the serious problem of water run-off and the erosion resulting from it. Most farmers, they felt, were combatting this problem with practices at their disposal and with what money is available.

They reported the silting problems in harbors was hardly a problem for farmers alone. Timber cutters and coal strippers were great offenders in this respect, the group felt, and they did not feel that farmers should be penalized for harbor dredging.

Those reporting were group 5, Mrs. Mary Brenneman; group 9, Ruth Glotfelty; and group 10, Hubert Glotfelty. Group 9 took a tour August 12 to Cumberland and some of the members traveled to Mann's Choice, Pa., for a tour of Wonderland Caverns. This group plans to sponsor a new discussion group in its area.

FRIENDLY TABERNACLES

The author of the 84th Psalm was a great lover of the earthly habitations of God. The temples, shrines and holy places of Israel were his chief delight. He found them friendly, inviting and comforting to his soul.

In one of his moments of spiritual ecstasy he broke forth in song: "How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts!" he sang. "My soul longeth, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord."

There are millions today who look upon God's earthly houses—the churches of the land—in much the same way. They are glad when the church hour comes and they can mingle with others in worship and spiritual fellowship.

The church around the corner or over in the next block is not a cold and formal place, once you come to know it. It breathes friendliness and sympathy. It comforts and inspires and points the way to a kind and loving God.

Come to Church on Sunday and enjoy the fellowship of God's people.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Vision of Victory

Lesson for September 23, 1956

AFTER the battle, as Homer's poem tells it, the Greeks and Trojans who had been killed went right on fighting. Whoever won the flesh-and-blood war, the ghost-war went on and would go on forever. That was primitive Greek religion. But the same kind of notion is to be found in other religions. In the Zend-Avesta, sacred book of the ancient Persian religion, there is the picture of the good God Ahuri-Mazda and the evil God Ahriman, in perpetual never-ending war with each other. Strangely enough, this same idea floats around in people's heads who have been Christian long enough to know better. They pray, "Thy Kingdom come"; but nothing would surprise them more than if the Kingdom of God really came!

Dr. Foreman

Desperate Battle

The ancient Persians were not entirely wrong. Life is a battle, a desperate age-long war, between good and evil. God, and the friends of God, do not run over all opposition. The cause of God has had defeats. As a modern writer puts it, "Victory has many wounds." There are those who cannot see this. All things are good, some wish us to believe. But it is truer to the facts to see that not all things are good, but there are persons and forces going all-out to destroy what is good. No matter how good a man is, no matter how good a cause is, if it prevails in this world there has to be a fight first. The book of Revelation in our Bible is a book of battles. Its pages are red with flame and blood. The white-robed saints in light have come through "great tribulation." The young Christian who finds the going rough, the veteran Christian who becomes discouraged over the defeat of some cause that surely ought to have won,—all need to read the Bible again. Victory for God and the right there will be; but not easily and probably not today.

Personal Victory

In all the wars of this world, some on the winning side have never struck a blow or got into the fight at all. The armed forces do the fighting, the stay-at-homes celebrate the victory when it comes. It is different in the world-wide, age-long struggle between God and all that is anti-God. If the Bible teaches anything plainly it is that no one will share the victory of God who has not taken part in the struggle on God's side. Many Christian hymns express this idea, such as "Am I a soldier of the cross?" and "The Son of God goes forth to war." First the war, then the victory. Now there are many religions that teach something like this. Valhalla, Paradise, Nirvana, heaven, whatever it is called—most religions look forward to a time and place where everyone is, so to speak, a veteran of a successful war. But what do they do with their victory? Here the Christian religion stands out alone. "His servants shall serve Him," the Bible says. So John Sutherland Bonnell says in his little book, "'Heaven and Hell.'" (Abingdon Press, $1.00) "The rest which is promised us in heaven is not the rest of passivity or indolence. There will be constant opportunities for spiritual development and service."

Christ Will Reign

But the church is sure that the Christian can look forward to final victory only because he is fighting in the cause and army of Christ. It is his victory after all, not ours. If he lost, we would lose. There is a great future tense our faith in Christ. There is a past tense first: He has conquered death and evil, by the cross and resurrection he struck the forces of evil the fatal blow. But not the final one. For there is the present tense: In the lives of Christians, in his church, he wins victories today. But the future tense is equally important. Christian people have never been agreed on the details, but all Christians everywhere are one in affirming: CHRIST WILL REIGN! Not only in heaven but on earth. A Christianity that does not look forward to Christ's final triumph, complete and world-wide, is not only untrue to the Bible but is like that old Persian belief, courageous to be sure, but dismal,—that outlook on an eternal future just as uncertain and mixed with evil as is this present age. No,—the How and When are God's secret, but it is no secret that Christ will be Lord of all.

Governor Proclaims Autumn Glory Time

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin has officially proclaimed October 1 to 15 as "Autumn Glory Time" in Garrett county.

He points out in his official proclamation the miracle of nature, that of foliage turning from verdant green to flaming crimson, shining gold and all the pastels between, will be at the height of its beauty during that particular period.

He suggests that all citizens of Maryland, especially the residents of the Eastern portion of the state, visit Western Maryland, and particularly Garrett county to see and enjoy the beauty that will be unfolded during "Autumn Glory Time."

He also urged that citizens traveling to visit the beautiful mountains exercise utmost care and diligence in complying with all traffic safety and fire prevention laws and rules so that the glory of nature would not be marred by fire nor the enjoyment of the citizens be curtailed by death or injury.

Governor McKeldin pointed out that Maryland had been blessed with scenic beauty beyond that given to most states and that the mountains of Western Maryland were among the most beautiful and inspiring in the entire country.

Estimates indicate the world population will increase by 40 million persons this year.

Ford's F-100 pickup with 8-ft. box is the biggest in the half-ton field—up to 19 cu. ft. more loadspace than the others. Regular 6½-ft. box with a full 45 cu. ft. capacity also available.

COME IN TODAY!

And low first cost is only your first saving

● Before you buy your next truck, look at both sides of Ford's story of value. Check what you get and what it costs. You'll like what you see.

Look at the costs. Ford's first cost is low. Resale value is high. Modern Short Stroke engines—V-8 or Six—are designed for less friction, less wear, lower running costs. Maintenance costs are lower, too, because Ford trucks are built stronger for rugged long life. And a 10-million truck study proves Ford trucks last longer.

Look at what you get and you'll see you get more in a Ford. For example, more horsepower per dollar—proved by a comparison of factory-suggested list prices and net horsepower of all truck lines. You get more comfort and safety in Ford's Driverized Cab with exclusive Lifeguard features.

Look carefully . . . consider everything. You'll agree Ford trucks cost less, give you more. If you want a great deal—a great deal more for your money—see your Ford Dealer.

FORD TRUCKS LAST LONGER
Using latest registration data on 10,502,351 trucks, insurance experts prove Ford trucks last up to 9.9% longer.

IN MOTOR TRANSPORT GMC LEADS THE WAY

GMC shown at right is Model F350 fitted with 16-foot van. It's powered with a 140 h. p. six-cylinder engine—has over-size axles rated at 4,500 lbs. front; 14,000 lbs. rear. It's designed for 18,000 GVW truck-work. The smaller truck at left is GMC's popular ½-ton pickup with a 130 h. p. six-cylinder power plant.

Why settle for less than Blue Chip performance?

It doesn't take a new GMC owner long to spot the difference—especially if he's just switched from another make truck.

Take the way every Blue Chip GMC is "engined." An ultra-modern power plant gives him flashing response, sparkling road-pace—and record fuel economy.

Hydra-Matic* is another eye-opener. Right away he appreciates its time and effort saving in traffic. And later on, he cashes in on the big maintenance savings.

And every trip he can carry a bigger load. For GMC chassis are rugged—GMC axles are extra-capacity.

So he hauls more—and hauls it comfortably. GMC cabs are man-size and deep-cushioned. Recirculating ball-bearing steering makes handling free and easy. Close-quarters parking's a cinch with Safety Power Steering.*

And at every stop, a Blue Chip GMC attracts admiring attention. With that distinctive boulevard styling, it's a smart advertisement-on-wheels for any business.

One for your kind of truck-work? Our truck specialists will help you select just the Blue Chip model that will do your job most profitably. And our truck servicing experts always stand ready to help you keep it a Blue Chip top-profit-maker. Drop in and get acquainted!

No. 4673 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Full Report Of September Term, Garrett County Grand Jury

Grand Jury Room,
Court House,
Oakland, Maryland,
September 13th, 1956.

To the Honorable,
The Judges of the Circuit Court,
For Garrett County, Maryland.

The Grand Jury for Garrett County, in session for the September Term, 1956, respectfully submits the following report:

We were in session for four days, beginning Monday, September 10th 1956, and concluded our deliberations Thursday, September 13th, 1956.

We have examined 46 witnesses and have returned True Bills of Indictment in 23 cases and no True bills of Indictment in no cases.

All cases have been governed by our obligations as Jurors and our duty to society in insisting on the enforcement of the law. In our action in each instance, we have had due regard for the rights of the citizen.

Acting in accordance with the instructions given us by His Honor Judge Neil C. Fraley, we have inspected the Sheriff's Residence and Jail, the Court House, the Treasurer's Office and books, the Hospital and the New County Roads Garage.

In our inspection of the jail and the Sheriff's residence we found that leaks in the roof of the jail and sheriff's residence have not been repaired as recommended by the March Grand Jury. We urge that this be done as soon as possible. We urge that the County Commissioners follow the recommendation of the heating consultant concerning the installation of a stoker for the boiler at the jail and also to repair the automatic water feeder.

In our inspection of the Courthouse we find the greatest need at the present time is the cleaning and care of the same. It is in a deplorable condition and we recommend that this situation be remedied at once even if it is necessary to hire additional help. Plaster in the Treasurer's office should be repaired and painted. We recommend that steps be taken to assure the treasurer of adequate space so that he can perform his duties. The sky light and dome of the Courthouse has not been cleaned and painted as recommended by prior Grand juries. This matter should be taken care of at once so that the Courthouse can be a building which all citizens can be proud of. We further recommend that flood lights or similar indirect lighting be installed so that the true architectural beauty of the court house can be used to its best advantage.

A leak in the roof of the register of wills' office must be repaired and also the office repainted and plaster repaired. This was recommended by the last Grand Jury but to date nothing has been done.

The walks and lawn of the Courthouse are also in a deplorable condition. There is a general lack of good housekeeping in the interior of the Courthouse and around the grounds surrounding it.

In our inspection of the hospital we found same in very good condition. We recommend that a floor covering be installed on the laundry of the hospital.

We recommend that the legislatures of this County review the salary scales of county employees so that they can be put more in line with present day requirements and also in line with other counties of the State. We ask that the State's attorney deliver to each of the legislatures a copy of this report so that the study can be made prior to the opening of the 1957 Session of the Legislature.

This Grand Jury spent three days questioning witnesses concerning alleged fraud, misappropriation or misuse of County funds. This matter was investigated thoroughly and inspection made of the appropriate county records. We have rejected attempts by persons to use the Grand Jury solely for political purposes. We have been advised that the purpose of the Grand Jury is to investigate violations of the Criminal Laws of this State and after our thorough investigation we have found no violations of said laws concerning the use and expenditure of public funds. We examined thoroughly records in the Roads Department of this county concerning the expenditure of monies for the construction of the Roads Department Garage and other materials purchased by the Roads Department and in every case we investigated we found authentic bills for all monies paid.

We were further advised that it is not the function of the Grand Jury to decide administrative duties of the County Officials. However, the question of an audit of the County books is a "moot" question because there has been no objection by the County Commissioners to an audit of the books of the county and Roads Department from the beginning of the term of the present administration. We were advised that an audit is planned at the end of 1956 covering the years 1955 and 1956.

We further investigated thoroughly the possibility of violation of the statutes of Maryland relating to the doing of business with the County by the several County Commissioners. After due consideration of all the evidence we are of the opinion that there was no criminal intention to violate these laws. However, we as Grand Jurors, although we are not a criticizing body cannot condone poor judgment and the doing of County business in a loose manner. We feel that the Grand Jury is not the appropriate body to remedy such practices and we recommend that persons who are aggrieved by such procedures should exhaust the proper remedies.

We desire to express to his Honor Neil C. Fraley, our thanks and appreciation for his courtesy extended us during our term.

We also wish to thank Sheriff Paul W. Fisher, Richard L. Davis, Clerk of Court, the State Police and Constables for Garrett County for their cooperation and assistance to us during our deliberations. It is our opinion that the Law enforcement officers have performed their duties in a very commendable manner.

And we lastly wish to express our thanks to Mr. Stephen R. Pagenhardt, State's Attorney for Garrett County, for his advice and cooperation as an advisor to this Grand Jury and his able manner in conducting his affairs before us is greatly appreciated, and also we wish to thank Lester White, Deputy Clerk and Mr. Charles F. Hammond for their able assistance during our deliberation.

Respectfully submitted,
A. LEO HELBIG
F. W. Burgwald, Clerk
Ross Speicher, Clerk

Ervin Roth Indicted For Perjury; Assault Against Clifford Friend

After four days' deliberation, the September Grand Jury returned 23 indictments, among which were two against Garrett county officials, Ervin A. Roth and Clifford Friend.

County Commissioner Roth was charged with committing perjury, or lying under oath, and State Senator Friend with assault.

The assault charge grew out of an altercation between Friend and W. W. DeWitt, county roads engineer, during which the latter received a broken jaw, allegedly as the result of a blow struck by the Senator.

Friend was originally scheduled for hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland, and posted $1,000 bond. The hearing was then changed to Grantsville, where he would have appeared before Trial Magistrate Charles Zeller.

Under the Constitution of Maryland, perjury is considered an "infamous crime" and one convicted of the crime loses the right to vote and to seek or hold public office unless pardoned. Maximum penalty for perjury, besides disenfranchisement, could be up to ten years imprisonment.

While assault is a misdemeanor, conviction has, at times, carried penitentiary sentences of several years. It is not considered an infamous crime.

The unusually long Grand Jury session was occasioned by a thorough investigation of the conduct of the county's business, especially the roads department.

In newspaper advertisements, letters to the editor and handbills, Friend has repeatedly insinuated irregularities in roads department handling of contracts and funds. The jury returned no indictments against roads department officials, or any county official, except Roth.

Mr. Roth appeared before the clerk of the Circuit court Sept. 14 and posted bond for his appearance. Cheston H. Browning was his bondsman.

The indictment against Roth specifically charges that on September 11, on his examination as a witness before the Grand Jury "unlawfully and falsely swore he did not know that drilling was being done on overburden at Bishoff's quarry and that he was not notified that drilling was being done on overburden until all of the holes had been drilled."

Senator Friend was charged specifically "In and upon William W. DeWitt in peace of God and said state did make an assault and him, the said W. W. DeWitt, did then and there beat, bruise, wound and ill treat, so that his life was greatly despaired of and other wrongs to him, the said W. W. DeWitt, then and there did to the great damage of him, the said W. W. DeWitt, and against the peace, government and dignity of the state."

John Guthrie Luke was indicted on two counts for assault with intent to kill upon the person of Kermit Wayne Wildman and Edna Luke. Bonds for their appearance at court were filed in each case, Senator Friend furnishing his own bond while Mrs. Luke and Laura Kelly furnished bond for Mr. Luke.

Trial Is Moved

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., attorney for Roth, filed a motion asking for removal of the trial to another county. Roth has that right under Maryland law since conviction could result in a penitentiary term.

Agriculture Secretary Benson said Brannan Plan farm program which Democrats endorsed at Chicago convention would cost government $5 billion 400 million a year.

THE REPUBLICAN

"Absolute Truth" . . .

President Eisenhower recently served notice that Democratic distortions would be set straight but that he would not be drawn into a low-level campaign. He said he would lay "the absolute truth" before the American people and let them decide.

Thus the President continues to radiate dignity at the White House—something that was certainly lacking over the previous years. He will keep that dignity throughout his life.

He recently declared "I don't care what they say about me. I still believe America believes I am honest, that I am not a rascal or anything like it."

A short time later, at Gettysburg, the President laid down the four Republican objectives. They are:

1. To arouse in the American people a consciousness of all that is at stake in this election, of their responsibility and their ability in making sure we stay on the straight road of prosperity, progress and peace.

2. To generate in them the conviction that our party, the party of the future, is best fitted for the management of our government because of its principles and record and the candidates it presents for office from village to national level.

3. To ignite in them a zeal to make converts among their neighbors, to be themselves active workers for the Republican party and builders of the American future.

4. To fortify their determination that this year they will register in time and get others to register; to vote themselves and persuade others to vote.

These are worthy objectives and worthy of support of all the people. He should be re-elected by a greater majority than that by which he was elected four years ago.

Area To Return To Standard Time

Garrett county residents will officially return to Standard time next Sunday morning, September 30, at 2 o'clock. Daylight time has been in effect in the county since the last Sunday in April. Persons will turn back their clocks one hour when they retire on Saturday night and thereby pick up the one hour that was lost last April when the daylight time officially went into effect.

Some of the metropolitan areas won't change over to Standard time until the last Sunday in October. They include New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Pittsburgh.

Baltimore residents will participate in a referendum in November that would permit that city to adopt next year the extra month of fast time.

In Garret county there will be a referendum vote on whether or not the county each year will automatically go on fast time or will remain on standard time such as is the case in much of West Virginia and Virginia.

Television viewers probably will become "fouled up" by the variation in time on programs originating in the major cities along the seaboard.

Southern Preparing For the Future In Sports Field

Southern High's football program took on added significance this week when forty-one eighth and ninth grade boys reported for Junior High football.

Edward Quattro, coach for the youthful boys, reported a high degree of enthusiasm and interest. "It's not going to be an easy matter to cut the squad down to 25," he was quoted as saying.

Quattro was referring to the fact that equipment would be available for only 25 boys. He plans to cut the squad down to this figure on Friday.

"However, no boy should be discouraged, if he is cut," he said. "A great many of the boys, particularly those in the eighth grade, will have another opportunity again next year."

Quattro said the young boys showed plenty of spirit as he ran them through basic fundamentals of the gridiron sport.

Though the boys will not engage in any inter-school competition, an inter-squad game between halves of the Southern-Northern contest has been tentatively scheduled.

Meanwhile, after suffering three defeats, Southern's varsity worked long hours in vigorous drills in an attempt to overcome weaknesses noted to date. On Friday night, they face Beall High school at Frostburg. Game time is 8 p. m.

Both teams will be fighting for their first win of the season. Beall lost its opening game to Allegany High school 20-0, and dropped the second game to Keyser by a score of 20-6.

The Southern High School Band will join the Beall High Band in the half-time demonstration.

Engineers Approve Flood Project For Friendsville Area

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde and U.S. Senator J. Glenn Beall announced that the chief of the Corps of Army Engineers had given final approval of the flood protection project for Friendsville.

Funds for construction of this project have been allocated to the Pittsburgh District office of the Corps of Army Engineers.

Ralph D. Swauger, member of the Friendsville town council and chairman of the town's flood protection committee, said the project was sorely needed.

During Hurricane Hazel in October, 1954, 45 homes were flooded and two bridges washed out in the immediate vicinity as a result of Bear Creek overflowing. Damage to the town as a result of the hurricane was estimated at $55,000, Swauger said.

Rep. Hyde reported that the estimated federal cost of the project is $50,600. He added "The Town of Friendsville is now being requested to submit final assurance of local cooperation and the flood protection will be underway."

Swauger explained that the Friendsville council has scheduled a meeting tonight with representatives of the Army Engineers from Pittsburgh. He said the town must purchase all rights of way, property and easements needed for the project, must furnish statements of the financial condition of the town, plans for disposal areas and adjust relocation of utilities and plans for maintenance of the project after it is completed.

When these requirements are fulfilled, Swauger said, the engineers will draw up detailed plans for taking care of the high water. The town's cost has been estimated at $2,500.

Hyde and Beall have been working with Friendsville officials and the Corps of Engineers over a two-year period.

Discovers Who He Is

The driver of the automobile which wrecked last week and who couldn't seem to recall who he was, soon discovered who he was when a Federal Bureau of Investigation official arrived here last Friday morning.

The man was identified as Robert Gene Solomon, an AWOL from Aberdeen, whose home is in Texas. He was taken to Baltimore on a Federal charge of transporting a stolen car over state lines. The two Negroes who were temporarily detained because they were occupants of the car which wrecked, were released.

To Supervise Recreation

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wright, formerly of Friendsville, moved last week to Pursglove, W. Va., where they will work for the National Board of Missions of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Wright will be Supervisor of Recreation and sports, while Mrs. Wright, formerly Hazel Mosser, McHenry, will da secretarial work for Rev. Chase and work with youth groups.

Mr. Wright was recommended for the job by West Virginia university and will continue his studies as a senior physical education major.

Guthrie Luke Pleads Guilty In Assault Case

J. Guthrie Luke, of Deep Creek Lake, received a three-year suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction after he pleaded guilty to assault and battery before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the Garrett County Circuit court on Monday.

State's Attorney Stephen B. Pagenhardt agreed to drop the more serious charge against Luke of assault with intent to murder his wife and Kermit Wayne Wildman, 18. Luke was accused of having pumped pellets from a .410 shotgun into his wife and the boy, who was standing nearby.

Judge Fraley stipulated that Luke must abstain completely from the use of alcoholic beverages or serve the three-year sentence. He was placed under supervision of David M. Steele, probation and parole officer for Western Maryland. He must not keep firearms at his residence.

In another case Tuesday Judge Fraley found James Green and Joshua Green, his son, both of Avilton, not guilty of assault and malicious damage of property of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crowe, also of Avilton. The Greens were accused of having smashed tables and chairs in the Crowe beer tavern.

Dominic Cimarosa, proprietor of The Barn, a dance hall along Deep Creek Lake, was fined $250 and court costs by Judge Fraley after having been found guilty by a jury of gambling, through pinball machine payoffs July 14.

Sadie Baker, of the White Rock section near Friendsville, was found guilty of operating a disorderly house. Pagenhardt said the place was described as a public nuisance. She received a six months jail sentence but sentence was suspended provided the woman remained of good behavior and allowed no men or drinking on her premises.

Woman Is Fined

Mrs. Minnie Thomas, Lonaconing, pleaded guilty before Judge Fraley on Tuesday of selling beer in this county without a license. Judge Fraley imposed a $50 fine and court costs.

Mrs. Thomas who holds a beer license for premises in Lonaconing decided to have a picnic along the Avilton road in this county Sunday, August 26. State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt said she sold tickets for $1 each and served beer with the picnic meal.

Convicted on Bad Checks

Willard A. Crosby, Hyattsville, was found guilty yesterday by a jury on two charges of cashing bad checks totaling $2,871.03 in payment for live stock purchased at the Blaine Friend stockyard in Accident. Judge Fraley did not pass sentence.

Pagenhardt said Crosby had an

Christian Voters' League Meets For Fourth Time

The fourth consecutive meeting of the Garrett County League of Christian Voters was held Tuesday evening in the Nazarene church in Oakland.

It was arranged to show a film, "The Street," for the first time next Tuesday evening in the Nazarene church at 7:30. The public is invited.

A committee of three was appointed to write a brief letter on the cost of liquor to the county financially, morally, spiritually and physically. It was planned to prepare handbills to advertise each meeting. Tracts have been ordered for distribution.

Dwight Ashby, superintendent of the Union Sunday school in Crellin, presented a check for $50 to the chairman, Rev. Glenn W. Eagle.

The group discussed the play, "Prisoner at the Bar," but no action was taken. The next meeting is set for Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Mrs. Aldine McIntyre, Kitzmiller, and Glenroot Dilley, of Oakland, attended the meeting for the first time since their recent appointment as members of the board. Others attending were Robert W. Stemple, director; Aubrey Brenneman, representing the County Commissioners; Mrs. Ruth Selby, Friendsville; Mrs. David Hardesty, Oakland; Guy Stanton, Grantsville.

Open House for Red House School Planned Oct. 7

Parents and patrons of Garrett County Schools are being invited to visit the Red House school, Sunday, October 7, from 2 to 5 p. m. By that time the new two-room addition will have been completed as well as the renovation and some remodeling of the old part. The two basement rooms that were unfit for classrooms but formerly used as such, have been converted into a small all-purpose room.

This room completely renovated and equipped with a modern kitchen, will enable the children at Red House for the first time to have a school lunch program. The room can also be used for assemblies, school educational activities and community groups. A new furnace large enough to heat the present plant was also installed, and the furnace formerly in the Red House school was installed at Crellin where there was an urgent need for better heating facilities. Both schools now have adequate heating plants.

The Red House school is considered by many as being one of the most attractive rural four-room schools to be found anywhere. A modern program of education is carried on at this school with special emphasis on various aspects of wildlife, conservation and outdoor education. Red House also boasts of a small school band with students playing an unusual variety of instruments including among them the accordion, glockenspiel, violin, banjo and ocarina. The school lawn and playground is characterized by its neat appearance and variety of well kept playground equipment.

The school now has an enrollment of 125 pupils and has four teachers. Mrs. Phyllis H. Williams is the principal.

The improvements to this school were made possible by the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County in securing money from the State School Construction Loan Fund. The contract for the two-room addition constructed by Mr. William Shirer was $22,620.00.

Members must be thirteen to nineteen. No one will be allowed in the club after Friday, October 5, without a membership card. A new member is free to apply at any time.

County Will Use Paper Ballots

Garrett County will use paper ballots instead of voting machines at the November election, it was decided at a meeting Monday of members of the Board of County Commissioners and members of the Board of Supervisors of Elections. It will probably be the only county in Maryland to use this method of voting.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, called the special meeting to see if the deadlock that has existed for the past several months could be broken.

Swartzentruber said there was a question in his mind of the legality of the use of paper ballots since the legislature passed a law making voting machines mandatory by the 1956 general election. It was the opinion of the Board of Supervisors and its attorney that nothing could take away the right of individuals to have their votes counted. The majority members of the election board stated they felt it was too late to get the voting machines and use them for the November election.

Swartzentruber had pointed out that one of the manufacturers of the two voting machine companies could have the devices shipped to Oakland within 48 hours' notice.

The law passed in the General assembly calling for all counties to have voting machines in use by the November 1956 election, had a clause which stated that a county may be excused if there are "unusual circumstances."

The "unusual circumstances" in this county stem from a long history of a deadlock. Two bids were received from two separate voting machine companies after the Board of Election Supervisors met to vote on the bids. Two Commissioners, H. D. Swartzentruber and A. C. Brenneman, together with William O. Treacy, the Democratic minority member of the election board, held out for the least expensive machine.

But Ervin Roth, a County Commissioner, and Francis W. Sanders and William L. Gibson, the other two election supervisors, held out for the selection of the costlier machine.

After legal action in the Circuit Court to determine who had the authority to make the purchase, Chief Judge George Henderson ruled that the situation had reached an impasse. The law gives the Board of Supervisors the right to order but stipulates that nothing shall be ordered without the consent of the County Commissioners.

Attorney to the Board also pointed out that the new law took no power away from the Board of County Commissioners that it previously had, and that therefore the Commissioners would have a perfect right to order the machines at any time.

Adult Education Classes To Start In County Oct. 15

Registration for Adult Education classes will be held Thursday, October 11, in the various schools of the county and classes will begin the week of October 15. Anyone over 16 and not regularly enrolled in school is eligible to attend. Fifteen must register before a class will be started in any given subject. An average attendance of 10 per class must be maintained throughout the semester. Classes are two hours long and may meet twice weekly. The meeting nights are determined by the teacher and members of the class. Last year classes in the following subjects were held: math, English, history, commercial, agriculture, self-employed handicrafts.

Under the law the subjects to be taught should help one in his vocational pursuits. The same subjects offered last year can be offered again this year if there is sufficient demand for them.

Efforts will be made to have one or more adult classes in the following school centers: Southern, Northern, Kitzmiller, Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville and Red House. All persons interested in taking part in some adult education class are asked to contact the principal of the nearest school center listed above for detailed information. Anyone unable to register in person October 11 may do so by phone at the school they will attend.

C. & A. Gas Starts $15,500 Pipeline Construction Job

Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company this week launched a $15,500 pipeline construction project to improve zero weather gas service to some 150 Oakland families.

Over 2,800 feet of new 8, 6 and 4-inch pipe will replace smaller 2 and 4-inch line which has been used to serve customers in the Center, Pennington and Proctor Street area, manager R. H. Brown said. Completion is expected in four or five weeks.

The pipeline will run from a regulating station near the intersection of Fourth and Center Streets along Fourth to Pennington, up Pennington to Proctor and then west on Proctor to Center, he said.

Most all gas used in Oakland comes into the south side of town and is moved up Fourth Street to the regulator at Center Street. From that point, it is routed into lines feeding various sections of town.

"Practically all customers here will benefit from this project because gas mains feeding other sections of town will be freed to supply gas solely in that service area," Brown said.

"With completion of the new line, a cold weather bottleneck which developed on the old line will be eliminated. In addition, the gas mains which were hard pressed to supplement deliveries by the smaller line can be used more efficiently to serve one certain neighborhood," the official said.

The local project is part of C. & A.'s long-range construction program designed to bolster its supply and delivery network and make natural gas available to area residents in the most efficient and economical method possible, he said.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting in the annex cafeteria with the sixth grade room mothers in charge.

Killing Frost Hits

A killing frost hit the county last Friday morning with temperatures dropping to an official reading of 23 degrees. Ralph E. Weber, veteran weather man, said it was a new low for so early in the fall. Otherwise the week's weather has been moderate.

A resume showed Friday clear and warm following the heavy frost with rain on Saturday morning, clearing in the afternoon. Sunday was clear and warm but a thunder storm occurred in the evening. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday have been cool and this morning the thermometer stood at forty degrees as rain began to fall. Wind was blowing from the east.

Under this part of the program payments will be made for removing land from the production of general farm crops and converting it to long range conservation uses.

Only farmers who have cropland from which no crop of any kind was harvested and which was not pastured during 1956 will be eligible to sign-up at the present time, it was stated.

A longer sign-up period is to be provided after January 1, for those persons who wish to put land in the Soil Bank beginning with the 1957 calendar year.

Jury Acquits Senator Friend Of Assault

Finds Him Not Guilty After Deliberating About One and One-Half Hours

A Garrett County Circuit Court jury on Tuesday afternoon found State Senator Clifford Friend of Accident not guilty of assaulting County Roads Engineer William W. DeWitt. The jury deliberated about one and one-half hours.

Testimony was heard most of the day in the Oakland court room before the case went to the jury about 2:45. Closing arguments were presented by State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt and W. Earle Cobey, Cumberland, one of Senator Friend's attorneys. Charles C. Nathan, Grantsville, also represented Friend. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley presided.

Senator Friend was indicted two weeks ago by the grand jury of the September term. The assault charge grew out of an altercation between Friend and DeWitt during which the latter received a fractured jaw.

There was conflicting testimony in several instances. DeWitt testified that the blow dealt him came as a surprise as he was walking away from Friend, and this testimony was corroborated by Paul DeWitt, assistant county roads engineer; John Nazelrod and Frank Blamble, county roads workers. Rodger Bond, McHenry, and Senator Friend testified that only one blow was struck, and that the two men were facing each other at the time. DeWitt had testified he couldn't swear who hit him since his back was turned.

Paul DeWitt also testified that the Senator also struck at the man again after he was on the ground, but this was denied by the defendant.

State's Attorney Pagenhardt endeavored to point out to the jury that it would have been impossible for Friend to deliver such a blow unless the man's back was turned. The man's right jaw was fractured from a blow from the Senator's right hand, according to the testimony presented.

The defendant attorneys did not deny that the blow had been struck, but endeavored to prove to the jury that Senator Friend had just provocation for his act. Defense witnesses contended that Friend did not strike the roads engineer until after DeWitt had called him obscene names and threatened him.

The Roads Engineer testified that he had become enraged at the Senator when the Senator accused him of getting kickbacks from the roads job, which he emphatically denied. The Senator countered this with testimony that he said that such acts of road construction made it suspicious that someone was receiving kickbacks, but asserted he made no direct accusation of the road engineer receiving kickbacks. The argument simmered down after this and it was not until later that the blow was struck.

Senator Friend had been critical of the Garrett County Commissioners for the construction of the Red Run-U. S. 219 road and the arguments between the two took place at the site of the project on August 4.

Following the fight Mr. DeWitt had is jaw wired shut for several weeks and was forced to obtain nourishment through a straw. He lost over twenty pounds during his ordeal.

"It is the highest privilege of every citizen . . ."

If someone tried to take your vote away, you would probably fight. Yet you can lose the privilege of voting by forgetting to register in time.

So many elections have been won and lost by a tiny handful of votes in each voting area that your personal vote this year could actually decide who is elcted.

As President Eisenhower pointed out recently:

"It is not only the highest privilege but the duty of every citizen to vote. Let us remember we cannot vote if we do not register."

"Lincoln defined this government in three ways: 'of, by, and for the people,' implying that if people did not exercise their right to govern, their government would perish from the earth."

"I have unlimited faith in America as long as America will express itself. The only thing I should like to see is every American vote!"

Make sure YOU are registered. Call your local election officials for time and place of registration days.

Senator's Parting Shot

If we may believe our State Senator, he has now fired his final round. At least in his letter to the citizens this week (he uses a white sheet this time instead of pink) he says this is probably his final reply. We can term this a real blessing for the majority of the people of this county.

His latest is a reply to the September 13 issue of The Republican and the special county edition of September 14, wherein he declared The Republican is not interested in printing truth. It was because we were interested in printing the truth that we put out the special edition and mailed them to all our subscribers within this county. Would the Senator infer that the information released by the grand jury was not the truth?

He accuses us of building circulation through misstatement. That is a real laugh. Those special editions were mailed to all subscribers without any additional cost to them, and if we figured it out in dollars and cents alone, then that edition probably cost this office around $75.00. But we felt the news of real significance and were glad of the opportunity to serve.

We would like to correct a few false impressions that might be gathered from his letter. If his investigations proved to him that roads funds were being mismanaged as he says, those facts should have gone to the grand jury, and we can assume that they did. We can assume that he actually had no facts to offer or the Grand Jury would have taken some action. Would the Senator infer that twenty-three grand jurors are wrong and the Senator is right?

He stated "everyone will agree when I state most of our county roads are in a deplorable condition." What does the senator mean by MOST? There are 720 miles of road under the county system. Does he mean that more than 360 miles of road are in deplorable condition or does he mean maybe five or ten miles? Is "deplorable" the proper word?

He said he had no special interest other than to see Garrett county obtain the best voting machine at the best price. Well the Shoup machine was considered the best machine by two commissioners and one election supervisor, and it was at the lowest price. In spite of his denial, he most certainly did try to exert pressure in regard to the voting machines. He appeared before two commissioners and by thumping his fist demanded that they purchase the highest priced machine. Why?

Why doesn't he tell the taxpayers that he went to William Treacy, Election Board member, to insist he change his attitude on voting machines, and then told him to keep his visit quiet? It couldn't be party harmony involved in this visit since Mr. Treacy is a Democrat.

He agrees in his final letter that the erection of the county garage was probably all right, just as he had to admit that the Commissioners didn't spend thousands of dollars for machinery in the past two years. If he could be pinned down on most of his assertions he would have to agree that he was mistaken.

He maintains he can't get his articles printed in this newspaper. We have never refused to print his letters except two or three which were distinctly libelous in nature and ones for which he and this newspaper could have been sued for slander. We will continue to reserve this right to refuse libelous material.

We have never taken any particular stand on his record in the Senate other than to remark in most instances he never was in favor of any forward looking legislation but always was one to be "against." He was against the school program which will cost the county over a million dollars more than it should have. His pugilistic record certainly has been an active one in the Senate, but we can't call that commendable.

His demand for an audit by a CPA is certainly out of order. The commissioners had set machinery in motion for such an audit of both 1955 and 1956 BEFORE the Senator opened his mouth about it.

He says the citizens must be the sole judge as to whether or not the roads department is being conducted in a proper manner. Twenty-three members of the grand jury, after their investigation, said that expenditures were all accounted for properly. Would the Senator assert that these men were not thorough and honest in their report? If he personally saw unitemized invoices in files of the roads department, did he present that information to the grand jury? The grand jury, I am sure, demanded facts, not fiction.

If he claims all his figures were true, did he testify under oath to that effect before the grand jury?

Could be his information was as authentic as one individual who conveniently fled from the county during the grand jury session, so he could not be called to testify. This particular person is one of the loudest talkers in criticism of the commissioners when he doesn't have to back up what he says with facts. But when it comes to giving testimony under oath, what happened? The man fled. He returned to the county after the grand jury adjourned, and probably is now as loud as ever in condemning the county commissioners and the roads department. This type of criticism should get him nowhere.

Never before has it taken the Senator so many words to actually say so little in the way of direct information. We hope he abides by his decision to make it his final reply. We'll be most happy to drop him off the hook, and direct our efforts to something more worthwhile.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

I, as one of the Jurors of the September Court, resent the pamphlet Mr. Clifford Friend sent out to the citizens of Garrett County. Do you mean to doubt the integrity of us Jurors and say the report of the Grand Jury was not correct?

We took our oath to do justice and we did.

You still harp on the road going down beside the lake that you say is not needed. That road when finished will give those people around Swallow Falls a good outlet to Route 219, besides those people who have lots along the lake and are going to build houses which will surely be an asset to the county and will help our taxes. Then you speak of the Roads Department—spending nearly $1,000,000.00.

You do not say one word about the payroll which consists of 140 men, snow removal, snow fence material for roads, truck expense, gasoline, heating and lighting garage, stationery, stamps, and several more items.

Now, Mr. Friend, anyone in the county can go into the Roads Department office and can get the exact figures on all purchases and expenditures.

Why don't you do this instead of trying to smear our present County Commissioners' administration? You spoke that a Certified Public Accountant should audit the county books. The present Commissioners said they were going to have an audit for 1955-1956 when this year's business was finished.

One question: Why don't you display the tags you get free for your car? Any motive?

You stated you are an independent Republican. So am I and I will assure you I will never again vote for you and I have my reasons.

Sincerely,
Thomas Wilson
Kitzmiller, Md.

End of Summer Is Marked on Saturday

Summer came to its official end Saturday evening at 8:36 o'clock, Eastern Standard time.

At noontime on that day the sun passed the equator on its trip southward and daylight hours equaled night hours. This change from summer to autumn is known as the autumnal equinox.

As the days become shorter and the northern hemisphere is tilted away from the direct rays of the sun, the earth absorbs less and less heat from the sun. By December the heat received by day fails to make good the amount of heat that is lost by night and it is not until January and February that the gain by day and loss by night become equal and the thermometer ceases to show a downward trend.

The autumn weather brought a variety of weather. It was cool in the northern states west of the Mississippi river, warm in the midwest, moderate in the east and hot in the south.

Vandals Active

Several vandals apparently have "jumped the gun" again as to the time for Hallowe'en pranks.

According to Donald M. Browning, postmaster, a number of mail boxes are being defaced and other destruction being done to government property. He issued a warning against such activities and said that enforcement officers had been notified to be on the alert and anyone caught defacing government property would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Burning Rules Explained

When notification of burning regulations by the State Forestry department failed to mention about a 200-foot stipulation, district foresters began to receive numerous inquiries, so a full explanation was given this week.

The regulation applies only within two hundred feet of woodland or inflammable material that could ignite and carry fire to woodland and outside the limits of incorporated towns.

From September 15 to December 15 burning is permissible only after 4 p. m. and before midnight EST, except when the ground is covered with snow and in compliance with conditions specified. Open air burning is prohibited except there must be a fire break at least ten feet wide completely around the material to be burned, free of inflammable material and there must be present adequate personnel and equipment to prevent the fire from escaping and there must be at least one responsible person at the location until the last spark is out.

Attend Conference

Robert Rodeheaver, president of the County Teachers' association, attended the presidents meeting and was a staff member at a leadership training camp at Cascade, September 21 to 23.

Also attending the conference were Miss Claudine Opel, who attended sessions on Ethics; and Miss Viola Broadwater, member of the Public relations committee, who attended as a representative.

New Regulation Fixed For Motor Vhicle Permit

Effective Monday, October 1, there will be a waiting period of several days for all applicants for permits to operate motor vehicles in the state of Maryland, it was announced by Frank Small, Jr., Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. The purpose of this ruling is to give the Department of Motor Vehicles adequate time to thoroughly check the driving record, if any, of the applicant. It is suggested that applicants mail their applications for all driving licenses to the department, in order to avoid congestion and loss of time.

If there is no record against the applicant, instruction licenses will be mailed out, and those eligible to take test will be notified to appear.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

In the last issue of our home paper we saw a very unsightly scene at the end of Glendale bridge at Deep Creek Lake. On Monday it was still the same picture only growing worse. We had a law passed in our state which we have been needing a long time and now we have signs along our highways. Right where this collection of garbage is piled there are two big signs saying "$250.00 fine for throwing garbage on our highways."

Well, this highway is almost blocked and our law authorities and our Board of Health have done nothing to have this removed. It is nice to have people from other states come to Garrett county to live and spend their vacation, BUT we don't like to look at pictures like this. I don't mean to say all of this has been done by out of state people but I feel safe in saying that the majority of it is. So who is responsible for these conditions existing here. We have a man at the wheel who has done a lot to have peace on this earth and he stands ready to continue his good work. What is the trouble here in our county? We are not Communists so let's clean house and all work together and live like our good Skipper would have us live.

SEAL-O-MATIC ASPHALT SHINGLES
defy wind and water

In an actual test J-M Seal-O-Matic Shingles withstood the terrific blasts of an aircraft engine. Wind and water were driven at 100 m.p.h. against a panel of these shingles for an hour, with frequent gusts up to 140 miles per hour . . . not a tab lifted . . . not a drop leaked through.

Here's the secret of this amazing shingle. A stripe of special petroleum resin is factory-applied on the underside of each shingle. The sun's heat seals it to the underlying shingle, defying even high winds to pry it loose. Drop in and let us give you a personal demonstration of these patented Seal-O-Matic Shingles.

W. Va. Deaf Trims Southern

Romney School Scores Six Touchdowns; Wins 40-6

Coach Dick Travis' inexperienced Highlanders launched their first home game last Friday afternoon by bowing to the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney by a score of 40 to 6. It was the third straight loss for Southern.

The Highlanders were unable to solve the blocking of the rugged Romney or to stop the hard running of left half Buemi and fullback Popovich. Romney scored in each period tallying 7 points in the first quarter, 13 in each of the second and third quarters and 7 in the final stanza. Buemi and Popovich accounted for 28 points while Jones and Smith made six each.

Romney's first score came after a punt by Deckman gave them the ball on their 49-yard line. An end run of 25 yards and a penalty put the ball on the Highlander 15. On the next play Buemi took a pitchout and ran right end for the score.

Early in the second half runs of 20 and 12 yards put the ball in position for Popovich to power his way over left tackle. Three plays later Buemi intercepted a pass by Mason and went down the side for 55 yards.

After receiving the Romney kickoff the Highlanders came to life and reeled off four consecutive first downs before carrying inside the one yard line as time ran out in the first half.

In the third quarter Romney recovered a Southern fumble on the 27 and two plays later Jones took a lateral from Buemi and went over from the 11. After Southern lost the ball on downs Romney went into single wing formation and using their superior height to advantage completed four passes for their fifth touchdown.

In the third period a quick kick by Mason of 40 yards caught Romney off guard causing the gold and white to fumble on their 18-yard line. Sanders recovered for Southern and in five rushing plays Deckman carried over from the one for the Highlanders' only score. Deckman's kick for the extra point was low.

Southern's 92-piece band, under direction of Raymond Borrell entertained the crowd between halves with music and marching formations. A novelty number, "Rock Around the Clock," with clock formation, the majorettes forming the hours, was executed.

The Highlanders will play Beall High of Frostburg on Friday evening, September 28, at Frostburg under the lights. The game is set to begin at 8 o'clock.

Planning Group Meets

Farm Planning group No. 9 met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Opel with 12 in attendance, including Donald Glotfelty, a visitor. "Your Vote Is Your Voice—Use It," was the topic with James Opel the leader.

The group felt that freedom on the farm is important and that people's opinions were sometimes changed through press, radio and television. The group felt that politicians cannot do everything for everybody even though they promise to do many things to obtain an office or position.

The participants felt that the County Farm Bureau should publicize proceedings of directors' meetings to keep everyone informed. They said farmers' viewpoints are of some value because some laws are made by the minority groups and with our American System, "each individual has the right to voice his opinion as he chooses."

They did not think that farmers should be told how to plan their crops, how many acres of this or that they may plant. They felt this was not freedom on the farm.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Teets.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

This week, in our series of articles on the Apostle's Creed, we consider the last four phrases of the second article, which, as I have said before, deals with the Person and the Work of our Lord, Christ Jesus. It is: "He descended into Hell; the third day He rose again from the dead; He ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty, from whence He shall come to judge the quick and the dead."

This covers a great deal of territory in a few short words. Around the first phrase, "He descended into Hell," there has been some controversy. It is based primarily on the scriptural passage, I Peter 3:18 ff, in which Peter states: "For Christ also died for sins once for all, the righteous for the unrighteous, that He might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but made alive in the spirit; in which he went and preached to the spirits in prison." The key to this is in the last statement, that He went to preach "to the spirits in prison." The Greek term prison, phulake, traditionally means the abode of the unrighteous, and in many cases was used to designate the term "prison" in an earthly sense for the Greeks.

The general opinions vary in degree concerning the meaning of this statement, but they all agree generally that Christ went to the "place of departed spirits," of which there was only one in the thoughts of first century people, as opposed to the two that we believe in, and preached a repentance that they too might have salvation through Him. Perhaps another way in which we can look at this phrase is that it is a way of saying in an emphatic fashion that Christ really and truly died. As to the state of His being during the three days of His death, we have no direct words that are recorded of His description of this matter, and all that we can say is that He died for our sins.

As for the fact that He arose from the dead, we have the eye-witness account of this wonderful act in our gospels. His ascent into heaven is also recorded as an eye-witness event. I might add here that in spite of what Pius XII stated in 1950, there is no record whatsoever, or even a hint to the effect that Mary was taken into heaven in the same manner, recorded in the scriptures. As to His sitting on the right hand of God the Father Almighty, we need not, in fact we should not, limit our understanding of God to some grand old man sitting on a throne of precious metals with a younger man sitting on the right arm of the throne. This statement is rather a symbolical way of stating that Christ is now once again united with His Father, in the role of the mediator for His children who have been redeemed by their faith in Him.

Around this next statement, "He shall come to judge the quick and the dead," there has also been some controversy. There have been many who have tried to point to a specific time in history when Christ should come again, using the "signs" of the prophetic books of the Old and New Testament to work out their calendar. Needless to say, all have failed, and in the spirit of Christ's own statement that "It is not for you to know the hour or the day when the Son of Man shall come again," all will continue to fail. That He has been with His church throughout the years is certainly a statement that all Christians should believe, especially in view of His statement that "Wherever two or three are gathered together in My name, there am I," and in His statement that "This is my body, this is my blood," in reference to the Lord's Supper, we can certainly believe that He is present, in under and through the elements of this sacrament. (This is something that I will go into at a later date in greater detail.)

One thing I will repeat, and it is that all of the statements of dogma of the Christian church can be open to doubt, when we limit it to what we want to believe, or to what we can as humans completely reason out and understand. The fact remains, however, that we are not God, we are not on His level of understanding, and we must take what He chooses to reveal to us, whether or not we can completely understand it. When we allow Him to be "the boss" in the matter of our faith, and continue to use His Word as the source and guide of our faith, calling on His Holy Spirit to help us understand, then we shall indeed be His children, "the sheep of His pasture," and shall come to know "That peace of God which passes human understanding."

Capel-Frazee—Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Frazee, Friendsville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Eileen Virginia, to A 2c William H. Capel, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Capel, also Friendsville, Sunday, September 9 at 2:00 p. m. at Asher Glade Church, Friendsville.

The church was decorated with cut flowers. The double ring ceremony was performed with lighted candles on the altar, by Rev. Robert Jones, pastor.

Miss Janet Friend, of Uniontown, Pa., was her maid of honor and she wore a ballerina gown of light green satin with net with a matching headdress. She carried orchid camellias with ivy. Miss Shirley Sisler and Miss Betty Capel served as bridesmaids. The former wore a ballerina gown of white satin with net and the latter wore a ballerina gown of pink satin with net. Each carried a light orchid bouquet of camellias with ivy.

Merle Frazee and Ward Frazee, brothers of the bride, served as ushers. Robert Selby, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man.

Mrs. Robert Jones sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Gay Umbel.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress trimmed in white with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Capel, mother of the groom, wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and wore a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Asher Glade Community building for over a hundred guests. The bride's table was centered with a 4-tiered wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom on top and flowers at each end of the table. Mrs. Jones cut the wedding cake. Cake, ice cream and lemonade were served by the Ladies' Aid society.

Major Expansion Program For Luke Has Been Approved

A major mill expansion program at Luke, calling for the expenditure of some $50,000,000 over the next few years, has been approved by the board of directors of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company, John A. Luke, mill manager, announced.

The program will transform Luke into one of the most modern and efficient mills in the country.

Present plans call for the installation of two large paper machines, capable or running at maximum speeds of 2,500 feet per minute, one producing coated and the other uncoated papers.

Approval of the program came shortly after the Maryland Water Pollution Control commission acted favorably on the company's proposals to treat wastes with a modern treatment plant capable of handling effluent from the mill's current production as well as the added output. Three million is to be spent on this waste abatement project.

The board said it felt that Luke, in addition to adequate natural resources, offered the best environment for building the modern mill the company had in mind.

Economic benefits to the community and its people are expected to increase substantially. At least 1,000 persons will be engaged in construction of the new facilities which will create permanent jobs at the mill for several hundred additional employes. Indirect employment also is expected in increase since the mill expects that its pulpwood needs, its payments for freight and its consumption of locally produced fuel will rise sharply. Quite a number of Garrett County persons already are employed at the Luke plant.

Under the new program enlargement of facilities is expected to take place in every phase of the mill's operation. This includes expansion of the woodyard and chip house operation, additions to the washing, screening and bleaching facilities. There will be more digesters, a new evaporator, a high pressure recovery smelter, a new lime kiln and additions to the liquor recovery cycle. The chlorine plant will be enlarged and perhaps relocated. A new turbine and boiler will be installed to furnish more power and facilities will be increased for stock storage and refining as well as for coating, calendering, finishing and shipping. There will be supporting activities in maintenance, engineering, quality control and administrative services.

The mill currently employs 1,900 men and women who receive wages and benefits in excess of $8 million a year. It spends more than $2,500,000 a year for operating supplies and $2,000,000 for purchase of pulpwood, most of which goes to farmers and small woodlot owners. It spends more than $1,200,000 for fuel including coal and gas purchased in the area. It provides over $2,700,000 annually in revenue for railroads and trucking companies and makes payments of about $400,000 each year to state and local governments.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The Smells of Home

The sense of smell is the strongest of all the senses when I want to recall the happy childhood I had on the farm. The realization of this came into focus this week as I was preparing quinces for jelly. It was like a visit into the past making me a little girl once again with Mamma very much alive.

It was quince jelly she was making when she taught me my first lesson in jelly making and to this day I get a certain joy out of watching it sheet from a spoon.

But it was the aroma of the quince that tuned me to my surroundings. This same aroma this week made her presence so vivid that I wondered if she too might have retained her sense of smell.

Then there's another smell that stirs up nostalgia and that's in our fruit and root cellar. Built away from the house, of thick stone and usually set into a bank to keep it warm in winter and cool in summer, the cellar was an after school retreat. No city child could possibly know the essence of all smells until he has whiffed the mingled flavors of the Winesap, Roman Beauty, Northern Spy and York.

The potatoes were there too, but thinking back, they lacked nose appeal, for they stir me not.

The Scent of Plenty

Each area on the farm had its own odors and they aroused the emotions and imagination in different ways.

The granary, for instance, was a building of emptiness in summer, making ideal location for drama on a rainy day, but come autumn it bulged with grain. Yellow corn jailed behind wooden strips heaped to the eaves where one ear too many would start a corn slide. Tightly built bins housed the other grains but it was the wheat that teased the nostrils in the most satisfying sort of way.

In the middle of the floor black walnuts were spread to dry. Here I must admit my feeling goes negative for there's nothing alluring in the smell or the hulling of this delicacy.

Mystery

The barn was the best place of all if one had a hankering for mystery and far away places. No wonder children love barns. The smell of cured hay, harness, saddles and stalls—and horses—adds up to a combination that makes childhood at the moment the best period in life.

As far as I'm concerned science can deodorize every other animal but the horse, but leave him as he is, sweat glands and all. I can detect their presence in a pasture field at night and to this day like to walk past the hitching post the Amish use.

Next to the mysterious smells of the barn would be Grandma's corner cupboard. Every other antique cupboard including my own has exactly the same odor. I do not know what it is but I never open the bottom doors that it doesn't bring back memories of a little girl, all eyes, big nose and a lot of fingers admiring milk glass, cake stands and covered compotes. This smell is still mysterious as was her "clutter drawer" in the middle.

Bringing Home the Cows

I wish every eight or nine year old could have the chore of bringing home the cows after school. Especially when the path led through the wood lot past the watering trough. Autumn leaves six inches thick and frosted wild grapes made a child want to fill his lungs with this goodness.

It was the lucky day when the cows were grazing near the paw-paw patch. Paw-paws when green have a sickening sweet scent but after they've fallen in the grass, turned dark and almost fermented—ah—that's a memory of the blending of the senses.

Nose Appeal DeLuxe

To top them all was the country kitchen. Coming in from chores (and every child had them) wood range humming, ham frying, corn bread baking—truly the fragrance of security.

That's not just a product of the imagination, for our own small lads, when they'd go to Custer's for eggs would say, "Mrs. Custer's cooking smells so good"—and sometimes today they may whiff the air and say, "Oh, it smells like Mrs. Custer's kitchen." They have a look of contentment. Maybe it's important to give our children smells to remember.

After writing this I went out to whiff the autumn air—and what did I smell? Luke! (paper mill 25 miles away.)

Proposed Changes in Game Regulations To Be Given Airing

Proposed changes in fish and game regulations are to be given an airing at a public meeting in the Southern hotel in Baltimore on Friday, October 19, at 7:30 p. m., it was announced by Harold Smith Kolmer, assistant director of the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Changes on open seasons, size and creel limits and amendments of some regulations are planned.

They want to amend a regulation making Cherry Creek in this county a fly stream only, changing it to a permanent trout stream with any type of lure and retaining all other restrictions.

They want to amend a regulation pertaining to boats on Deep Creek Lake, approved by the Attorney General of Maryland to include the following: "All licensed boats on Deep Creek Lake shall display a license plate, issued with the purchase of each license, conspicuously at all times on the port (left) bow."

The commission will discuss the feasibility of liberalization of the bass, pike and walleye fishing seasons and possible reduction of the present creel limit.

Other proposed regulations do not concern this county.

The Game commission also notified hunters that no open season on hen pheasants is provided, but that they are protected at all times and cannot be killed during the coming open season on upland game from November 15 to December 31. The daily limit on pheasants is two cocks per day with a season limit of 6.

Tourist Trade Is Boost to Economy In Garrett County

Garrett County's economy today is much stronger than it was four years ago and Helmuth Heise, president of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Inc., told the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River basin that the improvement is almost entirely the result of the increased tourist and recreation trade.

Heise was final speaker at a luncheon session at the William-James hotel in Oakland where the two-day fall meeting of the Potomac basin came to an end. Keynote to the final session was a realistic approach to the present development of the river basin with an eye to future needs.

Heise told the visitors from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia and the District of Columbia, that in the period between 1951 and 1955 deposits in the two Oakland banks had increased a total of $630,000, and was at a time when the county's population was decreasing and no new industries were brought into the Oakland area.

Heise termed one of the most successful promotions of the area as the "Autumn Glory Time" in the first two weeks in October. He pointed out its growth from 35 in 1951 to 1,500 last year in excursion train business alone.

As a new development Heise called attention to plans for a ski tow on Marsh mountain which has a 400-foot vertical incline and is 2,000 feet long.

In a panel discussion Friday morning the moderator, Edward A. Ackerman, director of the Water Resources program for Resources for the Future, Inc., gave a resume of the Potomac river and its tributaries.

He introduced Paul C. Watt, director of the National Capital Regional Planning council; Elting Arnold, president-elect of the Potomac Valley Conservation and Recreational council; and Eugene W. Weber, officer of the Chief of Engineers, corps of army engineers.

Watt presented an account of current developments in the river basin, particularly the area near Washington. He called for more attention to upstream planning for better use of land for producing water. Arnold asked that wild areas in the river basin be kept as wild as possible.

Many ideas for the conservation of recreational and wildlife assets were discussed at the opening session on Thursday. Ernest F. Swift, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, provided the keynote address. Then came specific ideas in 15-minute reports from the four states and the District.

Some 20 million persons visited the recreational and historic parks of Pennsylvania during 1955 and that the number of persons using tents and trailers in state parks in his state had trebled in the past year.

He said America had become a great country because we had exploited its resources but that it would not remain so if it was kept up. He advocated wiser use of water.

Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, told the commission members that Maryland now has 10,793 acres of state parks. He said Maryland was the seventh fastest growing state in the Union. He explained the most recent development was the recreation area at Deep Creek Lake with 97 acres of lake front and 1,020 other acres where deer and other wildlife are plentiful. Patapsco River park near Baltimore with 8,000 acres will be the state's largest when completed.

Carl Johnson, director of the West Virginia Department of Conservation, envisioned the Potomac River basin as the principal playground of the entire east. Virginia's program was explained by William T. McChesney, public consultant, Staunton, Va. He discussed a program for development of the Shenandoah river Water Conservation association.

After lunch Thursday there was a motor tour of the Savage river dam and state forest, the Deep Creek Lake recreational area and other points. At Herrington Manor Kaylor arranged a barbecue.

Juvenile Gang Dunks Visiting Boy In River

Recent juvenile actions in Fairmont, W. Va., took a drastic turn last month that could have developed into a tragedy, according to the police chief of that city.

Reports of rowdyism at Ted's Confectionery that included breaking of windows, at least two thwarted breaking and enterings, culminated when a gang of juveniles grabbed a visiting youth and threw him in the river.

The establishment is frequented by teenagers and is closed at 9 p. m., nightly but youths persist in hanging around the store until much later. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lambert, grandparents of Richard Lambert, 13, of Deer Park, verified their grandson's dunking episode. The youth was being kidded about being from out of town by other youths. The youths then said they would throw him in the river.

Believing the gang to be kidding Lambert got up to leave and one youth attempted to hit him with a pop bottle, the Lamberts said. The owner of the establishment closed it to avoid further trouble but some 15 or 20 youngsters waited for young Lambert outside. Still thinking the youths to be joking Lambert was escorted to Water street. A car's approach scared the gang and all except two ran, the two pausing long enough to shove Lambert into the river.

A good swimmer, Lambert received nothing but a soaking. He told his grandparents the gang was made up of youths from 16 years old and over.

Lambert is a son of Mrs. Robert Kemp, of Deer Park, the former Madeline Savedge. He is an eighth grade student at Southern High school and recently was elected president of his class.

A perfume chemist said the average American male uses more perfumed products than the ladies.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Earl Whitley, wore a ballerina length gown of white Chantilly lace over nylon. A coronet of pearls secured her short veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Earl Whitley was matron of honor and T. O. Whitley, brother of the bride, served as best man. A reception was held at Woodside hotel in Birkenhead for 30 guests.

THEY WON'T BE LATE!

Maybe they were slow in dressing . . . probably they dawdled a bit over breakfast . . . but if you know the gait of those little legs you can be sure they won't be late.

This is one of the fascinating paradoxes of youth. A child may have to be prodded to get to school on time—yet he doesn't want to be late!

And the paradox has implication for parents as they plan the religious education of their children. Jimmy may seem reluctant about his first trip to Church School . . . and Susan may shed a tear when Mother "leaves" her in the Beginners' Department. But wise parents never delay their youngsters' religious training. It is unfair to handicap a child with a late start in the vital process of moral and spiritual growth.

Inquire at the church of your choice, and bring your child to Church School as soon as he is of age.

And, remember, parents need religious training too! If you do not now attend Church regularly, start with Jimmy and Susan.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

'Come!'

Lesson for September 30, 1956

THE Bible has a way of expressing the most profound and far-reaching truths in the simplest possible way. "Come!" is a word of one syllable, and even a child knows what it means. But as we find it in the book of Revelation and elsewhere, a great deal is tied up in it and expressed by it.

Dr. Foreman

Journey to God

This word, as a command, suggests first of all that man is not where he ought to be. He ought to be close to God. Some are not even turned toward him and are moving farther away every day. But even those whose faces are Godward, are never as close to him as is possible to be. God is everywhere, in one sense. That is, one does not have to travel to some distant shrine, some Holy City, to find God. And yet even among human beings we often feel how far we are from those sitting in the same room with us. And though God is all about us, we are blind to him. Spiritually we are feeding swine in a far country when we ought to be at home with God and in God. There are diseases in which the patient shivers with cold even in hot sunshine. So the diseased soul shivers with cold even in the full flood of God's radiant love. A patient with mind diseased looks unseeingly into the eyes of loved ones. How near—and yet how terribly far away! In our coldness of heart, our estrangement of mind, we hear—or can we hear?—the Voice say "Come!"

Who Says "Come"?

What Voice is this? Two strange words appear: The Spirit and the Bride. Who are these? Spirit is God; the Bride is the Church. The Spirit is the New Testament word for God-close-at-hand, God-in-the-heart, God moving in heart and mind of dedicated men. The voice of the Spirit is the "still small voice" the prophet heard. It is the Spirit of God and the Spirit of Jesus. Would it not be enough for the Spirit to say "Come"? No, because God graciously chooses to speak also with human voices. The Bride is the Church; and the Church too says "Come." In all her services of worship and of teaching, in all her proclaiming of the eternal Word, in all her service to mankind, the Church says "Come." A church that does not have the atmosphere of welcome is no true church. A church that puts back bars that our Lord has taken down, a church that says "Come" to a select few and says nothing at all to the masses of men,—this is not true "Bride" of Christ. "The doors of this church are as wide open as the gates of heaven," say some church bulletins. If that is not true, whose fault is it?

Is Your Name Here?

Jesus once wept over a beloved city: How often I would have gathered you . . . but you would not! Christ can say, "I would; but you would not." But such is the graciousness of God that no man dare say, "I would; but God would not." The invitation of God has on it, so to speak, the name of every man who wants to write his name there. "Whosoever will" includes everybody who wants to be included. There is no sense in saying, "I never have wanted to come to God, therefore the invitation is not to me." It is to you—but only if you will. Here in Revelation it is an invitation; in some other parts of the Word it is a command (e.g. "God commands all men everywhere to repent" (Acts 17:30).

The Choice Is Your Own

God can do all things. But he has not done all the things he could have done. He could, no doubt, have made men in such a way and of such a nature that not one person could ever possibly commit a sin, not one person could turn away a hair's-breadth from God. But he did not make such men. He could have made men such that if they ever strayed away from God all he would have to say was simply "Come" and they would come back every one. But he did not make men so. God would rather be loved by men who do not have to love him than by creatures who would love him automatically and could not help it. God gave man the power to accept; but at the same time he gave man the power to refuse. "Let him come!" God does much for you; but he will not decide for you. God made the road home; he holds the door wide open; he sends the word, "Come!" but he leaves the coming to you, to each man.

Pep Rally

Southern's gymnasium rang with cheers on Friday, September 21, when the student body participated in a pep rally before the game with the Romney Deaf School. This same enthusiasm was carried out to the football field, even though the Highlanders lost the game 40-6. The band played a half-time show as the students were leaving the bleachers to catch their buses.

Band Parades

This is going to be a big week-end for the members of Southern's band. On Friday, September 28, they will go to Beall to play for the football game. Then they will get up again bright and early Saturday morning to go to the Buckwheat Festival at Kingwood, W. Va., where they will participate in the parade.

Bon-Fire Rally

A Bon-Fire Pep Rally will be held near the football field at Southern on Thursday night, September 27, from 7:30 to 8:30. Speeches will be made by the coaches and the captain. It is hoped that both the public and student body will attend in order to whip up enthusiasm for the game with Beall High School on Friday night at Frostburg.

Play School

The first session of Play School, sponsored by the Senior Home Economics Department, will open on Tuesday, October 2. This first session will be for the younger pre-school children.

The second session will open on October 23, and will be for the older pre-school children.

The Play School is being held in the fall this year so that it will not conflict with so many school activities.

Those children attending the sessions will be Deborah Grace Kight, Lu Gene Liller, Kim Kelly, Vicki Smouse, Randy Rodeheaver, Rhonda Rodeheaver, Claire Englander, Barbara Smouse, David Rubenstein, James Smith, Mickey Feld, Jane Gibson, Bobby Rudy, and Cathy Carlson.

How many of these servants do YOU have?

Ever count the number of jobs electricity does for you? It preserves and prepares food . . . cleans and washes . . . cools or warms . . . provides light and entertainment . . . saves you work, time or money throughout your house.

What's more, electricity is every bit the bargain it used to be—even if your electric bills are higher. They're higher because you're using so many more electric servants. Actually, the average American family is getting about twice as much electricity per dollar today as it received a generation ago!

Bet you can't say that about any other item in your family's budget!

Historic Homes To Feature Third Historical Tour

The Garrett County Historical Society is inviting members and non-members to assemble in front of the Ruth Enlow Library at Oakland, Saturday, October 6, at 10 a. m., to proceed on its Third Annual Historical Tour.

The tour will take in several places in the southern part of the county. Arrangements have been made for the group to see such places as the Howard residence, the Four Winds, Kittery Hall, and Corunna. These are among the most unusual residences ever to be built in the county. A visit will be made at the site of what was once The Anchorage, said to have been the oldest summer residence in the Allegheny mountains. A pair of anchors from Roger Perry's flagship are still to be seen near the site of the residence that burned in 1915. Other places to be visited are the grave of Capt. James Brock, the last survivor of "The Charge of the Light Brigade"; the grave of Thomas Lionel Lincoln, cousin of Abraham Lincoln (on Backbone Mt.) Fort Pendleton, site of Deer Park Hotel, and the Fairfax Stone.

As has been the custom each person or family brings a picnic lunch or dinner. The committee also urges that those who have cameras make sure to bring them. There will be many unusual pictures to be had. Felix G. Robinson, editor of Tableland Trails, will conduct the tour.

Gas Tax Refund Deadline Nears For Farms

Claims must be filed not later than Monday, October 1, he says, in order to get a refund of the federal excise tax on gas. Many farmers have not yet filed their claims, Stevens added.

Under the law authorizing the refunds, claims filed after October 1, 1956, cannot be paid. The refund covers gas bought after Dec. 31, 1955, and used for farming purposes during the first six months of 1956. A refund of two cents a gallon may be claimed on any gasoline bought during this period and used on the farm. In the future, claims will be filed for a full 12-month period from July 1 through June 30.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 80. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., OCTOBER 4, 1956. PER COPY, 8c. NUMBER 32.

Highest Privilege . . .

You have no doubt already read what I am about to say. The words were contained in an advertisement which appeared last week and is being published again this week, words sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee. They are worth repeating.

The Committee quoted President Eisenhower: "It is not only the highest privilege but the duty of every citizen to vote. And let us remember we cannot vote if we do not register."

The President continued, "I have unlimited faith in America as long as America will express itself. The only thing I should like to see is every American vote."

Just this week I heard two individuals say they didn't expect to vote this year. One was to spite a certain candidate, and the other was because we were to have voting machines. Both reasons were petty and unpatriotic.

If someone tried to take away your vote you would probably fight. Yet President Eisenhower declares "you can lose the privilege of voting by forgetting to register in time."

One Tuesday has passed with a comparatively light registration throughout the county. We have just one more Tuesday in which to get our names on the registration books, if they are not already there.

I am only ONE
But I AM one;
I cannot do EVERYTHING
But I CAN do SOMETHING.
What I CAN do I OUGHT to do
And what I OUGHT to do
By the grace of God
I WILL do.

So make sure you register—and then make sure you vote.

Contracts Signed For New Schools

Total Price For Both To Be $525,000; Work Begun At Oakland

Contracts for the two new Garrett County elementary schools were signed by the Board of County Commissioners and Hardesty and Shirer, contractors, at a joint meeting, Monday, October 1. The combined price for both buildings was $525,000.00. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said he believed this was an excellent price for the two buildings when compared to school construction costs elsewhere throughout the state. One building will be constructed at Oakland consisting of eleven classrooms, library, health room, and all-purpose room with kitchen to be used as cafeteria, auditorium, and gymnasium. This room will have a seating capacity of approximately 425. The building will house grades 4-5-6 and will make it possible to abandon the old Annex building now housing approximately 350 pupils.

The other school will be constructed on Route 40 at Long Stretch and will consist of seven classrooms, library, health room, and an all-purpose room with capacity to seat approximately 300 people. This building will serve all pupils in the Finzel-Johnson, Avilton areas, grades one through eight. The present schools at Johnson and Finzel will be abandoned. Hawkins said the schools are inexpensively designed, yet are durable and provide all needed facilities for a modern educational program. Such features as glass block windows, aluminum window sash, steel door frames, copper spouting and flashing, light domes in corridors, tile corridor walls, and asphalt tile floors will be used in both buildings. The contract price does not include driveways, parking areas, or lawn seeding, nor does it include a disposal system for the Oakland School, where negotiations are in process with the Mayor and Council of Mt. Lake Park to connect with the Mt. Lake Park Sewerage System. The entire cost of both schools will be financed with State School Construction funds. Work has already begun on the Oakland school, and the contractors expect to start excavation at the Route 40 site within the next week, if weather permits. Completion date for the Oakland school is January 1, 1958, while the Route 40 school will probably not be ready for use until September, 1958, it was stated.

1500 Excursionists Prepare to Invade Oakland Oct. 7 & 14

Around fifteen hundred excursionists will visit Oakland during the next two weeks for the Autumn Glory observance.

The first train, carrying about 750 persons, will come to Oakland next Sunday, October 7, while the second train will arrive the following Sunday, October 14.

Twenty busses are being provided to carry the excursionists to Swallow Falls and Deep Creek Lake for a tour of the area. The parking area at the Falls will be reserved for the busses.

There will be special exhibits at Swallow Falls in observance of the 50th anniversary of the Forestry Service in Maryland.

The program is so arranged that half of the busses will go first to Swallow Falls while the remainder will go to Deep Creek Lake. At Swallow Falls there will be a guided tour by members of the Forestry Department, from one to two o'clock. Then at 2 o'clock the busses will arrive from Deep Creek Lake, and from 2 to 3 o'clock the entire group of excursionists will be shown the forestry exhibits in and around the pavilion. These exhibits are coming from the American Forests association convention being held this week at La Plata and will specialize in showing products made of wood. A wild life exhibit also is arranged.

Then from three to four o'clock the group that went to Swallow Falls first will leave for Deep Creek Lake, while the second group will be given the guided tour of the area by members of the Forestry department.

The same program will be repeated the following week.

The excursion is scheduled to arrive in Oakland about noon and will be greeted by the Mt. City band. There will be no program at the station other than the reception by the band. The train is scheduled to return to Baltimore and Washington between 5 and 5:30 o'clock. Voting Machine Question Still "Up in the Air"

Decision Being Withheld Until After Meeting On Friday

The question of voting machines was still in an uproar today.

Last week it was decided to use paper ballots.

Monday the State GOP insisted that voting machines be purchased.

Tuesday the Garrett County Commissioners made a positive move to get voting machines by voting 2 to 1 to order 36 machines from the Shoup Voting Machine company of Philadelphia.

Yesterday the Shoup company informed the Commissioners that the price of machines had increased since their low bid of several months ago was turned down. The Commissioners got in touch with the Automatic Voting Machine company and discovered that the price of its machines also had increased.

The Commissioners decided to wait until Friday to make a final decision.

The Commissioners had finally decided they had the authority themselves to order the machines without the sanction of the election board, and had passed a motion 2 to 1 to order the machines from Shoup after they were informed that a sufficient number of machines could be delivered in time for the November 6 election.

The County Commissioners took this action after they had heard reports that the use of paper ballots this November might be illegal. The Legislature voted in 1955 to make the use of machines mandatory in all of Maryland by this year's election.

Before yesterday's vote members of the County Election board and the Commissioners were split over where to buy the voting machines, with two county commissioners and one election board member favoring the Shoup machines, while one commissioner and two election board members favored the Automatic machines.

A story published Tuesday evening stated that Cheston H. Browning, GOP chairman for Garrett county, was informed at a meeting last Saturday in Hagerstown that if the dispute over voting machines was not settled there was a chance Garrett's votes would not count in the November election. The story stated that D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the state GOP central committee, informed the Garrett committee that they should attempt to lease voting machines for the election and settle their trouble after the election.

H. D. Swartzentruber, Commissioner president, said rental of the machines would be $150 each plus transportation and insurance fees and he would not agree to that proposal.

The price increase now has the Commissioners stumped. They were told that machines of the Automatic company, manually operated machines, would cost $1,431 each, or a total of $51,516.00. This company could deliver only the manually operated machines.

The Shoup machines were electrically operated and could be had for $59,320. This company could deliver only the electrically operated machines.

There is the possibility that a lawsuit would be filed, should the County Commissioners proceed to order the Shoup machines delivered, and this possibility could not be discounted last night.

Chief Judge George Henderson had indicated earlier that the case had reached an impasse and the only way out was for someone to change his mind. It was the opinion of the attorney to the Board of Supervisors last week that nothing could take away the right of individuals to have their votes counted, regardless of legislative enactment, so that the question of the legality of the paper ballot was not important. But he asserted the commissioners had a perfect right to enter into a contract for delivery of machines.

County Votes Dry But Drinks Wet, Local Poll Shows

"Garrett countians vote dry and drink wet."

That was the opinion of a majority of persons contacted in a spot check of the residents of the county by an Associated Press writer, to the forthcoming referendum that would legalize the sale of liquor in a county dispensary.

The county, a summer resort area, has legal sale of beer only.

The proposed plan would provide for an off-sale dispensary in Oakland and possibly at other points if the demand requires it.

The sale of whisky has always been a highly controversial matter in the county and now the wets and drys are lining up their strength with both sides confident of victory.

The Republican came out two weeks ago editorially against the legal sale of liquor and declared they couldn't see where it or the money from taxes from the sale of it had ever done any good for humanity but they could see lots of ways where it has done a lot of harm.

The poll pointed out that many of those contacted had the same views as a coal mine operator in the Kitzmiller area. He said: "If we are going to deal with whisky we might as well regulate it and get the revenue from the sale." He pointed to the present practice of those who like their "tea." There are the non-tee-totalers who live in the Oakland section who make it a habit of driving to Terra Alta, ten miles away, to buy their liquor. A Mt. Lake Park resident observed that a third of the cars parked in the vicinity of the Terra Alta store on Saturdays and the days before holidays bear Maryland tags.

It is understood the Terra Alta store is one of the more profitable stores under the West Virginia Liquor Control commission. Also getting a lot of business from the county are the liquor dealers in Frostburg and Lonaconing and Westernport.

But there are those in Garrett county who feel that beer is bad enough to contend with and it is these who are leading the fight against the legalized sale of whisky.

3rd Annual Night of Harmony Set for This Saturday Night

The third annual Night of Harmony will be presented this Saturday evening, October 6, in the Southern High school gymnasium, under the sponsorship of the Oakland Chapter of the SPEBSQSA (Society for the Preservation and Quartet Singing in America). Tickets are being sold for $1.

Featured on the program will be four quartets, the Mountainaires, of Oakland; Fashion Chords, of Uniontown, Pa.; Eastern Panhandlers, of Charles Town, W. Va.; and The Great Scots, of Steubenville, O. The latter quartet were international semi-finalists in 1955 at Miami, Fla., and in 1956 at Minneapolis. Scotty Ward has for three years been named the all-district lead.

This year the ticket for admission also will admit the holder to the "After-Glow," a social get-together following the performance at which time all quartets present their fancy and hard-to-do numbers. This part of the program will be held in the school cafeteria. Refreshments will be on sale.

Mr. Bittinger explained that the society is a non-profit one and that any profit made from the program will be contributed to worthy charity.

Civil Cases Heard In Circuit Court

Two civil cases concerning disputes of individuals with the State Roads commission, and one equity case were heard in the Circuit court this week.

In a civil action yesterday Leo Fredlock Schenk and Kathleen Schenk obtained a verdict of $1,833 against the State Roads commission for the loss of a spring on their property along Deep Creek Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Schenk had sought damages of $3,000. The case was decided by a jury.

In another jury case on Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Claude King were given damages amounting to $2,004.17, against the State Roads Commission for the taking of a spring on their property on the new Deer Park road. This also was a jury case.

On Monday an equity case was heard by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, Mrs. Florence Sanders was asking for support for herself from Francis W. Sanders. No opinion in the case has been filed.

Tomorrow the petit jury will hear a case that has been transferred from Hagerstown.

Plans Completed For Annual Tour

All arrangements have been completed for the third annual historical tour which will get under way Saturday morning, October 6, at 10 o'clock.

Those planning to make the tour are to meet at the Ruth Enlow library in Oakland at 10 a. m., with a picnic lunch which will be eaten at the Fairfax Stone. The tour will include several places in the southern area of the county.

Last year's attendance totaled 37 and it was anticipated that the number this year would show an increase.

Annual Hallowe'en Event Is Planned

The parade will be held on Thursday evening, November 1, while a benefit dance is being planned for Saturday, November 3, in the National Guard armory. The Mid-Knighters will furnish the music for the dance and admission will be $3 per couple.

Band members are starting this week to collect prizes for the annual parade which is usually considered one of the high lights of the year for youngsters. Seventy-five or more prizes are given out to the participants. Parade time is set for 7 o'clock. Band officers said that if the weather permitted there would also be a street carnival.

Hire The Handicapped Week Will Be Observed Here

The national organization urging the hiring of the physically handicapped person, will spend a week emphasizing the event October 8 to 13. Dr. Arthur Jones heads the county committee and he called attention this week to the public in emphasizing that many of the handicapped can be employed the same as physically able individuals.

He said there was no attempt to ask employers to hire sub-standard employes and assured them that any person recommended would meet all requirements or more of the normal citizen. Five such physically handicapped persons were placed in jobs within the past two weeks. Dr. Jones said the committee works with the State Employment Service and the Vocational Rehabilitation service.

Signs indicated that consumer spending in fourth quarter would knock all previous records flat.

Republican Club Elects Officers

Selected were Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, Accident, president; Mrs. Robert Murphy, Friendsville, vice-president; Mrs. Earl Lee, Oakland, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Earl Zepp, Oakland, recording secretary; Mrs. W. W. DeWitt, Hoyes, treasurer.

The club was organized under the guidance of Mrs. Vaughn Richardson, vice-chairman of the State Central Committee, of Salisbury.

Approximately sixty attended the dinner. Guests included Mrs. Vaughn Richardson, Mrs. Bertha Seymour, Salisbury; Mrs. J. Glenn Beall, Mrs. Noel S. Cook, Miss Katherine Close, Frostburg.

Cheston H. Browning, chairman of the Republican committee, stressed the importance of registering and said his committee was offering a prize to the woman who secured the greatest number of new registrants.

The new county organization was due to be officially recognized at the annual convention of the Federation of Republican Women in Maryland, to be held October 6. Mrs. Glotfelty will act as hostess at Republican headquarters in Baltimore on October 17, officially designated as Garrett County day.

With 37 paid members every Republican woman in the county was invited to join the organization. Women also were urged to contact the election board for names of persons not already registered.

Need Is Expressed For Foster Homes

All available licensed foster homes have now been filled to capacity by the County Welfare Board and the Board was sending out an appeal this week for further qualified homes.

At present the board has 23 children under its supervision in six different foster homes. Robert W. Stemple, director, said that unless additional homes are secured and approved within the immediate future the quality of care provided would be seriously jeopardized. He said an adequate amount of money is paid to foster parents for the care of children placed, and through their kindness and understanding and concern give children an opportunity to have the kind of life every child needs.

He said the board was working on a program to interest more people in the county to work with the board in securing more homes for these children.

Wild turkeys are legal in only four Maryland counties, Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Worcester. The season lasts until October 31.

Man Is Given Year In Bad Check Case

Willard A. Crosby, Hyattsville, who was found guilty on two charges of passing bad checks totaling $2,871.03 in payment for live stock purchased at the Blaine Friend stockyard in Accident, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction on each charge, in the Garrett County Circuit court last week.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley imposed the sentences with the terms to run concurrently.

Other sentences were passed prior to the end of the criminal trials last Thursday. The American Legion Post of Oakland was fined $500 and costs for permitting the sale of whisky at the post home.

John Thomas, of Friendsville, who pleaded guilty to carnal knowledge of a 14-year-old girl, was fined $250 and costs.

James Fike, also of Friendsville, was found not guilty by a jury of carnal knowledge of the same girl involved in the case with Thomas, and following this verdict was announced, a carnal knowledge charge against another Friendsville man, Larry Lawson, was dismissed by the state. His charge concerned the same girl.

James V. DeCherio, of Westernport, received a suspended sentence of two years in the House of Correction on a charge of assaulting Joseph Shillingburg, also of Westernport. The accused man shot Shillingburg in the leg with a .22 calibre rifle from a distance of 42 yards.

Two other cases against Joseph Niner and Mark Uphold, on charges of statutory rape were not tried because the traversers were not in the state.

Clarence L. Stem, manager of the Oakland office said that in addition to enlarging the present building in Accident, that a new type dial office would be installed, similar to the one at Oakland, and the Accident office, when completed, would have a name and a 2-5 number similar to Friendsville and Oakland.

The office is due for completion about January 3, with the new equipment to be installed by March 9.

Registration Leans Heavily Republican

Figures from seven of the twenty-seven polling places showed a registration Tuesday of 72 Republicans, 17 Democrats and 1 Independent. If the same ratio kept up throughout the rest of the county the Republicans would have a four to one edge.

Crellin and Sang Run are the only precincts other than Oakland precincts to report. Crellin had 6 Republicans and 2 Democrats; while Sang Run had 6 Republicans, 3 Democrats.

In Oakland: 7-1, 8 Republicans, 0 Democrats; 7-2, 8 Republicans, 2 Democrats; 14-1, 23 Republicans, 7 Democrats, 1 Independent; 14-3, 18 Republicans, 1 Democrat; 14-4, 3 Republicans, 2 Democrats; totals, 72 Republicans, 17 Democrats.

Thirty-five member of the Oakland F. F. A. chapter were recent guests at the formal opening of the Allied Mills, Inc., at Everton, Pa. The guests were guided through the new push-button mill, then given a chicken barbecue with all the trimmings.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Can The Bosses Deliver

The continuous bleat of the Democratic propaganda agents concerning the alleged oversupply of money for the Republican campaign this year and the alleged relative poverty of the Democrats, naturally brings up the interesting fact of the indorsement of the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket by the great labor combination, the AFL-CIO. The reason this is interesting is that the labor spokesmen already have acknowledged that they are raising from their 15,000,000 membership a fund of $4,000,000 for political purposes between now and election day.

This is the minimum estimate of Mr. Walter Reuther, far more politically minded and influential in the Democratic party than Mr. George Meany. Mr. Reuther is not only a vice president of the left-wing Americans for Democratic Action and the boss of the Democratic party in Michigan but he was for a long time allied with the political leaders of both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. In brief, he is the top labor politician in the country. No one questions that it was the Reuther influence that brought about the AFL-CIO Stevenson-Kefauveh indorsement of a few weeks ago.

Left to himself, it is well known President Meany, while personally for Stevenson, would have preferred to follow the old Samuel Gompers policy of keeping the AFL free from any formal commitment to either party, thus avoiding the charge that the union bosses were trying to deliver the rank and file to either. It would also avoid the charge that money collected from the rank and file was being spent to promote candidates and causes which all the rank and file do not favor. Certainly that is the situation today. The decision of the executive council to indorse the Democratic ticket was by a majority vote, but by no means was it unanimous. Several of the strongest union leaders, such as Mr. Hutcheson, of the great carpenters' union, and Mr. "Dave" Beck, of the big teamsters' union, strongly dissented.

It was the aggressive and bellicose Mr. Reuther, recognized as close personally to Mr. Stevenson and long a power in the Democratic party nationally, who forced through the Stevenson-Kefauver indorsement and who will dictate the expenditure of that $4,000,000 in the next seven weeks. It is Mr. Reuther and his aides who have made out the list of "labor's enemies" in House and Senate whom they want defeated and for whose defeat the $4,000,000 will be used—on radio, on television, on literature, on oratory, on precinct workers and in other ways. It is a great power this youthful ambitious young radical has. He can be depended upon to wield it ruthlessly and fully.

It also seems important that the American people should understand what sort of man this is and how he wields this power. For one thing, he is pretty tough. For another he is not too truthful. Some years ago, after a strike which he led in Detroit, asked about a totally false cnarge he had made against the company while the strike was on, he said, "Oh yes, there wasn't anything in that. I just thought it would put the company over the barrel." This is one of the least ugly allegations that have been made against Mr. Reuther in the course of his rise to power. Yet he is the man many qualified observers believe would be more influential in a Stevenson administration than any other. Quite a few believe he would dominate it. When one considers the good Adlai's shift, under pressure, in 1952 of his position on the Taft-Hartley Act, there does seem some foundation for this feeling.

At any rate, between Mr. Reuther and Mr. Stevenson, the union labor movement in this country for the first time since the old A.F. of L. indorsed the La Follette third party in 1924 has definitely linked itself with one party. If it wins this time it will have demonstrated its strength and will be in an unprecedentedly powerful political position. Unquestionably it will be able to get anything it wants from Congress. It will be able to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act, and force an Administration stand against the "right to work" laws now existing in eighteen states. In brief, it will be in control. Of course, if it loses, the power of the organized labor bosses will have had a real setback. They will no longer be able to dictate to Presidents, senators and members of Congress. Their ability to bully will have been lost. It will have been demonstrated that the votes of union labor men and women cannot be delivered by the labor bosses. That was demonstrated in 1952 when the same bosses who are against Mr. Eisenhower now were against him then. Another demonstration ought to be decisive. Those who do not think that this is the really big issue in this campaign are just blind to the facts.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1956

Letter to the Editor

There is much misunderstanding among the people of Garrett county concerning the Bill titled "Alcoholic Beverages," sub-titled "County Dispensaries." Have they studied it carefully? Do they know just what it will mean to this county? Have they misconstrued the word County Dispensary to mean State Liquor Store? Upon inquiry as to the meaning of the bill from a lawyer of our county we are informed that this bill has no clear cut definition of what a County Dispensary is and that if this bill passes, the County Liquor Control Board and County Commissioners would be the sole judges as to what it means. This means that there would be a main County Dispensary in Oakland but there could be places all over the county selling as long as the Board passed on them. There is nothing in the bill to even exclude grocery stores from being named Dispensaries as long as nothing less than a pint was sold. Do we want this?

The words "For the Dispensary Law" and "Against the Dispensary Law" are also misleading. For those who are not familiar with the law it would lead them to believe that they are voting for one Dispensary or Liquor Store. This is not a fact as you find we stated above. Let's not be hoodwinked by slick politicians and the liquor boys. When checking your ballots vote Against the Dispensary Law.

Sincerely,
Garrett County League
Of Christian Voters.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

For many years within our own country the Communists have been carrying on a kind of first-step "brain washing"—undermining our American system by warping facts and thus creating doubts; and subtly fostering the attitude that love of country is an old fashion idea which ought to be discarded. Thousands of clever Communist writers, we now know, succeeded in infiltrating all the thought-shaping communications in America—newspapers, radio and television networks, Hollywood movies, the publishing industry, the theatre, and even some school textbooks.

American people began to awaken to this infiltration situation several years ago and now we see intelligent efforts being made to emphasize in a positive way the wonderful facts about our great nation. An excellent Junior High textbook, frankly written and designed to create love of country, has just been sent to me by a school patron in Claremont, California. Its title is "America Is My Country" (Hougton Mifflin Company.)

Ten years ago this new book, with its stirring patriotism and emphasis on the incomparable value of individual freedom, would not have been enthusiastically received in some important areas of our national life. Its appearance strengthens a trend that has been developing for several years.

For nearly 20 years, since my return from Asia and Europe where I saw Communism and Socialism growing into a world-wide menace, I've been saying throughout America that the best step we could take against these twin ideologies of slavery would be to "inoculate" each oncoming generation of our children with the facts about our system.

The textbook "America Is My Country" was written by Harriett M. Brown and Joseph F. Guadagnolo, both teachers in Washington Irving Junior High School, Los Angeles, with the editorial assistance of Dr. Howard Anderson, University of Rochester. It is a beautiful book and it tells the story of America out of a clear mind and a loving heart. It would be a damaging blow to Communism if every Junior High School, every Seventh and Eighth grade class in the nation, could study this book or a similar one containing the same substance and spirit.

The Seventh and Eighth Grades should be the starting point for formal American citizenship education, although much can be done in the classroom and the home and church to lay the foundation in children at an earlier age. Studies built around such books as "America Is My Country" should be followed by more advanced studies of our unique American economic system and what makes it tick. The providing of sound and inspiring citizenship education is one of our greatest responsibilities to the children of America today.

Sale Of "Susans" To Aid Firemen

Black-eyed Susans are to be sold during Fire Prevention week in order to provide some means of help for disabled firemen not injured in line of duty. Fire Prevention week will be observed October 7 through October 13.

The chairman of the hospital committee has asked that the Susans be sold during this week by members of the auxiliary groups. Six such groups in this county, Bloomington, Deer Park, Gorman, Grantsville and Kitzmiller will participate.

A motion to provide some means of help for these firemen was made originally at an auxiliary convention at Oakland in June, 1935, and a fund was started that year by a fireman's ball held in Baltimore. At the convention in Hagerstown in June, 1936, it was adopted that receipts obtained be placed in a hospital fund from which benefits would be paid to ill or injured firemen at the rate of $10 a week for five weeks.

At Frostburg in June, 1946, it was approved that a Black-eyed Susan week be established for benefit of the hospital fund. It was put into operation with a sum of $1,118.65 realized from sale of the Susans.

Any active member of a company in good standing in the Maryland State Firemen's association who becomes ill or is incapacitated for work not receiving salary, is entitled to weekly benefits from the hospital fund, provided the sickness or injury was not received in line of duty.

Should the loss of time and medical treatment continue for longer than one week, $10 per week for not more than five weeks will be paid.

It was explained that during the year, June, 1955 to June, 1956, 49 cases were cared for. Twenty-seven of these cases were from the Allegany-Garett county association. One case from this county already has been cared for this year.

School Custodians To Meet

All Garrett County School Custodians will meet at the Accident school Saturday, Oct. 6, 10 a. m., to 12 noon. The purpose of the meeting is twofold: First, to vote on Social Security, and secondly, to discuss various aspects of maintenance problems. With the many improvements that have been made to the buildings, their care and maintenance becomes a much more highly skilled job, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. A much better performance is also expected of custodians now than in the days of the one-room school, he said. Mr. Hawkins declared that county custodians have proven to be a very conscientious and reliable group, when taken as a whole and that this was evident by the condition in which most school buildings are now kept.

Such topics as use of floor wax, care of asphalt tile floors, toilet sanitation, care of grounds, responsibility for locking of buildings, reporting fire and other hazards, purchasing of coal, economy in use of utilities, cleaning light fixtures, making repairs and many other similar problems will be discussed. O. T. Graser, Supervisor of Maintenance, will be in charge of the meeting. Mr. Hawkins will also discuss Social Security provisions for school custodians.

Joint Meeting Held By Civic Clubs

An explanation of the work of Maryland associations for mental health was presented to members of the Oakland Civic club and the Junior Woman's Civic club of Oakland at a joint dinner meeting at the William-James hotel last Thursday evening.

The principal speaker was Mrs. Gertrude L. Nilsson, executive director of the association. She talked in a complimentary manner of the work being done in this county, declaring that Garrett had been the first county in the state without a mental health chapter that had raised its quota this year. Last year the county contributed $5 but this year reached a total of $720 due to efforts of the two federated clubs.

She explained that 15 percent of the amount goes to the national association and 85 percent to the state association. The association covers four divisions, service to patients in mental hospitals, hygiene and case finding, public education, and research and training. She revealed that an average of twelve Marylanders enter state mental hospitals daily.

Fifty-eight women attended the dinner. Mrs. Nilsson was presented with a can of Garrett county maple syrup.

Mrs. O. T. Graser, presiding officer of the Civic Club, outlined the program for the coming year and introduced Mrs. Neil Fraley, vice-president; Mrs. Grover Stemple, second vice-president; Mrs. Arthur Jones, recording secretary; Mrs. W. W. Grant, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. C. Cargo, treasurer. Mrs. Kenneth Lawton, president of the Junior club, presented her club's officers: Mrs. Ralph Pritts, recording secretary; Mrs. John Atwell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ralph Hess, treasurer.

A moving picture, "The Street," was shown at the fifth meeting of the Garrett County League of Christian Voters held Tuesday night in the Nazarene church in Oakland. It was the largest attended meeting of the league.

The film is a case history of a young man taken from the files of the Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago, telling the story of the cost of alcohol to society.

The film is to be shown next Tuesday in the Church of the Brethren in Accident, at which time the Gospel Crusader quartet will present special musical numbers. Wednesday night it will be shown in the Grantsville Methodist church and on Thursday night Rev. Edgar Suite will present it to another of his congregations.

At Tuesday's meeting three letters were read from a subcommittee appointed to write them to voters concerning the cost of alcohol to citizens financially, morally, physically and religiously. Further contributions were recognized from the Ferndale Baptist church, Bessie Ashby's Sunday School class in Crellin and a friend. It is planned to mail out a number of tracts to the voters.

The committee will meet next Tuesday evening at the Nazarene church at 7:30 o'clock.

Telephone Strike Still Continuing

There was no indication of a halt to the two-day-old state-wide telephone strike, but as yet the strike had not affected the Oakland office.

In other areas the telephone operators walked out Tuesday morniag over a dispute over wages and other matters. Some 90 operators are on strike at the Cumberland office and pickets have been on duty off and on.

Throughout the state there are some 3,700 operators off their jobs. The stoppage came after a dispute arose during contract negotiations between the company and the unions. The talks have been going on since August.

Thus far maintenance men and business office personnel have remained on their jobs. Supervisory personnel of the various offices are handling the inter-city toll calls.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

This week as we continue to consider the various parts of the Apostle's Creed, I will consider the first statement of the Third article, which states: "I believe in the Holy Ghost. . ."

"Ghost" is a term which has been widely misused in our English language, in fact so misused that I hesitate to use it in reference to the Third Person of the Trinity. So often the picture that comes to the minds of people when this term is used is some indefinite figure, garbed in a white sheet, mainly interested in "scaring the wits out of somebody," or some other prankish activity connected with "haunted houses." This could not be further from the truth of the work of the Holy Ghost, or as He is known in most Christian circles, the Holy Spirit.

Just before His death, Jesus gave to His disciples a promise, "The Counselor, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you." (John 14:16). The disciples did not understand to what He was referring until the day of Pentecost when they were "filled with the Holy Spirit." (Acts 2:4). From this power came strength that they had not expected—they were given power of understanding—they were enabled to speak to men gathered there from many nations in their own languages about the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

From that time forth the Holy Spirit has had a large role in the Church. It was He who inspired the men who wrote our scriptures; it was He who gave to men in hours of persecution, facing death for their belief in Christ, strength to meet the test; it was He who inspired the lives of ordinary men throughout the history of the church, to make something more than ordinary out of their witness to the world, and today, the work of the Holy Spirit, that of guiding the church, sanctifying the "communion of Saints," is every bit as important.

The work of the Holy Spirit is through many channels—when a man prays sincerely to God for understanding, then all of a sudden finds that he understands some problem and its answer, this is the work of the Holy Spirit—When a man takes the trouble to study the words of the Holy Scriptures, seeking a way of life for him today in a troubled world, and finds it, this is the work of the Holy Spirit—When a Pastor preaches a sermon which shows forth the Word of the Lord to a gathered congregation, this is the work of the Holy Spirit—when a person reads through the ten commandments, finds he is so short of even their laws, and comes to a proper repentance for his sins, and faith in Christ Jesus, this is the work of the Holy Spirit—when a tiny infant, too young to show any evidence of faith which saves all men, is accepted into the kingdom of God through the gift of baptism, this is the work of the Holy Spirit.

And so, as you can see, the work of the Holy Spirit is not a matter of "haunting houses," but of guiding the Children of God through the complications, problems, and temptations of this world.

Kenneth R. Railey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Miller, Grantsville, has made the 40-piece band at Bridgewater college.

The Bridgewater band is both a marching and concert musical organization. It plays at all football games and pep rallies and presents concerts before high school, civic and religious groups.

Young Railey, who plays tenor saxophone, made the band at the auditions held September 24. He transferred to Bridgewater from Wayne University in Detroit.

School Ground Being Graded and Drained

The need for additional athletics fields at Southern is being cared for by draining and grading the swamp area running from the rear of the school to the Dennett Road. The new Oakland Elementary school now under construction will occupy land formerly used by the high school physical education classes, and also land now used for the practice football field. The area now being graded and drained has been considered an eyesore to the new high school grounds, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, and he felt that cleaning this land and making it available to the school for use would be quite an improvement. The total project for which only limited funds are available at this time, calls for additional grading and landscaping of the entire area between the Dennett Road and the Southern High school building. When complete, this area will provide playgrounds, tennis courts, an opportunity to develop an amphitheatre, nature study and science projects with an outdoor aquarium, pond and picnic area, all to be used by both school and community.

The total building and outdoor facilities at Oakland with the present high school plant and a new elementary building now under construction, when complete, will provide one of the finest public school educational centers, for both school and community, to be found anywhere in the state, Mr. Hawkins said.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The Noise of Home

This week I read that engineers are working on the idea of floating walls in housing in order to cut down on noise.

It set me to thinking. Is there any nostalgia in sound? Can it bring back the feeling of pleasantness that perhaps smell does? Pull on my memory as hard as I can I get no feeling of noise. It must be at a distance.

Sitting on the porch at eventide, as a child, brings back a feeling of peace and security that I seldom get in any other memory. Sound played the strongest part in that feeling. Voices were soft and conversation casual, if at all. Everything beyond the lawn fence was awake, it would seem. A symphony of insect noises and the call of the Whip-poor-will. An occasional Bob White would time his coming in like cymbals in an orchestra. Far away the lonesome bark of a dog. Always this was far away.

When the breeze came from the east the water tumbling over the rocks in Birch river some distance away was soothing.

Inside the house, only two I can recall (that weren't human) I would want to pass down from one generation to the other, gentle rain on the tin roof at bedtime and the tea kettle singing on the stove.

Noise Is for the Young

I read somewhere in a psychology book that those over 30 dislike noise; youngsters love it. I would not want my house so sound proof that I could not hear the patter of little feet, or big feet. I like the sound of my husband coming home from work. I like the laughter of children clear and true.

The engineers can create floating walls to drown out the clatter of pots and pans, reduce motors in the kitchen to a low hum and tone down my shouting at the children to a sweet whisper, and reduce their wrangling and commotion to the same whisper, but I want some of the noise.

The gay old time the children have at the piano I like as much as my memory of the placid front porch. I like the sound of dancing feet, the more life in the feet the better. Good music drifting from the boys' room I like too, regardless of what I'm doing.

But when Beethoven has competition with Elvis Pressly singing "Hound Dog," then brother, I'd be glad to live in a house of double floating walls!! This is one combination I can't take.

Taking rock and rool all by itself, with teen-agers mixed in, I kinda like. It somehow reminds me of that crazy hilarious period in my life when I just loved Barney Google, with those goo-goo googley eyes.

That was so long ago I can't remember but I judge I must have been a teen-ager.

Have you heard about the bobby-soxer when asked her choice of a hymn to sing, said, "Rock of Ages, Roll for Me."

In All Sincerity

I have no intentions of turning this column into political propaganda and I'm not saying this as such, but I admire that man Eisenhower as much as any man living in the world today.

When I heard the General speak at Morgantown a few years ago I was impressed with his forward outlook and his strong sense of Americanism. It's the way he thinks and acts and speaks that I admire. In a speech in Lexington, Ky., which he meant as a purely political one he made a statement which I have copied in my notebook. It's a goal for all of us to work toward. The type of life that must have been in mind when the disciples were taught to say, "Thy will be done on earth."

President Eisenhower said, "I can see an America in which every man can eat his own bread in peace, raise his own family in security and strengthen his own mind and spirit in dignity."

Northern High Wins Over Confluence 38-6

Northern High School's football team won its first game of the 1956 season by defeating Confluence High on the Northern gridiron by a score of 38-6 before a crowd of some 1000 students, teachers, and parents last Friday, September 28.

This was Northern's third game. The first game was lost to Meyersdale High, 24-6. The second game, played September 15, was a 6-6 tie with Keyser High school's Jayvees.

Prior to the kick-off, Northern's Blue and Gold Band played the "Star Spangled Banner" while the spectators saluted the American Flag, which was hoisted to its new height on a flag pole erected by members of the F. F. A. Club.

Seven Endorsed For Court Judgeship

All three judges in the Fourth Judicial Circuit were among the seven attorneys recommended by the Maryland Bar association's committee on judicial appointments to fill the vacancy now occurring in the Maryland Court of Appeals.

They are Morgan C. Harris, Allegany county; Neil C. Fraley, Garrett county; and D. Kenneth McLaughlin, Washington county.

The seven recommendations have been forwarded to Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, who has not indicated when he will name a successor to Judge Edward S. Delaplaine, whose retirement is effective October 1.

C. Ferdinand Sybert, attorney general of Maryland, one of those recommended, asked that his name be removed from consideration. Mr. Sybert said he felt he had a "contract" with the people of Maryland to complete his term as attorney general and that he intended to keep the contract.

Gov. McKeldin on Tuesday announced the appointment of Judge Stedman Prescott, Montgomery county, to the vacancy. Judge Prescott is now chief judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit. He is the third man and the second Democrat that McKeldin has appointed to the State's highest court. The Court of Appeals has five members.

Mental Health Is Under Discussion

A discussion of human behavior in order to use it in their respective training programs featured the conference of the Maryland League of Nursing attended by 52 people last Saturday at the Mt. Lake hotel.

A film, "The Quiet One," depicted the confusion of an unwanted 10-year-old, reared in a New York tenement, and the emotional rehabilitation he received at a corrective school. Dr. Robert Thomas, chief of the Division of Mental Hygiene, state health department, led the discussion.

Miss Jean Camper, supervisor of special education, discussed needs of emotionally disturbed children. Reporting the concensus of the Health committee of the Juvenile conference, Miss Florence Burnett, consultant nurse in Mental Hygiene, said that juvenile delinquency would be solved by prevention.

The resources of mental hygiene in the state were discussed by Dr. Thomas. He told of the various public and private hospitals, clinics and institutions available for various types of emotionally disturbed children.

Mrs. Ella D. Everstine, psychiatric social consultant, Allegany county, explained the development of the mental hygiene clinics in Maryland.

A luncheon followed the meeting.

Federal Funds Allocated To Garrett County

The State Roads commission announced its allocation of Federal Aid highway funds to the counties and municipalities of Maryland for the fiscal year beginning next July—a total of $5,678,708.

These funds are on a 50-50 matching basis. In order to qualify for its share each community must provide an amount equal to the Federal allotment. Counties are awarded the available funds on a basis of mileage. Garrett County receives $112,436. No incorporated towns in this county received any funds.

In addition to matching the funds each community must follow a set pattern prescribed by the Government in order to qualify for Federal aid. Each must have specific road projects set up and approved by the State Roads commission. The plans then go to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads for approval and programming. Detailed plans are prepared by county highway departments. The SRC then advertises, receives bids and awards construction contracts for the approved projects.

THE NEW HIGHWAY BRIDGE over the B. and O. tracks at Bloomington is nearing completion as shown in the above photo. The concrete forms were removed recently and the painting of the steel work is planned for this week. As the Highway 135 is being rerounted to cross the bridge, large fills at each end of the bridge are necessary to provide proper grades. This part of the work is also progressing rapidly. The bridge will eliminate the dangerous crossing that has been in existence for many years. The photograph was loaned to The Republican by the Piedmont Herald, Piedmont, W. Va., John and Miss May Rose, publishers.

School Principals Have Second Session

All principals of the Garrett County Schools met with the County Superintendent and Supervisors at the Accident School on Wednesday evening. This was the second meeting of the year for the group. The first part of the meeting was spent in discussing various administrative practices and procedures. The latter part of the meeting was spent in discussing important aspects of the program for the improvement of schools in general.

Emphasis was placed on the use of the new social studies bulletins produced at the summer workshop, adequate supervision of classroom instruction by principals and supervisors, a better science and outdoor education program, and unity and coordination of the efforts of supervisors, principals and teachers within each school. The meeting was presided over by Willard Hawkins, Superintendent of Schools, who expressed his pleasure at the way most of the schools were moving along so early in the year, and stated that he had every reason to anticipate a year of outstanding accomplishments in the schools of the county.

The next meeting will be held early in November at the Red House School. This will be a dinner meeting in the new cafeteria at the school. Mrs. Phyllis Williams, principal at Red House, indicated that the members of the School Board and Board of County Commissioners would be invited to this meeting, in appreciation of their cooperation in making their building improvements possible.

Gloria McCullough was named manager, and no assistant has been chosen yet. Homeroom representatives will be elected later.

Last year Delores Frazee and George Patton were high boy and girl salesmen. Each received special prizes. Special prizes will be given again this year to high salesmen. Additional prizes will be awarded to students who attain enough credits.

In 1955 a total of 756 subscriptions were sold with Ladies Home Journal being the most popular magazine, followed by Country Gentlemen-Farm Journal. We fell short of our $2500.00 goal by $156.80, having a total of $2343. Gross profit was $805.07. Expenses totaled $188.06. Net profit was $617.01 which was used for school needs.

Expected goal this year will be $2500. Mr. Malone stated that "By hard work we expect to pass this goal."

Mail Route Extended

Senator John Marshall Butler and Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde (Republicans, Maryland) announced today that the Post Office Department has approved an extension of Rural Route 1, at Accident. The extension of approximately one mile of this Route will serve families who have not heretofore been served.

Assistant Editors Now Hold Top Positions

Gloria McCullough and Marlene Spiker, seniors, were chosen "North Hi News" and "North Star" editors, respectively. These students served as assistants to Audrey Kinsinger and Rose Lee Chaney, editors of the 1955-56 publications.

Gloria is secretary of the Future Business Leaders of America, a member of the Quill and Scroll Journalistic Society, and general manager of the magazine campaign. This is her second year as a member of the cheerleaders. She is taking the commercial course.

Marlene is a member of the Future Homemakers of America, Quill and Scroll Journalistic Society and the Library club. She is taking the general course.

The "North Hi News" will be published each month by the journalism class. The Sincell Printing Company of Oakland will print 900 copies of each edition of the newspaper. Nearly 70 dollars will be needed for the printing of the paper each month. This will be financed by advertising from local merchants.

The cost of the yearbook will be $2.50, and it will be collected in full at the time of the subscription sale.

"It is the highest privilege of every citizen . . ."

If someone tried to take your vote away, you would probably fight. Yet you can lose the privilege of voting by forgetting to register in time.

So many elections have been won and lost by a tiny handful of votes in each voting area that your personal vote this year could actually decide who is elected.

As President Eisenhower pointed out recently:

"It is not only the highest privilege but the duty of every citizen to vote. Let us remember we cannot vote if we do not register."

"Lincoln defined this government in three ways: 'of, by, and for the people,' implying that if people did not exercise their right to govern, their government would perish from the earth."

"I have unlimited faith in America as long as America will express itself. The only thing I should like to see is every American vote!"

Make sure YOU are registered. Call your local election officials for time and place of registration days.

Here Today!

came the magic that made possible so wonderfully different a Ford. In the toughest on-the-road tests ever given to a car, this "Inner Ford" demonstrated that a '57 Ford rides you sweet and low . . . that it takes the bumps without a bobble, the curves without the pitch . . . and, that in power, it "takes nothing from nobody!" Nothing on wheels hurries, handles or holds up like a Ford!

A new kind of FORD with the mark of tomorrow

You're in for a thrill when you see this new knockout named Ford! But save your superlatives till you drive it! That's where the fun really starts.

It's fun just knowing that others who see you wish they were you. For you're commanding the longest, lowest, heaviest, biggest car ever to sport such a low price tag. There's head room to spare for a new fall bonnet . . . stretch-out space for a "Daddy Longlegs."

You'll find that the tough and ready new "Inner Ford" is built to take the roughest road you'll care to travel. New outboard rear springs and ball-joint front suspension let Ford take the turns without the tilt. New swept-back control arms help take bounce out of bumps.

Best of all, Fords library-like quiet is built in. And the new "Inner Ford" is why. For never before in Ford's field has there been a body with so much extra bracing so firmly anchored to its foundation. And you can choose from three big Silver Anniversary V-8's with up to 245 horsepower. There's also a new Mileage Maker Six with 144 horsepower, the most modern Six in the industry.

You can pick your Ford tailored to your desires and your budget, too! Choose from nine Fairlane or Fairlane 500 models or from five Custom or Custom 300 models. Or take your pick from Ford's five longer, lower, new station wagons. Whichever model you select, you'll get a car that's been re-invented from the wheels up!

So there's the new kind of Ford. Big! Gracious! Spacious! A luxury car true—but one that any new-car buyer can easily afford. Come in! See what wonder-cars you can buy now at low Ford prices.

The Fairlane Fords for '57, like the Fairlane 500 models, have no equal . . . no counterpart, in the low-price field.

defy wind and water

In an actual test J-M Seal-O-Matic Shingles withstood the terrific blasts of an aircraft engine. Wind and water were driven at 100 m.p.h. against a panel of these shingles for an hour, with frequent gusts up to 140 miles per hour . . . not a tab lifted . . . not a drop leaked through.

Here's the secret of this amazing shingle. A stripe of special petroleum resin is factory-applied on the underside of each shingle. The sun's heat seals it to the underlying shingle, defying even high winds to pry it loose. Drop in and let us give you a personal demonstration of these patented Seal-O-Matic Shingles.

Somebody's Neighbor

He probably doesn't look much like the man next door. He does his arithmetic with the aid of a centuries-old gadget called the abacus, and he writes the results in characters that would be quite undecipherable to you . . . yet you probably have far more in common with him than you'd ever dream.

Like you, he wants peace. Like you, he wants a good future for his children, and he wants them to have more than he has had. Like you, he has experienced happiness and sorrow, love and disillusionment. Like you, he prays.

On World Wide Communion Sunday, he will be going to Church and, though this may seem a bit odd to you, he will be praying for you. Yes . . . for you, and for everyone else in the world, friend or enemy.

Why not join him? Why not, on World Wide Communion Sunday, go to your own church and include him . . . him and everyone else . . . in your prayers.

Pray for peace, too. Remember, the power of prayer is a wonderful thing . . . especially when it is given many voices.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Genesis 1:1—2:3.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 104:24-33.

Creation

Lesson for October 7, 1956

IT IS one of the tragedies of Christian history that the first book of the Bible, as well as the last, has been fought over, bitterly, from generation to generation. In spite of all the quarrels, however (and there seems to be no hope of all Christians agree here), there are certain great truths in this magnificent prose-poem with which the Bible begins, which are agreed on by all Christians. Let us pick out three of these.

Dr. Foreman

"In the Beginning, God—"

The first truth is that this vast universe did not merely happen. It was intended. It is intended. God (so to speak) invented it. Why should anything be? is a thought that has occurred to countless people. Why is there something instead of nothing, anything at all instead of nothing? Is it just a happen-so? Did the universe make itself, as it were, like a dust-storm building up in the desert or an icicle dripping itself longer day by day? Was there some blind Necessity at the beginning of all things? Or maybe did the earth and all the universe exist forever without any beginning? Not at all. That the universe is here at all is because of God who planned it and brought it into being. How long ago this started, or how many changes have taken place since the first instant of time, makes no difference with the main point: namely that the universe does not explain itself, did not cause itself, but is what it is and as it is because God willed it. Furthermore, if God created it, including ourselves, he had a reason. We cannot conceive of God working blindly or at random or for no reason.

Order and Law

The more men study the universe, whether the great and immeasurable universe around us, in which our sun is no more than a mediocre star nowhere near the center of things, or the marvelous tiny universe discovered by the microscope—the more men study all this the more they discover that it is a universe of law. If the sun rises at all tomorrow, astronomers know precisely when it will rise. They can know it years beforehand. Men used to be surprised by eclipses. Now we can calculate the time of every eclipse that will take place, or that has taken place since before the time of man. Even that most unpredictable of things, the wind, can be forecast better than once it could. Men once had to take hurricanes as they came. Now they can be warned of them and their tracks are mostly known. Man in discovering such things is simply "thinking God's thoughts after him." As one astronomer remarked, the universe seems more like a great Thought than a great Machine. In these universal laws, in their regularity and dependability, we can read the will of God. This does not mean that we understand everything—far from it. Mystery surrounds us still. But no science at all would be possible if we could not count on a world that "makes sense" from the smallest atom to the mightiest star.

God Created No Evil

The story-poem of Creation in Genesis ends with the joyful note—God saw all he had made, and it was very good. If anything God has created seems bad, it is either because we do not know how to use it, or we have barged in where we do not belong, or because we ourselves have made it bad. St. Thomas Aquinas once compared this world to a tool-shop full of well-sharpened tools. It is not safe to turn a child or lunatic loose in there; but a master-workman will not get hurt. So as men are learning about the universe they are finding out how to use the materials that the Creator has set at our disposal. But much that is evil in the world is of our own making. Most dust storms, for example, are made by man's greed and stupidity to begin with, in digging up soil that was never meant for cultivation. The whole race of man now stands in terror of death, for though we have discovered how to harness the power in the atom—power our fathers knew was there but had no idea how to reach—we have put more effective thought into using it for destruction than for man's help. But all man's misuses of God's creation must not make us forget that when God first looked it over, he saw that it was good.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

How Is Your Memory?

Can you remember something good that happened to you last month? Last week? Yesterday?

What use do you make of memory?

Or does memory use you?
When memory comes,
Yesterday is always in it;
The things you did and said and didn't get done.

You can whip memory into shape if you will.

Don't fret over things that should be forgotten,

Don't forget things that should be cherished.

You can train your memory to recall out of the past

What you need for the future,
The memory of a mother who sacrificed and cared for you,
Who trusted you.
The memory of a father who lived up to his standards of right
And expected the same from you.
The memory of a pastor, a teacher, a friend.
The inspiration of great music, a youth conference, the Bible, the glimpse of Jesus you had as a child.

We need to discipline ourselves in memory, and need to discriminate between something to be considered with gratitude and something to be forgotten with dispatch.

We should turn our backs on the memories that hurt and hinder. Bad memories cling. God pity those who have them.

Memories should be sharp like a surgeon's knife, that can cut away the soft flesh that stands in the way, and cut out the diseased tissue.

We should nourish the memories that challenge and inspire.

We should be grateful to God for His blessings.

Say to yourself at least once an hour:

This very moment will be
A memory tomorrow.
Am I making a good memory?

Call to remembrance the past, to inspire you, to warn you,

To bring to the forefront of your mind
The resources of your faith;
To sustain you in the present.

Learn to appreciate each of life's precious moments,

Develop a perspective
Let every moment of living
Be a part of the great expanse of time.

Call to remembrance the blessings of life.

Then, giving your life to God,
He will lead you step by step
Into the ways of fruitful living.

Memory can be the medium through which we grow. God says we should be grateful for the past, and remember that He was our help in ages past, our hope for the years to come.

Lieutenant Colonel William C. Robinson, of Catonsville, has returned to headquarters of the air material command at Wright-Patterson air force base in Ohio. He had been absent for a year and is serving as an aide-de-camp to General E. W. Rawlings, commander of AMC.

Earlier he had been chief of the office of inspection in the directorate of procurement and production for 20 months. He first went to AMC in September, 1951, as chief of the legislative liaison division.

A native of Catonsville, he is a graduate of Western Maryland college and entered military service in June, 1941. He participated in 13 B-24 missions as a navigator with the 15th air force in Italy during World War II, and has been awarded the Air Medal and the Commendation ribbon.

Forestry's Contribution to Garrett County Is Outlined

By A. R. BOND, Assistant Forester

A tribute to the Golden Anniversary of Forestry in Maryland is being paid on the 9th Autumn Glory excursions to Western Maryland on Sunday, October 7, and Sunday, October 14, sponsored by the B. and O. railroad.

Forestry's contribution to Garrett county has been outlined by A. R. Bond, assistant forester, which is reprinted below:

"It is fitting to associate the scenic beauty of Western Maryland with forestry. It was in Garrett County that Maryland forestry originated. A deep love of scenic beauty was one of the reasons which prompted Robert Garrett, investment banker of Baltimore, then a young man, to offer 2,000 acres of mountain land which he and his brother had inherited, to Maryland if the State would take care of it. Thus in 1906, the Department of Forestry was created by the General Assembly with Swallow Falls as its first State Forest.

"Fifty years of forestry has seen much progress in Garrett County. The first undertaking was to control the forest fires that raged uncontrolled through the mountains. The next job was to start reforestation of the mountainsides that had been denuded of trees.

"Gradually more unproductive land was acquired, until today there are 72,270 acres of State Forests in Garrett County, including Swallow Falls, Savage River and the Potomac State Forests. This acreage is approximately 60% of all the state forests in Maryland.

"The State Forests serve as demonstrations in forest management to private landowners, who are shown how to make their own woodlands produce regular crops and increased income. The growing of Christmas trees to give quick income from forest stands has become so popular that recently there was organized the Garrett County Christmas Tree Growers' Association.

"With each passing year, the State-owned forest lands are becoming of increasing importance to the economic welfare of the people of this area. Although forest income from timber stumpage is increasing, the greater monetary income is to the operators and laborers who work this raw material. This was exemplified by pulpwood cut from State Forests by state labor in 1954. The 186 cords of wood salvaged from thinning operations had a stump value of $186, but when it was cut and delivered to a pulp and paper mill, it was worth $2,664. The difference was largely paid to laborers in cutting, skidding and hauling the wood to market.

"For every dollar stumpage the Department receives from sales from State Forests, from $3 to $13 are distributed between cutters, contractors, truckers and brokers in various percentages. Thus $19 stumpage per acre means on the average of $60 to $70 brought into the county in the form of wages and profits. And the tax collector gets 15% of all sales from State Forests, so State Forests also contribute to the payment of county expenses.

"However, the big job of maintaining productive forests in Maryland rests with the 36,000 private woodland owners who own 93% of the forest land in the state. These owners, during the next 50 years will determine whether or not the forest products—wood, water, and wildlife—will continue to flow from our forests. The State Forests have helped point the way.

"Forestry has also played a large part in making Garrett County again a recreational center for the country. In the 1890's the big B. & O. hotels at Deer Park attracted visitors during the summer, but now motorists from all over the nation explore every corner of Garrett County from spring until late fall. They enjoy the recreational areas operated in the State Forests, living in cabins and camping, fishing and swimming and crowd many of the privately operated resorts.

"Forestry cooperates with the Department of Game and Inland Fish to restore native wildlife. Forestry watershed protection in State Forests not only provides a natural habitat for wildlife, but also retards the runoff of rainfall, thus improving fishing conditions in lakes and streams. Improved hunting and fishing opportunities attract more visitors to Garrett County and again the economic welfare of the community is improved.

"These popular Autumn Glory excursions from Washington, D. C., and Baltimore prove that Garrett County today has unmatched scenic beauty to offer those who enjoy Nature in her most spectacular season. The mountainsides which once were stripped of their verdancy, and swept regularly by forest fires, thanks to forestry, are again awe-inspiring in their majestic beauty.

"Exhibitions will be on display in Swallow Falls State Forest to keep visitors in mind of the part forestry is playing in preserving the natural beauty of Garrett County and in contributing to its economic welfare. They will consist of various products of the forest, including wood, water and wildlife."

Letter To The Editor

An Open Letter to Mothers

Dear Mrs. Voter:

I am writing to you as a mother of a family, for I am a mother of a large family and very much interested in the Garrett County League of Christian Voters, because of its drive to get the truth concerning alcohol to people. I would like to ask all the mothers of Garrett county to get out and vote against the liquor bill that's coming up this fall.

Oh! You say that doesn't concern me, my family doesn't drink! No, mine doesn't either, thank God. But wait a minute and think just what might happen to our children (with liquor flowing freely) in and near our little domain which we thought was so safe. We must think of the bad influence it will surely have on every family and schools and community.

That isn't all there is to it. We want to go and come at will, don't we? We want our children to go and come safely, too, don't we? And when we come down to the real truth we want God's blessings on us, too.

We start out in our car and the next thing we know we are in the hospital all crippled up, perhaps for life and maybe some dead in the family. Why? Because some liquor crazed driver was on the road and there are too many such kind already. Why encourage any more?

Our young girls and boys are molested by the liquor soaked creatures to the extent it isn't safe for a girl to go out to work and the young boys they try to have sport with in trying to get them drunk.

We just can't be unconcerned for our little home isn't as safe as we thought, especially if they get the liquor back in this county.

Liquor takes food out of the mouths of children, clothes from their backs, takes homes from families, separates man and wife and makes thousands of homeless children and breaks millions of hearts. The bread winners lose their jobs whether it be male or female, and at last lose all respect for themselves and lose their soul in hell besides.

Some say we might as well have these taxes from liquor as another state, and that the taxes would be such a help to the county, but if statistics are right (which I believe they are) it's more expensive to have it than not to have it.

I know one thing, the doctors have more to do, the jails have more inmates, the penitentiaries and mental institutions have more in them and all the court trials with all kinds of cases and so many more of them costs us far more than the liquor taxes bring in, so common sense should tell us it's worse than worthless.

Look at the grief drinking brings us and look at the few paltry dollars it would bring in and balance it with what God says. I believe everyone would say it isn't worth it. God says, What shall it profit us if we gain the whole world and lose our soul? Mark 8:36-37. God also curses those who allow such things to exist. Isaiah 5:11-22. He also says, Touch not. Col. 2-21. We certainly can't live in a county where the accursed stuff is sold freely and not be touched by it.

God says Woe to him who giveth his neighbor strong drink. Habakkuk 2:15.

I wonder how many of those who handle it know these truths, and if it made any difference if they did, or if they would still rather have the money they got from it, knowing they were helping to cause grief and anguish and giving Satan a majority haul.

Maybe you think this is pretty plain speaking. Did God in His Holy Word ever try to make sin sound a little nicer than it really is to His readers? No He calls sin by its ugly name and doesn't fail to tell us what they are in real words.

Who are we to try to white wash it for we can't change the true and plain facts. And I fear we sometimes do try to make it suit our ideas and plans.

We can't stay at home and not vote, for that is giving Satan more power, too. We must get out and do our part, then we can trust in God to do the rest. But we must do what we can. It's no use to wait on the other fellow, then complain if things go wrong. It's our God-given privilege to vote, so let's all get out on November 6 and see what can be done to help our county be blessed by God, our Maker.

Sincerely and respectfully a mother,

Mrs. John W. Edgar

Beall Is Winner Over Southern High

Frostburg School Defeats Local Team 37 To 13 Last Friday Night

Southern's Highlanders lost a hard fought game to the Beall High Mountaineers of Frostburg 37 to 13 last Friday night under the lights at the Beall High field.

The loss was the fourth for Southern and the first win for Beall. Beall scored in every quarter, five of their touchdowns coming on break-away runs. Southern scored all of its points in the last half.

On the fourth play of the game Beall intercepted a jump pass over the line by Deckman to take possession of the ball and three plays later Bill Groves went 17 yards around right end for the score.

On the first play of the second quarter Parker faded back to pass but finding no receiver he broke around right end and dashed down the sideline for the second touchdown. Late in the second quarter Parker broke around right end and outran Southern's secondary defense for 61 yards and the final Beall score of the first half. All tries for extra points were wide and the halftime score was 18 to 0.

On the first play of the second half Southern recovered a Beall fumble on the 26-yard line and several plays later Don DeWitt passed seven yards to Don Mason in the end zone for the Highlander's first score.

Pete Wilson took the kick-off and with the aid of some good blocking twisted his way through the entire Southern team 78 yards for another score and Groves made the only extra point on a place kick.

Southern took the Mountaineer kick-off and reeled off five first downs before losing the ball on a fumble on the Beall 4-yard line. On the next play Bill Murphy and Henry McRobie recovered a Beall fumble at the same spot. Two plays later Wayne Callis ran through center for Southern's second and final touchdown. Mason's try for the extra point was good.

On the last play of the game a Beall player dropped back to try a long pass. Finding his receivers covered he broke down the right side and ran 76 yards for the final score.

Southern was forced to play most of the game without the services of veteran Bill Deckman who was forced to leave the game in the second quarter with a sprained ankle.

Next Friday night Southern will play St. Francis of Morgantown under the lights. The remaining four games on the schedule will be played at home, the Highlanders meeting Northern Saturday, October 13; Kingwood, Saturday, October 20; Keyser, Saturday, October 27; and Terra Alta, Friday, November 2.

Cumberland Road History Recounted

The Highway magazine for September, 1956, carried an interesting article about American Highway history, the Cumberland road in particular. Written by Duane L. Cronk, the article also included a number of pictures of the stage coach days.

The article was called to our attention by Lt. Col. John Haig Jackson, Wilmington, N. C., who is stationed there with the army engineers.

Portions of the article are reprinted here.

"In 1802 when Congress admitted Ohio to the Union a few farsighted westerners fought for and won the inclusion of the provision that 5 percent of the revenue from sale of public lands in the new state would be earmarked for roads to and within the state. By 1805 $12,652 was available for a highway across the mountains. The machinery was set in motion for a road from Cumberland to the Ohio river, preferably at Wheeling. Congress approved the use of federal funds for the job and progressive President Jefferson named a commission to determine the route. They were to have at their disposal one surveyor at $3 per day, two chairmen and one marker at $1 per day.

"By 1811 the government was ready to let contracts for the job. Contractor Henry McKinley agreed to build the first two miles out of Cumberland for $21.25 a perch (24¾ cubic feet). The second section was let as a joint venture for $14.50 a perch.

"Specifications called for clearing and grubbing a 66-foot right-of way and the leveling of a 30-foot roadbed. The road itself was to be 20 feet wide, composed of a layer of 7-inch rock, topped by a layer of 3-inch rock. The right of way was cleared by teams of horses and oxen. The rock-breaking operation was carried out by gangs of men, hammering rock small enough to pass through a 7-inch ring.

"It was 1818 before the Cumberland road reached Wheeling. It was found that costs had run far over the estimates. It actually cost $9,745 a mile between Cumberland and Uniontown and $13,000 a mile from Uniontown to Wheeling.

"Thanks to the Cumberland road commerce boomed between the eastern states and the expanding midwest. For more than 40 years, from 1810 to 1852 the famous Conestoga wagons carried on cut-throat competition for the freight trade. Passenger travel was by fast express stage coaches called 'shakeguts' which whirled past on a regular schedule as many as 20 a day each day.

"The road was extended in time through Ohio and Indiana and became known later as the National road. Then, as quickly as it began, the bottom fell out of wagon freighting. In 1852 the railroad was completed between New York and Chicago. The next year the coaches ceased running between Frederick and Hagerstown and the 10-ton Conestogas drawn by 12 horses went out of business between Baltimore and Wheeling. Twenty years later it was a rutted trail. The automobile brought it new life and it was rebuilt for the convenience of American motorists early in the 1900's. It once more became a main road west. Section by section was repaired until, by 1923, the entire length had been resurfaced."

Extension Meetings Set

THE REPUBLICAN

Ballot Is Legal . . . .

Don't let anyone, Democrat or Republican, tell Garrett county that its ballots in November may not be legal. They will be. Republicans may think that Mahoney will challenge the Garrett county votes, and they may feel that county officials could have come to an agreement and ordered voting machines months ago—but they didn't agree and they didn't order voting machines, and that's that.

Chief Judge George Henderson declared several months ago that "nothing in this subsection shall be construed to repeal or impair provisions heretofore enacted for use of the so-called paper ballot system in the event of emergency or other unusual circumstance."

In the first place, this is a federal election, and no state regulations are going to take away the right of any voter to cast his ballot for President. In the second place, we have a firm conviction that if anyone tried to challenge Garrett county's paper ballots that the Court of Appeals would rule the state legislature's law which makes voting machines compulsory, unconstitutional.

Certainly we have the "unusual circumstance" in this county. And the Board of Supervisors has passed a motion to use paper ballots in this election. The Board's on firm ground in this instance. No one has the right to take away a voter's right of franchise. So make the vote heavy and make it worthwhile.

There's one more item to consider. There has been talk that the General Assembly may attempt to pass a law giving Election Supervisors complete control with respect to purchase of voting machines, deleting the clause that now requires approval by the County Commissioners before Supervisors may make an expenditure.

We believe this would be in violation of the rights of County Commissioners. If the law is to be clarified, it certainly should be clarified by giving County Commissioners the express right of making the purchase. County Commissioners are regularly elected citizens, with power to levy and power to collect. Supervisors are appointive, and purely political in nature. At times the appointees are not rightly qualified for their office. Should the county get election supervisors who have no principle about them it would be possible for them to create all kinds of expense items and the County Commissioners would be compelled to levy to pay the cost, even if it meant raising the tax rate. This is not likely to happen, but is a possibility. With Commissioners in complete charge, there is a definite responsibility to the taxpayers as elected officials. They have to do the paying. They should have the complete say as to what should be purchased.

Roth's Trial To Be Before Court

Will Be Heard in Garrett County Circuit Court—No Date Set

The trial of Ervin Roth on a charge of perjury will be held in the Garrett County Circuit court, it was announced this week. The case probably will be heard before Chief Judge George Henderson. No date has been set.

Mr. Roth had filed a motion in the Circuit court, following his indictment by the grand jury, declaring he could not obtain a fair and impartial trial in the local court and asked the court to transfer his case to some other jurisdiction. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in an order of court on the 19th of September ordered that the case be removed to Allegany county for trial.

The trial will not be before a jury.

The decision to return the case to this county was made this week.

Lions Club Members To Sell Fruit Cakes

The members of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club plan to again sell fruit cakes for the Christmas season. Cakes will be three and five pounds and will sell for $3 and $5.

A booth will be maintained by Lions club members on the main street of Oakland every Saturday night, and the initial sale will be conducted next Saturday evening. Cakes are expected to be received the latter part of next week.

A house to house canvass of Oakland and Mt. Lake Park will be held on Monday evening, November 19.

Condemnation Suits Filed Concerning Lake Properties

Condemnation suits concerning seven tracts of Deep Creek lake property, have been instituted in the Circuit Court for Garrett county by the State Roads Commission.

The suits concern a strip of land along some properties along the lake side of U.S. route 219, over which there was some litigation in the courts previously. Orders of publication are required against six of the defendants, Thomas R. Johnson and wife; Florence N. Newman and husband; Eva C. Compton and Eleanor C. Compton, W. Scott Wysong and wife, Chester B. Egolf and wife, Wayne Corrin and wife, and are being published this week. The seventh concerns Cecil D. Johnson and wife, of Cumberland, for which no order of publication was required.

The State Roads commission has deposited amounts varying from $225 to $500 in the hands of the Clerk of the Circuit court, in conformity with the law, prior to taking possession of the land which the Roads commission says is necessary and proper to acquire in connection with construction and maintenance of the highway system of the state.

The cases will be heard by members of the Petit jury.

School Social Planned

A Hallowe'en social will be held in the cafeteria of Loch Lynn Heights school on the evening of October 26. A food basket will be given away and there will be cake walks, a guess cake, fish pond and other attractions. Ice Cream, home baked goods, sandwiches and coffee will be on sale.

EXHIBITS ARE PLENTIFUL—Exhibits were plentiful at the school and community fair held last week-end at Northern High school. Above is shown a portion of the grain and vegetable exhibits which were located in the farm shop back of the school. Officials were told that the number and quality of exhibits were far superior to those on display at either the Cumberland or the Preston County Fair. Over two thousand people saw the exhibits and participated in the two-day affair.

Protests Delay on Road Improvement

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce last week, it was decided to send an official letter of protest to the State Roads commission and others concerning the long delay in completing the road improvement program along the lake on U.S. 219.

The road has been in process of improvement for the past two years and members of the Chamber of Commerce feel it has hurt business not only around the lake but also in the Oakland area.

The Board also announced that the annual Christmas treat would be held this year on December 22, and that Christmas decorations would be erected shortly after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Republicans Open Headquarters Here

Republican headquarters are now open on Alder street in Oakland and will remain open until election day. Supplies of campaign buttons, posters and materials of all kinds are on display, and will be given to anyone visiting the headquarters.

A calendar is being prepared by Mrs. Earl Lee, Secretary of the Republican Women's Club, having the names of volunteer women workers and the days they are willing to work in the headquarters. Anyone not yet contacted by Mrs. Lee, and willing to work should see her or the Republican committee members.

Interested persons are urged to stop in and sign the birthday scrolls, and pledge to work for the re-election of President Eisenhower.

Temperature Drops To 21 This Morning

Freezing temperatures were the rule over the tri-state area yesterday and today with the Maryland low being in this county with a reading of 21 degrees this morning. The temperature yesterday at 23 degrees was also low for the state.

Deal, Pa., just across the state line from Finzel, had a 28-degree reading. It was 33 at Cumberland.

There was a heavy frost practically everywhere but most of the damage to crops and flowers had been done three weeks ago.

There had been some rain during the week but mostly it was clear and cool. A resume of the week showed Friday sunny and cool; Saturday, rainy in the morning; Sunday, a thunder storm very early in the morning and remaining cold during the day; Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, clear and cool; today, clear with some moderation.

Found Guilty of Children Neglect

A thirty-three-year-old woman of Loch Lynn Heights was found guilty of neglecting her children over the past several months and was sentenced by Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer on Monday to two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Women.

The woman was occupying the Linn Morgan home in Loch Lynn Heights with her five children. She was specifically charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors. She pleaded not guilty at her hearing last week, but was found guilty by the Magistrate after all the evidence had been presented.

The children were practically starved, dirty and ragged and S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, said he would consider the home the filthiest place he had ever seen. According to testimony, the woman's husband was a well driller and regularly sent sufficient money home to take care of his family but that she would take the money and spend it on other things. The children were said to be ravenously hungry when they were taken into custody.

All five of the children, ranging in ages from 8 to 15, are now in foster homes where they have been scrubbed, given adequate clothing, and all the food they can eat. The homes reported they were still having a difficult time trying to get them filled up. All are now in school and apparently happy in their new surroundings.

The woman was tried under juvenile court law, and the names of the persons were not available.

Washington Man to Address Republicans

George Smith, a Washington public relations expert, is scheduled to address the Republican rally at the dinner on Wednesday evening, October 24, it was announced this week.

The dinner is being held to honor the birthday anniversary of President Eisenhower and will be held at the Southern High cafeteria at 6:15.

Tickets for the dinner are on sale by a number of Republican women of the county. Mrs. Earl S. Lee, Oakland, is in charge of the ticket sale.

Expecting to attend the rally are Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, and U.S. Senators J. Glenn Beall and John Marshall Butler.

A four-tiered birthday cake will be a feature of the table decorations with the names of all newly registered Republican voters in the county to be placed around the cake.

Key women, previously appointed in each voting precinct, will bring their names to the table in a ceremony under direction of Mrs. Vernie Smouse and Mrs. Jesse Ashby. A gift will be presented to the woman who has secured the names of the largest number of new voters in her precinct.

The speaker is a staff consultant of the Senate Republican policy committee. His topic will be "The Choice Before the People in 1956."

The dinner menu will include Garrett county turkey with all the trimmings. Elephant cookies will be a feature. In charge of the dinner plans are Mrs. W. W. Grant, Mrs. Alva G. Gortner, Mrs. O. T. Graser, and Mrs. Jay Bell. Special music will be furnished by the latter.

BUSY AT THE FALLS—It took more than threatening weather to prevent several hundred excursionists from exploring Swallow Falls last Sunday as part of the Autumn Glory event. Left photo shows M. C. Cargo presiding at the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council booth. Other booths were operated by the Turkey Growers and the Forestry Department, the latter also having numerous exhibits. Center shows a few of the young and old who explored the gorge below Muddy Creek, most for the first time. At right an excursionist is participating in one of the most popular activities of this and previous excursions—taking snapshots. The number of visitors carrying cameras was unusually high this year.

Repeat Performance Is Set For Autumn Glory Excursionists

It will be a repeat performance for the autumn glory excursionists this week-end.

A program similar to the one carried out last Sunday will be in effect when the second excursion arrives in Oakland this Sunday about noon.

The first train carried less than 400 persons but 600 to 700 are expected this week-end.

Twenty busses are being provided to carry the excursionists to Swallow Falls and Deep Creek Lake for a tour of the area.

The same special exhibits will be seen at Swallow Falls in observance of the 50th anniversary of the Forestry Service in Maryland.

Half of the busses will go first to Swallow Falls while the remainder will go to Deep Creek Lake. At Swallow Falls there will be a guided tour by members of the Forestry Department from one to two o'clock. At two o'clock the busses will arrive from Deep Creek Lake, and from 2 to 3 o'clock the entire group of excursionists will be shown the forestry exhibits in and around the pavilion.

From three to four o'clock the group that went to Swallow Falls first will leave for Deep Creek, while the second group will be given the guided tour of the area.

The Garrett County Turkey Growers and the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council will again have booths at Swallow Falls. Eight turkeys will again be given away by the Turkey Growers, the Promotion Council and the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, the sponsors of the Autumn Glory excursions.

Turkeys were presented last Sunday to Julius Vinnick, Mrs. Walter Heckrote, Jennie Turner, Mrs. Gene Snee, Mrs. Ida Reid, Mrs. Gene Moore and Arthur Ohm.

Mahoney Will Tour County Next Week

Georpe P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, will be in Garrett county next Monday and Tuesday.

Members of the Democratic State Central Committee have arranged a rally at the William-James hotel in Oakland for Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at which time Mr. Mahoney will discuss some of the issues of the campaign. There will be refreshments. The public is invited.

On Tuesday Mr. Mahoney will tour the entire county in company of Arthur Humbertson, member of the Democratic committee, and other Democrats.

It was also announced there would be a Democratic "Tag Day" on Saturday.

Deer Park P.-T. A. To Meet

The Elementary Parent-Teacher association of the Deer Park school will meet next Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the school. Featured on the program will be a picture on forest fires and their prevention, it was announced by the president, Mrs. Pleasant Thrasher.

To Install Officers

Newly elected officers of Accident unit 208, American Legion Auxiliary, will be installed at a meeting to be held October 16, at 8 p. m., in the Accident Fire hall.

All members and persons eligible to join the organization are being urged to attend.

Registration Still Leans Republican

The eight precincts showed 71 Republicans compared to 26 Democrats, almost a three to one majority. Crellin had 11 Republicans and 3 Democrats. The five Oakland precincts showed the following: 7-1, 6 Republicans and 3 Democrats; 7-2, 12 Republicans and 4 Democrats; 14-1, 11 Republicans and 3 Democrats; 14-3, 15 Republicans and 1 Democrat; 14-4, 7 Republicans and 4 Democrats. Kitzmiller showed 6 Republicans and 1 Democrat; Vindex, 3 Republicans and 7 Democrats.

Combined with last week's totals the figures show 145 Republicans and 48 Democrats, 1 Independent and 1 declined. Precinct 14-3 for the two weeks showed 33 Republicans to 2 Democrats, while 14-1 showed 34 Republicans to 10 Democrats. Vindex was the only precinct showing Democratic majority.

Next Tuesday will be revision day, but there can be not additional persons registered at that time. There will be no more registration days prior to the general election. The total number of those registered will not be available until after revision day.

Affiliation Changes

When it comes to affiliation changes the picture does not favor the Republicans in any way. During the past few weeks there have been at least fifty people who have mailed cards to the Board of Election Supervisors requesting that their affiliation be changed from Republican to Democrat. Only in a few instances have there been requests to change from Democrat to Republican. This indicates some intense work on the part of Democratic leaders, but is no indication of the way they expect to vote in the general election.

Plans Being Made To Reactivate Grange

With a lot of interest being shown in this area in Grange, a national farm organization, efforts are being made to activate several of the local granges that at one time met regularly in this county.

One meeting is to be held this Thursday night at White Church, while another meeting is scheduled for Friday night at Pleasant Valley. Both groups will meet in the former grange halls of their particular localities.

Assisting in the reorganization plans is F. Russell Foard, of Harford county, assistant to the master of the Maryland State Grange. Mr. Foard said the Pleasant Valley group already had voted officially to reorganize and that officers would be named at Friday night's meeting.

Mr. Foard said this rebirth of interest was on a national scale and that within the past six months some 50,000 members had been added to the rolls of the national grange. He said the grange was a nation-wide approach to the problem of getting people to know the story of American agriculture from the rural viewpoint. Three new granges have been organized in Maryland within the past six months.

At one time there were active granges in this county at Keyser Ridge, Hutton, Hoyes, Sunnyside, Hooppole Valley, McHenry, Ryan's Glade, Pleasant Valley and Shady Dell. No granges have been active here since 1935, however.

"Back To School" To Be Theme of Initial P-TA Meeting Mon.

"Back to School" night will be the theme of the first P.-T.A. meeting of the school year at Southern Garrett County Jr.-Sr. High school.

In outlining the program, Delbert Gnegy, president, stated that parents would have an opportunity to follow through a typical day's schedule and thereby meet each teacher of their children. Classes will last approximately twelve minutes.

A short business meeting beginning promptly at 7:30 p. m., will be held in the gymnasium prior to the program.

In a letter to all parents earlier this week, Mr. Gnegy emphasized the importance of all parents attending this first P.-T.A. meeting. "Our schools need and deserve your support," he said.

Parents having small children may bring them to school. A special baby sitting program is being handled by the girls of the Future Teachers of America organization in the high school.

Cake Baking Contest Will Be Held Here

A cake baking contest, open to any Republican woman in the county, was announced this week by Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, president of the Garrett County Women's Republican club. Judging will be done in Baltimore on Thursday, October 18.

Cakes are to be judged by experts on appearance, taste, texture, icing, etc. John McCutcheon, father of Capt. McCutcheon of $64,000 radio quiz fame, will participate in the judging. The winner will receive a trip for two to Washington on Inaugural day with seats for the inauguration and tickets to the inaugural ball.

No cakes are to be returned. They will be sent to the White House and from there they will go to orphanages and hospitals.

Mrs. Glotfelty asked that entrants contact her by Saturday, October 13 so that arrangements can be made to pick up the cakes for delivery to Baltimore. Each entrant must include her name and address in an envelope placed under the cake doily.

County Will Use Paper Ballots In Nov. Election

Decision Made At Special Meeting—Ballots Will Be Valid

Garrett county will use paper ballots for the November 6 election, it was decided last Friday following a special meeting of members of the Board of Supervisors and the Board of County Commissioners.

William O. Treacy, Election Board member, made the motion, which was seconded by William Gibson, Election Board president. Both boards had agreed previously that they felt paper ballots would be valid. They also pointed out that the time previous to election was very limited and there would not be sufficient time to educate the voters to the use of voting machines.

The Commissioners had last week finally decided they had the authority to enter into a contract for the machines without the sanction of the Election board and had passed a motion 2 to 1 to order 36 machines from the Shoup Voting Machine company. However, on Wednesday morning, H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the County Commissioners, learned that the price of both machines had increased and on Wednesday evening received a telegram from Harold J. Lewison, executive vice president of the Shoup company stating "We do not wish to enter into a contract with the County Commissioners if there is possibility of an injunction or any other kind of law suit."

Friday, Attorney Horace Whitworth, Jr., representing the Election Board, said definitely there would be litigation if the Shoup machines were purchased. He declared that the County Commissioners have no authority to purchase, only to approve or disapprove a recommendation of the Election Board.

Before deciding to use paper ballots, Mr. Treacy also moved that the Board discard any idea of renting machines for this election. It was learned that Shoup does not rent machines and that the Automatic Voting Machine company would rent for $150 per machine, plus transportation charges and insurance coverage. It was estimated the cost for this would be at least $7,000. Swartzentruber, Aubrey Brenneman, Commissioners, and Treacy said they could not approve the expense of this amount of money for one election.

The Election Board decided to ask both companies for new bids for 36 new combination voting machines, returnable before October 31, and for each company to give its lowest possible price.

Commissioners had been informed by telephone that manually operated machines of the Automatic Voting Machine company cost $1,431 each or a total of $51,516. This company would have been able to deliver only the manually operated machines in time for election.

The Shoup machines were electrically operated and could be had for a total of $59,320. This company was able to promise delivery on only the electrically operated machines. Originally the electrically operated machines were priced at $53,064 for Automatic and $50,801 for Shoup.

Chief Judge George Henderson had indicated earlier that the case had reached an impasse and the only way out was for someone to change his mind. It was the opinion of the Attorney to the Board of Supervisors, Walter W. Dawson, ten days ago that nothing could take away the right of individuals to have their votes counted, regardless of legislative enactment making it mandatory to have voting machines. The law said voting machines must be used unless there were "unusual circumstances" involved.

In Judge Henderson's opinion when the suit was dismissed against the County Commissioners this past spring, he declared: "Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to repeal or impair the provisions heretofore enacted for use of so-called paper ballot system in event of emergency or other unusual circumstances."

Britain and France with U. S. backing asked Security Council of U.N., to indorse their London plan for international control of Suez canal.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

One To Grow On—For The Life Of You

Riboflavin, the B vitamin, is for the young in heart at every age. From birth, it is essential for a child's growth and as an adult, adequate riboflavin helps make for a longer prime of life.

Much evidence exists to show that the amount of riboflavin in one's food has a large influence upon the level of health and efficiency of an individual living under average conditions. It is difficult to point out danger signs when the deficiency is not a complete lack of the riboflavin, but only a moderate one. As an example, children may grow and develop slowly which could be attributed to heredity. However, science has shown that in some cases there is a direct relationship between growth and riboflavin in the diet.

Although this B vitamin is fairly well distributed in foods and extreme deficiencies may not be too frequent, scientists regard it as an important factor in health and in building already-normal health to higher levels.

The picture offered when the diet of experimental animals supplies an amount of riboflavin above a bare minimum, may have a lesson for those who are young in heart. Here, results tend towards better development, higher adult vitality, greater freedom from disease at all ages, somewhat longer life and what is more significant—a longer prime of life.

With growing knowledge of the importance of riboflavin in maintaining healthy tissues and general health, it is recognized that many people need a better choice of food to assure an adequate amount of this B vitamin.

Where then are they to find it? Riboflavin is formed in growing plants, so therefore, leafy vegetables and grains are sources. So are meats, milk products and eggs good sources. One of the best, is enriched bread, riboflavin being one of the enriching nutrients. Six slices of enriched bread provide about 15 per cent of one's daily allowance of this vitamin, an amount slightly higher than that provided by an equal amount of whole wheat bread. Bread has another advantage—its crust is a barrier to light which can destroy this vitamin.

Southern Winner Over St. Francis

Michaels Picks Up Fumble And Runs 95 Yards For Only Score

Coach Dick Travis' Southern Highlanders, playing alert football, were able to take advantage of a break early in the game and were able to defeat St. Francis of Morgantown 6 to 0, after warding off numerous efforts during the three remaining quarters.

St. Francis took the opening kickoff and with the aid of a 35-yard run marched off three first downs to Southern's five-yard line, but at this point the Highlander line stiffened and on the next three plays had pushed St. Francis back three yards. A St. Francis backfield man fumbled and Ronnie Michaels, a substitute end for Southern picked up the ball and aided by some good blocking, was able to break through the entire St. Francis team and he outsprinted the secondary to run 95 yards for the touchdown. Donald Mason missed the try for the extra point.

This was the only time until early in the second quarter that Southern had possession of the ball. On the second play of the second quarter the Highlander line again took charge and forced St. Francis to surrender the ball on downs on Southern's 16-yard line. Late in the second quarter Donald Mason broke up another St. Francis drive by intercepting a long pass and returning the ball to the Southern 40-yard line.

Neither team was able to gain an advantage in the third quarter. Southern punted once and St. Francis twice. In the fourth quarter, St. Francis drove deep into Southern territory on four first downs to the 15-yard line but at this point Henry McRobie dropped on a fumble. Southern backs ran the ball out of danger and at the end of the game punted to the St. Francis 31-yard mark.

It was the first win for Southern and the third loss for St. Francis in five games played.

Playing for Oakland were DeWitt, McRobie, Kelley, Evans, Roth, Murphy, G. Bittinger, L. Bittinger, Mason, Callis and Colaw. Substituting were Sanders, Henline, Friend, Michaels and Stemple.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As we continue our series of articles on the Apostle's Creed, this week I will discuss the second statement of the third article, which is: "I believe in the. . .Holy Christian Church, the communion of saints. . ."

First of all, the term "Christian." There are some areas of Christendom where the term "Catholic" is inserted here. Since this term has come to mean, since the Reformation, a particular denomination, and one with which all areas of Evangelical Christianity differ greatly, many areas of Protestant Christianity have chosen to use the term "Christion." No one denomination deserves any claim to being the only "universal" church, and this is what the term "catholic" means. Most of the larger Protestant denominations number their constituents in all areas of the world, i.e. the Baptists are growing in great numbers in Russia, and there are some 70 million Lutheran Christians in all corners of the earth. Therefore, the term used in the creed is "Christian." It refers to the fact that we as Christians are banded together in a world-wide fellowship which is referred to in the accompanying statement as the "Communion of Saints."

There are true and false Christians in all areas of the various denominations throughout the world. Wherever the Word of God, revealed through Jesus Christ, is rightly preached, and wherever the Sacraments, established by Christ, are rightly administered, there we find the Church, the communion of Saints. There are certainly imperfections in all churches, for as men we are not perfect. And there are men in all churches who are not "consistent to the calling to which they have been called." But this does not make the true church any less the body of Christ, banded together to bring Christ and His Word and Sacraments to the world. As part of the Church's ministry, there is a constant reminder and prodding on the part of the Word of God, as preached and read, sung and prayed, to build more of Christ's personality into the "Saints" assembled together at the meetings.

About the term "Saint" there has also been misunderstanding. The term comes to sight in the Old Testament as early as Deuteronomy 33:3 "He loved the people, all his saints. . .", and generally refers to those who were the followers of God, His Children. It appears in like manner in various places throughout the Old Testament. In the New Testament, the term is most frequently used in the Epistles of Paul, i.e. in the opening words of the Epistle to the Ephesians, "Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the will of God, to the saints who are also faithful in Christ Jesus: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ." It is used in this manner throughout the epistles. The term from there came to be used to denote some particularly outstanding Christian, such as one of the Apostles or one of the early martyrs. From here, it grew to the point where some felt that there was some value in praying to these "Saints." With the establishment of Christianity as the official religion of the Roman Empire (which I regard as the worst thing that ever has happened to the Body of Christ), the pagan tribes of northern Europe and the pagan elements within civilized Rome soon began to carry into the Christian Church various parts of their paganism. One of these was the adoration or worship of the "Saints." Soon each town, city profession and trade had its patron; one saint could protect against hail, another against fire, a third against poison. St. Appallonia cured toothache, St. Othilia, eye trouble; St. Gallius was assigned to look after geese; St. Eulogis after horses, and St. Anthony after pigs.

The idea that any person other than Christ can serve as the mediator between God and man is unscriptural, (I Tim. 2:5, I John 2:1; Heb. 4:14-16, etc.), unChristian, and idolatrous. The "communion of saints" places faith not in an organization or in a man, but in Christ, Who is the Foundation of the Church; first, because of His Word or teaching; secondly, because of His death for us on a cross; thirdly, because of His example. Thus the communion of saints, as living stones, are built upon Him by faith, which accepts His teaching, appropriates His merits, and regards and looks up to His life as a pattern of holiness.

REPRESENTING ALL HANDICAPPED workers who are now successfully engaged in jobs which they handle competently, is Mrs. Lois Holthause, who receives from Governor Theodore R. The Governor urged that qualified persons should not be denied opportunity for employment because of a physical disability.

Large Crowd Sees Community Fair At Northern High

A record crowd of nearly three thousand people attended the Northern High School-Community Fair, held at the school last Friday and Saturday. It was sponsored by the students, teachers, patrons, and merchants of the Northern school district.

Paul Muha, principal, said it was a highly successful school-community function and that the cooperation, interest, and enthusiasm were beyond reproach.

He thanked all of the patrons of the Northern school district, on behalf of the faculty and students, for their participation.

Parking facilities were not sufficient and cars were parked all over the fields. The Accident and Friendsville Volunteer Fire Departments helped park.

Friday was an evening of entertainment as the visitors viewed the various displays and played at the carnival booths which were set up by some twenty-two clubs throughout the school.

At 8:00 p. m. the band played several selections, under the direction of Melvin Schwing. A movie, "Call A Cop," was shown three times during the evening. At 9:00 o'clock a square dance was held in the gym until the closing time at 11:00.

On Saturday morning and afternoon, there were husband calling contest, rolling pin throw, three-legged race, fifty and thirty yard dash for boys and fifty yard dash for girls. Ribbons were awarded.

Saturday evening was highlighted by a performance given by Slim Bryant and His Wildcats, stars of KDKA-TV. Marlene Hoff, sophomore, of Northern, sang three songs with Slim Bryant. Slim presented a variety of entertainment which included banjo and guitar solos, accordion specialties, and exper fiddle music. Nancy Fingal was the featured vocalist.

Besides the exhibits set up by Northern High school, educational exhibits were received from Friendsville, Accident and Bittinger Elementary schools. These exhibits were awarded first, second and third place ribbons.

A variety of commercial exhibits were displayed by the local merchants.

On Friday afternoon, live stock, poultry, crafts, canned goods, pickles, woodwork, hobbies and baked goods were judged. First, second and third place ribbons were awarded to the individuals who displayed these exhibits. Money prizes were awarded totaling $450 in cash, provided by the State Fair Board and Northern High school.

Darrell Malone, guidance counselor, said he felt it was a splendid fair, showing good planning, a variety of exhibits and terrific crowds.

Meet The Students

The students who appear in this column each week are chosen by their classmates on the basis of leadership, both in the school and in the community. Each section of the grade nominates candidates. From this list of candidates the students vote for the boy and girl who they feel are the most qualified.

This week's students are ninth graders.

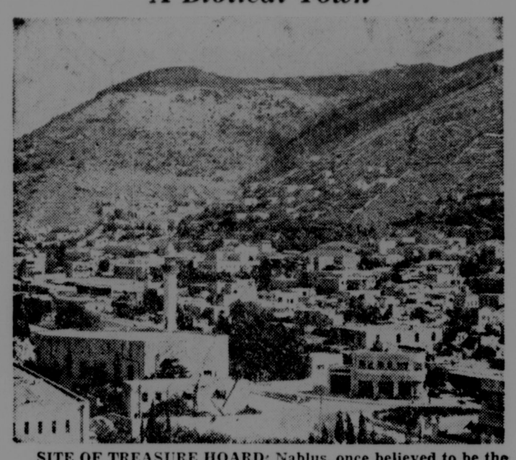
A Biblical Town



SITE OF TREASURE HOARD: Nablus, once believed to be the ancient Shechem of Genesis, was founded by the Roman conqueror Vespasian after his destruction of Jerusalem in what is now Jordan, one of the Bible Lands. Its chief claim to fame is that it is the home of the last remaining member of the Samaritan sect of Jews and it is still visited by tourists for that reason. It is shown here nestling at the foot of Mt. Gerezim, the holy mountain of the Samaritans, where they congregate three times a year for religious ceremonies. A Mosque with minaret appears in the foreground.

"Trick or Treat" Practice to Support Unicef Collections

In an attempt to turn the practice of "trick or treating" into something worthwhile, the Youth Conservation committee of the Oakland Civic club has made plans for the collection of money for the United Nations Children's fund in place of the usual contributions of candy, apples, etc.

The practice of "trick or treat" in some areas has gone far beyond its modest beginnings, and sometimes children are making nightly visits to homes for three weeks prior to Hallowe'en.

Some have considered the practice also dangerous, since people admit into their homes masked persons who are unknown to them.

This year it is planned that containers will be provided for persons to "trick or treat" in which money may be placed for the UNICEF.

The committee presented the plan to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland at Monday night's meeting and the Council set aside Wednesday, October 31, as official UNICEF Hallowe'en. The members of the Oakland Brownie troop, under direction of Mrs. W. Robert Nethken, are making the containers.

In a letter to the Town Council the committee pointed out that money from UNICEF goes to fight against diseases such as malaria and tuberculosis and provides adequate nutrition for growing children. Last year over $520,000 was donated by various groups.

The committee also pointed out that this type of "trick or treat" was being conducted in 6,000 other communities and that the practice was spreading. Various youth groups are being contacted this week in an effort to obtain cooperation of children and parents.

Mrs. W. W. Dawson heads the Civic Club committee working on this project and she is assisted by Mrs. Frederick Thayer and Mrs. Earl Zepp. Mrs. Zepp remarked that a UNICEF Hallowe'en was still traditional with witches and goblins and pointed out that it retained the fun of ringing doorbells with the extra dividend to the community from an unselfish cooperative effort. "This will be a Hallowe'en with a heart," she said.

Board Favors Raise In Teacher Salary

The Board of Education, at a regular meeting on Tuesday unanimously voted in favor of legislation recommended recently by the State Department of Education for salary increases for teachers.

The proposal of the State Department will be presented to the legislature in January. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, reported the findings of the State Department which show a shortage of teachers everywhere in the state with many teachers now being employed who do not have degrees and certificates.

A delegation of three parents from Bittinger asked the board for improvements to the Bittinger school but the board voted to take no action at this time.

The Superintendent reported the grading of the athletic field for Southern High as incomplete because the grading machines were working on the new elementary school. He said the project would be completed this fall, weather permitting.

The board voted to increase the insurance coverage on elementary school buildings in the amount of $210,000. Board members and the Board of County Commissioners visited the new elementary school site. Workmen are grading for the foundation. The boards discussed several changes in the plans. A meeting is also scheduled with the architect on Thursday.

Among other business the board accepted an invitation to meet with the Teachers Institute of Public Affairs on November 27, and an invitation to meet with county principals at Red House school, Wednesday, November 7, which is set for a dinner meeting.

Eight persons received life terms for their part in the famous Brink's robbery.

Letter To The Editor

An Open Letter To Mothers

Dear Mother:

When November 6 rolls around I am hoping and praying that you will not be so busy that you can't get to your voting place and cast your vote Against Dispensary Law in the coming election.

There is one little fact you should remember: Bad laws are passed by good people who think their one little vote is not important and stay home from the polls.

Think of the boys and girls growing up around you—you owe it to them to vote for a better, cleaner and safer county in which to grow up.

Please vote No on November 6. I am a mother whose son went to dwell with God many years ago.

Mrs. Iret Ashby

Letter to the Editor

September 29, 1956

Dear Editor:

On November the sixth we will be given an opportunity to vote for an Act that would permit the sale of alcoholic beverages in Garrett county. This act would permit a main Dispensary in the Town of Oakland. The Liquor Control Board would have power to establish subdispensaries in other locations of Garrett County. This could be in your little village or town.

To us this is not a political issue but a moral responsibility that Garrett County citizens must decide. Therefore we cannot decide the issue on the basis of how much money it will bring into the county or how much extra tax money it will cost the taxpayer, but rather will it benefit us physically, spiritually, culturally and mentally. Two thirds of today's alcoholics began drinking while of high school age. Americans spend five times more on alcohol than they give to the churches. (Churches, two billion dollars; alcohol, ten billion.) Drinking is involved in one out of four fatal traffic accidents. It is our moral obligation to vote X "Against Dispensary Law." Make us strong to do Thy will. Amen.

Don L. Jackson, for
Of Christian Voters.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

From the time of its origin more than 100 years ago the Communist Party has called itself the workers' party and has constantly claimed that its fundamental purpose was to benefit the "working class." This has been only one of the great falsehoods of Communism. Communism was conceived and nurtured by intellectuals, and since coming to power it has been operated by a dictatorship of the elite, with the workers becoming its slaves.

Socialism, likewise, has directed its appeal to the "working class," promising to take over and divide up all the wealth into equal shares for all citizens. But Socialism has succeeded only in distributing equal shares of poverty and slavery among the citizens entangled in its web, while its bureaucracy of intellectuals pulled the strings. History records innumerable incidents in which demagogues—always appealing to the "down trodden," the "working class," the "have nots"—have gained a following, have achieved power, and then have trampled over the very people they championed so eloquently.

With this fact in mind, the recent testimony of Nikolai Khoknlov before the House Un-American Activities Committee ought to be carefully read by every worker, every citizen, throughout the free world.

"At every step the ordinary man in the Soviet Union is treated as a slave," said Khokhlov, former officer of the Russian secret police.

"Let me give you an example. You are a worker in a plant, you don't like your job, but you cannot quit. If you try to leave, the director—or should I say the boss assigned by the party, can always stop you—even arrest you—because you do not have the legal right to leave your job. Or, if you come 20 minutes late on your job, automatically you get a 25 per cent cut in your salary for six months. This is a part of the labor discipline decree published in 1940 and still maintained in force.

"If you came 20 minutes late a second time, you should be brought to trial, carrying a penalty up to one year in jail. This usually doesn't happen because the director of your plant is intereseted in keeping you on the job, and, therefore, he just overlooks it. But he continues to take the 25 per cent of your salary for another six months.

"I would like to stress another point . . . all citizens in the Soviet Union have to have a passport. In other words, an identification booklet, which you may need at any time. In this booklet, besides your personal identifications, your civic status, relation to military service (there also must be recorded) all your movements throughout the country."

Northern Hi Plans Homecoming Event

Homecoming festivities at Northern High school, sponsored by the Student Council, are being planned for Saturday, October 27, at Northern. A football game with Beall High school, Frostburg, will be held on the local field on Saturday afternoon beginning at 1:30 p. m. The coronation of the queen will take place at half time, with the queen being crowned by Willard Hawkins, Superintendent of Schools.

The queen, who was elected by the football squad, will be Kathleen Rush, senior commercial student. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Rush, of Cleveland, O., and resides with her grandmother, Mrs. Rhuie Rush, Accident. As a senior student, Kathy finds time for extra curricular activities by holding membership in the F. B. L. A., Dance club and Library club.

The queen's escort will be Eddie Rush, senior, and co-captain of the Northern Huskies. Eddie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Deleon Rush, of Accident, and a cousin of the queen.

As her attendant, the queen will have Louise Coddington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coddington, Friendsville. A member of the senior class, Louise has been active in many school affairs, particularly as a majorette in the band, in F. B. L. A., Student Council, Photographer's club and class historian.

On Saturday night at 8:00 the Homecoming dance, honoring the Northern Huskies and their queen, will be held in the school gymnasium. Dress will be informal, with the music being furnished by the "Diplomats," from Oakland. The queen for the day will preside over the evening's festivities.

All alumni of Northern High school have been invited to attend the game and the dance.

Miss Irene Sharpe Honored at Dinner

Mrs. E. Z. Tower, who has closely worked with the hospital since it was built and who is a member of the hospital's board of directors, gave a resume of Miss Sharpe's administration. She pointed out the growth achieved by the institution since April, 1952, when Miss Sharpe came to Oakland. During her administration a new wing was completed giving an additional twenty beds and making the capacity of the hospital 54, with fourteen additional bassinettes for a total of twenty-four, with five additional incubators.

She said Miss Sharpe had selected and purchased all furniture and equipment for the new wing at a cost of $29,850 and had supervised the purchase of $14,000 worth of surgical and other equipment. She obtained social security for the hospital personnel, with additional benefits, had rooms redecorated, and employed two additional laboratory technicians and an X-ray expert.

She designed and prepared new birth certificates for the new mothers. Mrs. Tower emphasized her first concern was for the patient's welfare and she read many letters from grateful patients.

She also pointed out Miss Sharpe's qualifications for her work as administrator.

Miss Sharpe expressed her gratitude for the loyalty and cooperation shown to her by so many people in the county and for the help given her by the Loar auxiliary. As an expression of gratitude members presented Miss Sharpe with a pin. Corsages also were presented to Miss Sharpe and Mrs. Tower by Mrs. R. E. Weber. Mrs. Carlton Bowser, president of the auxiliary; Mrs. Ross, dietitian; Mrs. Alva Gortner, former auxiliary president; and Mrs. Willard Swartzentruber, secretary of the group, also made remarks.

The entire group joined in wishing Miss Sharpe success and happiness in any new undertaking.

Little Highlanders Will See Action At Saturday Game

Spectators at the Northern-Southern football game on Saturday are in for a special treat when Coach Eddie Quattro unveils his "Little Highlanders" in an inter-squad game between halves.

This will be the first appearance of Southern's future grid warriors. During the past three weeks they have engaged in intensive drills in preparation for the contest. A total of 35 boys have been reporting each evening for practice. Coach Quattro plans to pit his eighth graders against the ninth graders.

"Even though the ninth graders are one year older, the teams will compare very favorably in height and weight," Quattro said.

Tentative starting lineups appear below:

Scientists Make Great Contributions

(By George Peck, Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

All of us are aware that scientific research has been responsible to a large degree for the great industrial expansion that this nation has experienced and for our ever-bettering standard of living. But I wonder how many of us realize just what a big factor it really has been in making America so outstandingly prosperous among the nations of the world?

Research has been a powerful force in launching new industries and in the success and growth of thousands of established companies and industries. Illustrating just how important business executives consider it is to the continued prosperity and expansion of industry, it is estimated that in 1956, approximately $5.5 billion will be spent by industry in scientific research.

As a result of scientific research, millions of Americans are now gainfully employed helping to produce things that were unknown a few years ago. As cases in point:

A recent statement made by the Proctor and Gamble Company emphasized the fact that in 1955 it was using 105 chemicals that were not in use ten years previously.

The president of General Electric Company recently reported that one out of three workers employed by that company is engaged in making new products that GE did not make in 1939.

Radio Corporation's president is on record to the effect that 80 percent of its more than $1 billion in sales in 1955, was in products and services which did not exist or were not commercially developed just ten years ago.

The experiences of company after company could be cited to prove that from scientific research has come an ever-increasing flow of new products to provide new jobs and to create ever-rising living standards. This makes it imperative that there must come steadily to, scientific research larger numbers of trained recruits to carry on both the basic and practical research activities which will help this country maintain its place at the head of the parade of nations, and with each passing year to make more and more things available to more and more of our people.

Professional scientists command above average salaries and thus maintain for themselves a high standard of living which creates an additional demand for goods and services. Their requirements for housing, automobiles and the various niceties of suburban living have contributed much toward the trend to decentralization from many of our badly-overcrowded metropolitan centers.

The nation's outstanding universities are contributing much to keeping up the supply of scientific researchers; private corporations are doing their bit; industrial research laboratories are on the job; and to the efforts of these agencies credit must also be given to government, which is also rendering yeoman service in this field.

Many of the individual states have departments devoted to economic development involving research. There are also numerous local industrial foundations and commissions active in developing scientific researchers. Commercial banks and other financial institutions also have fingers in the pie. Many of these agencies work together, as for example, a number of universities cooperate with industry both on—and off—campus research programs in realization of the fact that the education of the trained scientist is never done.

Despite all of these activities that are in operation to improve and broaden the opportunities available to our scientists, much more can be done to attract young men and women to this nation's laboratories.

Undoubtedly, the most important of these things that can be done is to keep the economic climate in a sound and healthy condition. This means stoutly resisting any and all attempts to further socialize our economy and to put government further into competition with private industry.

State Puts Cropland In Grass and Trees

Nearly 5,000 acres of cropland were converted to grass and trees last year by Maryland farmers in the state's 23 soil conservation districts, according to Edward M. Davis, state conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service.

This is significant of the interest farmers have shown in shifting their poorer acres to grass and trees—a move that will be given added stimulus by the conservation reserve of the Soil Bank Act, the conservationist said.

In a summary statement, he said as of June 30 Maryland farmers had:

1. Planted 11,000 acres in trees,
2. Planted more than 60,000 acres to permanent pasture,
3. Constructed more than 2,000 farm ponds,
4. Applied contour farming to nearly 221,000 acres,
5. Strip cropped over 158,000 acres,
6. Constructed 452 miles of diversion terraces and,
7. Improved drainage on more than 128,000 acres. This drainage was accomplished with some 3,000 miles of open drain and 900,000 feet of drain tile.

Over 15,000 farmers cooperated with the state's soil conservation districts. These farmers farmed 2.2 million acres of farmland in the 23 districts.

Of interest to relatives and friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Patricia A. Beckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Beckman, of Terra Alta, W. Va., and Cpl. Arthur H. Bateman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bateman, of Swanton.

The Rev. Charles W. Carlson officiated at the double ring ceremony in the St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, on September 17 at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Jacqueline Myers, as maid of honor, wore a street length dress of navy blue. Her flowers were white carnations with pink rosebuds.

As best man Cpl. Bateman had his brother-in-law, Charles Wiles, of Westernport.

A honeymoon trip was canceled due to illness of the bride's father.

Speaks To Rotarians On New Industry

J. Edward Helbig, former County Commissioner, spoke to members of the Oakland Rotary club last Friday night on the new agricultural industry in the county, that of cucumber raising.

Last Friday Miss Susan Holzinger, a Rotary Fellow for the school year of 1955-56 at the Australian National university, delivered the talk.

Seeks Reduction Of Delinquent Tax Accounts

Delinquent tax accounts are being reduced in Garrett and Allegany counties, according to John Hutson, Designated Representative of Internal Revenue for this area, but he said the reduction will not permit any letup in enforcement action by collection officers.

Mr. Hutson pointed out that delinquent accounts in Garrett and Allegany counties as of August 31, totaled 604, tax due $275,380.95. Hutson emphasized that in fairness to the vast majority of taxpayers who meet their obligations fully and promptly, he is determined to collect these outstanding accounts by use of legal procedures provided by the Internal Revenue Code.

Hutson said that over 20 of the delinquent accounts are trust fund accounts, which represents amounts withheld by employers for income and social security taxes and not turned over to the Internal Revenue Service.

Hutson said that the collection of delinquent accounts will be enforced by levy on salaries, seizure and sale of available assets and possible criminal action if necessary.

Two Persons Injured

Two persons were injured this week, painfully but not seriously, in two events that were in no way related.

Patricia Leighton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leighton, was struck by an automobile last Thursday evening on the corner of Alder and Third streets. She received a cut on one knee and other bruises but was not seriously hurt.

The automobile was driven by a Mr. Kildow, from Ohio. X-rays were taken but no bones were broken.

J. Thomas Cain, manager of the West Maryland Power company, fell off the porch of the house of the Sisters of Mercy last Sunday night and injured his face. He had just delivered some ice cream to the Sisters and was returning to his home when the accident happened. He sustained a gash in his forehead and nose. A quantity of gravel and dirt was so deeply imbedded that it was necessary to graft some skin. The porch was about three feet high at the site of the mishap.

Rebirth of Coal Activity at Shallmar

A series of articles on the resumption of activities around the Shallmar mine is being printed in the Cumberland Evening Times. The mine was opened around 1917 in the lower Kittanning seam and the main heading extends nearly one mile into the mountain at the present time.

The mine produced 73,852 tons in 1947, employed 77 miners and was in operation on 207 days. The following year it was 38,322 tons with 73 miners working 116 days. In 1949 the mine produced only 4,495 tons, only 19 days of work for 55 miners.

In 1950 the mine did not operate and many of the men moved from the community. But since 1951 production has been slowly increasing.

Now they are ready to put out a peak rate of 100,000 tons a year within a few short weeks, if the market is ready. The company has enough reserve to produce for 25 years or more. The firm's holdings lay between Wolf Den Run and Lost Land Run.

Tonnage figures show 627 for 1951; 1,536 for 1952, 1,850 for 1953, 6,321 for 1954 and 7,720 for 1955. This year's production will be far above last year's tonnage.

The big fan used to ventilate the mile-deep mine has been overhauled and is being used, and the haulways have been kept free of rock falls. New cars have been built and equipment kept in operating shape. Electric locomotives have been kept in use and the arcwall cutting machines stored and ready for operation.

City Council Has Routine Business

The council decided to purchase a new pump for the Water Department, to be used at the springhouse for pumping water into the reservoirs. The cost was set at $1,375 and delivery is to be made in sixty days.

Two permits were granted, one to Ernest Colaw, Sr., Center street, for an addition of a back porch to his dwelling; and to A. D. Naylor, for a one-room addition 10 by 30, on his Liberty street building, to be used as an office.

Receipts amounted to $4,486.96 with $271.80 from water accounts, $1,850.22 for taxes and $2,364.94 for miscellaneous. Among the miscellaneous items was $745.98 for parking meters and $1,200 for the C. and A. Gas franchise. Expenditures amounted to $9,271.64, leaving $10,011.91 as a balance as of September 30.

Sunday movie tax amounted to $63.25. The council noted a price of $1,467 for a sluice gate for Wilson creek, on Fourth street, but there was no decision to purchase.

The Mt. City Band was given permission to conduct its Hallowe'en parade and carnival on Thursday evening, November 1. The Council also contributed $150 to the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce for Christmas decorations.

Is Your Name LEE?

Do you know that:

LEE, an old and honored surname, is principally of English and Scottish origins. Of relatively simple derivation, it was bestowed in mediaeval times upon those who lived at the "lea or meadow." A branch of the Lee family was resident in the Province of Connaught, Ireland, as far back as the 11th century, and it is said that their name stems from the Gaelic "laoieah" meaning "poetic." Equivalent names to Lee are Lees, Lea, Leigh and Legge.

Richard Lee, who died in 1664, was the ancestor of the noted Lee family of Virginia. He came to Virginia from England in about the year 1641, settling in York County and later moving to Northumberland County. His descendants include Richard Henry Lee (1732-1794) and his brother Robert Lightfoot Lee (1734-1797), both of whom were signers of the Declaration of Independence, and also Robert E. Lee, who was commander of the armies of the Confederacy.

Numerous genealogies of the Lee family have been published. One is entitled "Genealogical History of the Lee Family of Virginia and Maryland from 1300 to 1866" and was compiled by Edward Campbell Mead of New York City and published in 1868.

Thomas Sim Lee (1745-1819) was governor of Maryland from 1779 to 1782 and from 1792 to 1794.

The first Circuit Court, held in Garrett county, convened on May 19, 1873. Robert E. Lee was a member of the grand jury at that time.

James W. Lee was a school trustee of Oak Hill school, Accident District No. 5, Garrett county, for the year ending May, 1882.

Morris John Lee is a major general, U. S. Air Force.

Elliott Hugh Lee is vice-president, Guaranty Trust company of New York.

Charles Marston Lee, an educator of note, is president, Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pa.

It Runs Through My Mind

Trick or Treat for UNICEF

"Trick or Treat for UNICEF" is Hallowe'en with a heart. It makes Hallowe'en a day when the youngsters of America share their "treats" with needy boys and girls throughout the world. Started in 1950 by one church, the idea has swept across the country and truly belongs to the youth of America. A UNICEF Hallowe'en is traditional with spooks, witches, and goblins; it retains all the fun of ringing door bells, parties, apple bobbing and the collection of treats.

But there is one big difference. The "treats" these young ambassadors of good-will collect are pennies, nickles and dimes, which through UNICEF will treat less fortunate children to milk, medicine and care. Our Hallowe'en ghosts thus help ward off real ghosts of hunger, disease and fear which dominate the lives of two thirds of the world's' children.

I have been casually aware that some communities have been giving one night of "treats" to children who stand at the door with milk bottle in hand, but it wasn't until I saw Danny Kaye's movie of his good will tour around the world for UNICEF that I realized how important a movement it is becoming.

This week we brought the matter before the local 4-H club and through them we learned that the Methodist Youth Fellowship is already planning to launch a program this month. The Oakland Civic club is also supporting the idea. It doesn't matter who does the job—just so it gets done. I hope they get 100 percent backing from our community.

If other communities would like to do the same thing the U.S. Committee for UNICEF, United Nations, New York, can send you all the information you need. You might also be able to get Danny Kaye's movie which is about as entertaining as Hans Christian Anderson.

We're Ready for a Fair

There's been a planning committee appointed to see about getting a county fair started, but after seeing the one at Northern High last week I'm inclined to believe that it has already started. Surely the nucleus is there.

There is nothing quite so good or sound as an activity that grows out of a need and by people who want to satisfy that need. From what I gathered by talking to folks this school and community fair has grown out of a small agricultural fair at Accident High sponsored by the ag classes.

Now the school is larger and the exhibits are more numerous, extending into every area of the school, into the homes, farm and commercial groups. All it lacked was the smell of hot dogs frying in stale fat, high pitched voices shouting, "See the world's greatest . . ." and the calliope on the merry-go-round. Had I gone in the evening I wouldn't have even missed these amusements, for Northern had their own concessions which were as successful as the fair itself.

Mr. Muha explained that this type of concession took less money out of our people's pockets than commercial amusements and all the money was kept in the community.

How smart Garrett county would be if they'd adopt the same philosophy should they have a fair—provide our own amusements as Helvetia, Randolph county, W. Va., does.

I was really thrilled with the exhibits in the women's department. They had ever so many more than were at the Preston County fair and the quality was superior except in the area of cut needle work and aprons. Some of the rugs looked like a master hand had created them. Quilts were nice also. There was the feel of neatness and pride everywhere, which is as good for the exhibitor as for those viewing them.

If we do have a county fair I hope it has the same tone as Northern had. Let the people get their thrills from perfection of products or oddities in nature and from learning through educational exhibits.

Yes, Northern has started something that looks sound. If they can reach out and take the whole county in, maybe our county fair is already on its way.

Sales Tax Yields Over $41 Million In State For 1956

Maryland's Sales and Use Tax collections during the fiscal year ending June 30, reached a new high of $41,856,334.50, according to J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller. The collections showed an increase of $6,857,549.61.

Baltimore City continued to be the largest source of revenue with collections of $19,184,573.97, 45.83 percent of the total. Montgomery, Prince Georges, Anne Arundel, Baltimore and Washington counties produced the highest revenues among the counties.

Much of the yearly increase is due to amendments to the Retail Sales and Use Tax acts, approved by the 1955 General Assembly.

Retail sales were pushed to higher levels through the mediums of population growth, a record level of employment together with higher consumer incomes, a sustained construction boom, particularly in the field of new plant facilities, with a resumption of upward trends in most price levels.

The breakdown of figures for this county showed $11,800 for food and beverage classification; $2,172 for apparel; $33,190 for general merchandise; $22,108 for automotive; $5,330 for furniture and appliances; $11,885 for building materials and contractors; $27,291 for utilities and transportation and $9,923 for miscellaneous. All showed increases over the previous year except the miscellaneous group.

A further breakdown showed receipts from the following: In the food and beverage group, independent grocery stores, $7,135.80; meat markets, $190.97; dairy products, $520.62; candy and confectionery, $338.50; restaurants, $1,905.13; taverns and night clubs, $1,708.60.

Under apparel group: Men's and boys' clothing, $7.30; women's clothing, $38.26; infants' clothing, $429.70; family clothing stores, $1,696.58.

Under general merchandise group: Department stores, $1,789.20; limited price variety stores, $1,843.39; drug stores, $2,067.89; jewelry, leather, sporting goods, $1,018.65; general stores, rural, $6,864.47; feed and seed stores, $1,788.31; hardware, paints, tools, $7,717.76; farm implement dealers, $4,179.24; general merchandise stores, $5,755.43; second hand stores, $143.59; dry goods stores, $21.97.

Under automotive group: motor vehicle dealers, $4,435.71; auto accessories, tires, parts, $2,497.83; service stations and oil companies, $3,268.69; garages and repair shops, $10,403.36; motorboat and yacht dealers, $186.53; chain stores, automotive, $1,316.08.

Under miscellaneous: Hotels, rooming houses, $1,840.44; tourist courts, motels, $889.54; auctioneers, $24.97; barber and beauty shops, $23.94; book stores and publishers, $157.50; bowling and billiard halls, $13.45; florists and nurserymen, $555.54; fuel dealers, $5,164.44; funeral directors, monuments, $189.48; scrap metal, junk yards, $23.09; laundry, $109.10; machine shop and steel products, $59.85; horse, cattle and pet dealers, $1.55; printers, job and newspaper, $262.37; gifts, novelty shops, $314.51; resort and amusement places, $83.69; social clubs, associations, $209.15; Christmas season vendors, $1.50.

Mr. Tawes said the collections remain one of the leading sources of revenue for the states general fund and furnished 28.17 percent of all general fund revenues totaling $148,007,255.82 for fiscal 1956.

Principal expenditure of the General Fund revenue continues to be directed toward the support of education. Next in importance are disbursements for health, hospitals and mental hygiene.

Man Is Awarded Verdict Of $5,000

After deliberating about six hours a Garrett County Circuit court jury awarded a $5,000 verdict to Steve Adams, of Consolidation Village, Frostburg, in a damage suit brought against the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company.

Adams was one of 11 members of his family who contended they became ill November 29, 1953, after eating some lettuce which had been purchased two days earlier from the A and P store in Frostburg.

Mrs. Mary Adams, his wife, also brought suit against the store but when the case was first heard in Allegany county May 5, 1955, it ended with a hung jury. Subsequently the Mary Adams case was moved to Washington county and a jury in that court in July returned a verdict in favor of the A and P.

The Steve Adams suit, also filed in Allegany county circuit court, was subsequently moved to Garrett county for trial.

Why God Says No!

Lesson for October 14, 1956

A QUESTION often asked about the Ten Commandments is this: Why are they all in the negative? It all seems to be "Don't, don't." Does God hang chains on us to hamper our freedom? Is God more interested in stopping us from what we want to do than in showing us what to do? Why the emphasis on the negative? Isn't Christian morality, right living before God, a positive thing? Can a set of prohibitions be a solid base for life today?

Dr. Foreman

"Don't" Is a Useful Word

Let's look at this a little. For one thing, it must be remembered that the Ten Commandments, as they are called, were not invented by Moses or first revealed to him. We know that centuries before Moses, wise men were saying it already, and it is pretty safe to suppose that most people knew it,—namely that stealing and killing and adultery are wrong. The reason Moses gave the Ten Commandments was not that either he or God had just discovered them. These Commandments came out in their present form (or possibly a shorter form, enlarged later) for the benefit and guidance of a very primitive people, just out of slavery where they and their forefathers had been for generations. For people like that "Don't" is easier to understand than "Do." A little child can be saved from being hurt or killed just by learning the meaning of the little word NO. "Don't" is a useful word. It is simpler, too, to say "Don't" than "Do." Learning to do well takes time, and brains too. You don't have to learn to stop. You don't have to be a "brain" to stop doing wrong. So the Ten Commandments begin at the right end, the simple end. "Thou shalt not," or "Don't," in other words, is not the whole of what goodness means; but it is a good place to begin.

Under Control

Nowadays it is not popular to mention such words or ideas as discipline, self-control, temperance, or restraint; but these are good things in their place, and no life is good that ignores them. Doing what you want to do when you feel like doing it without asking anybody is a small boy's dream, but it is no way for a grown man or woman to live. This is another reason why so many of the Ten Commandments begin with "Don't." Brakes say "No" to a car, and a car without brakes isn't safe for a minute. Stakes say "No" to sprawling vines, but the vines are the better for being tied up. Pruning shears say "No" to grape-vines; but unpruned grapevines soon run down. Rails say "No" to train wheels; and when the wheels (so to speak) decide to go where they please, you have a wreck. "Doing what comes naturally" may be silly, sinful, even criminal. Impulses can be harmful and hateful. Instincts may be warped or exaggerated. The disciplined, self-controlled life is not a life of mere repression; but if there is no repression anywhere, if there is no response and obedience when God says "No," then life becomes a tangle like an untrimmed grape vine, a smash-up like a train that tries to cross a field without rails.

Every Don't Has a Do!

Every "don't" has a matching "do" of some kind. Thou shalt not steal means also, Thou shalt not waste property, Thou shalt conserve the earth's resources. Thou shalt respect property. When you see a farmer using intelligent methods to prevent or cure soil erosion, you may think about it, and he may not; but he is trying to prevent stealing or wasting the land on which future generations may depend. He is obeying the Eighth Commandment. But such a farmer shows that right living consists not merely in refusing to commit a certain small list of selected crimes; right living is not only not stealing land (for example) from the rising generation, right living includes also doing all one can to pass on to those who shall come after, land that shall have become—because wisely used—more fertile and fruitful than it was before. In the same way with all other commandments, every Don't! has a Do! Thou shalt not kill means not only committing no murder, shortening no life; it means contributing to life and health all we can, wherever we can. "Temperance" is not mere restriction, it is not life-denying; it is life-building.

Proposed Changes To Constitution Are Explained In Detail

The League of Women Voters of Maryland, as a public service, has prepared detailed information on the proposed amendments to the Constitution of Maryland, to be voted on November 6.

It was explained that an amendment is an alteration or addition to the state constitution. It must be passed by three-fifths of the members of both houses of the General Assembly and be submitted to the qualified voters of the state for adoption or rejection at the next general election.

The main points in the explanation of the proposed amendments:

ABSENTEE VOTING—Proposing to enlarge right of General Assembly to permit absentee voting by allowing ill or disabled persons confined to a hospital or bed to vote, regardless of whether they are in or out of their district. Presently only ill or disabled persons out of their ward or election district may vote by absentee ballot, allowing some ill or disabled persons to vote while barring others. A "For" vote will mean that ill or disabled registered voters unable to go to their polling places because they are confined to hospital or bed may vote by absentee ballot.

OMNIBUS CONSTITUTION AMENDMENT— Proposing repeal to certain sections of the Constitution of Maryland removing from the constitution certain obsolete, outmoded or incorrect material. A "for" vote would mean that the Constitution will have deleted from it material which is now out of date and will bring reference to specific years up to date. It does not in any way change the import of the constitution. An "against" vote will mean the Constitution remains exactly as is.

BILL INTRODUCTION — To change present method of introduction of bills in General Assembly. At present, during last 10 days of the session bills may originate in either House only with approval of two-thirds of the members. The proposed change would limit the introduction of bills, under the same voting rules, during the last 10 days of even-number years 30-day sessions and the last 20 days of odd-numbered year 90-day sessions.

RECESS APPOINTMENTS — Proposing change in method of confirming or rejecting gubernatorial appointments made while Senate is recessed, from the present system of submitting such recess appointments to the Senate within thirty days after the next meeting of the Legislature to a system whereby the recess appointments are submitted to the Senate on the first day of the next regular session. A "for" vote will mean that appointments must be submitted for Senate confirmation on first day of regular session.

BUDGET PRESENTATION — Proposes to change budget procedure which now provides for governor to submit budget to General Assembly within 20 days after it convenes in odd-numbered years, but allows a newly elected governor 30 days for such budget submission. The amendment, if approved, would remove the exception for newly elected governors and cause the 20-day provision to apply to all governors.

ORPHANS' COURT JUDGES— Proposes to change Constitution as to present system of paying Orphans' Court judges only for days such judges are actually in session to a system of compensation as may be regulated by law. A "for" vote will mean the compensation for judges of orphans' courts will be newly fixed by legislation and that the compensation need not be on a per diem basis.

COUNTY COUNCIL SESSIONS —Proposes that Councils of Counties having a charter form of government, instead of sitting not more than one month in a year for enacting legislation, shall have the right to sit for not more than 45 days, which need not be consecutive, and legislation may be enacted during those designated days. A "for" vote will give counties having charter form of government right to hold sessions for not more than 45 days during a year and that the 45 days may be spread out if desired.

Also there are two referendum questions on the Garrett county ballot, one on the question of making it legal to set up a county dispensary system for the sale of liquor, and another on whether or not the people of the county would like to have daylight time automatically each year from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September.

Corn Stalk Rot Can Reduce Yields

Corn stalk rot makes mechanical picking difficult and reduces corn yields. Corn stalk rot also causes stalks to rot and break-over, causes premature ripening and rotting of the ears. These three symptoms of stalk rot may cut corn yields considerable says Dr. L. O. Weaver, University of Maryland plant pathologist.

What can you do to control this disease which also attacks cereal crops such as wheat, barley and rye?, many farmers ask.

Crop rotation and plowing under crop residues is part of the answer given by Dr. Weaver. Spores that cause the disease, develop in crop residues left on top of the ground. Root and stalk rots become evident soon after pollination and increase until the crop matures. The disease is spread to the ears by spore laden winds. "Plow under stalks and straw to bury these spores and reduce the chances of having an infected crop next year," says the pathologist.

Reports also indicate that insufficient potash in the soil favors rot. Hight nitrate levels too, may increase stalk rot. These soil conditions indicate a need for balanced plant fool supplies as well as adequate fertility.

Some corn hybrids are more resistant to rot than others. Dr. Weaver suggests finding out which hybrids give the best yields and are resistant to rot in your part of the state before ordering seed.

Southern Speaks

BY KATHRYN HAUSER

We said our team was improving. To prove it Southern's Highlanders defeated the St. Francis team by a score of 6-0 last Friday, October 5, on the opponent's field.

County Game

Saturday, October 13, will see many of Southern's students, faculty and friends on the home field as the Highlanders will play their opposing team of the county, the Northern Huskies. This is a game that is looked forward to each year by many, since Southern and Northern are the only two high schools in Garrett County.

Immediately before the game there will be a parade. The Student Council and other interested organizations in the school will have floats in the parade led by the "snappy" Red and White band.

Individual school pictures will be taken on Monday and Tuesday, October 15 and 16. If you happen to peek in Southern's doors on one of these dates you will see sharply dressed students ready to take their turn at seeing the "birdie," and maybe even have a taste of "peaches and cream," or the inevitable "cheese."

P.-T.A. Nursery

The first P.-T.A. meeting of the season will be held at Southern on Monday, October 15. The Future Teachers will look after the children while the parents are at the meeting. The Future Teachers plan to read to the children, play records, let them sing and play, and enjoy other entertainment. It is hoped many parents will take advantage of this opportunity.

Visit Plant

Mr. Burley's chemistry class is to go to Luke to visit the Luke paper mill on Thursday, October 11. Members will tour the entire plant and will enjoy their lunch in one of the restaurants.

Land Judging

SEAL-O-MATIC
ASPHALT SHINGLES
defy wind and water

In an actual test J-M Seal-O-Matic Shingles withstood the terrific blasts of an aircraft engine. Wind and water were driven at 100 m.p.h. against a panel of these shingles for an hour, with frequent gusts up to 140 miles per hour . . . not a tab lifted . . . not a drop leaked through.

Here's the secret of this amazing shingle. A stripe of special petroleum resin is factory-applied on the underside of each shingle. The sun's heat seals it to the underlying shingle, defying even high winds to pry it loose. Drop in and let us give you a personal demonstration of these patented Seal-O-Matic Shingles.

PAYCHECK ENEMY NO. 1: Unexpected hospital expenses

You won't want to think about bills and budgets when sudden illness lays your "Little Leaguer" low. The important thing is to get him back in the lineup. But when he's back in the batter's box, scowling at the pitcher, your problems may be only beginning—if you haven't planned to meet them.

Luckily, planning to meet unexpected hospital expenses is easy, when you belong to Blue Cross, the non-profit plan to pre-pay hospital expenses.

Today over 950,000 Marylanders have, through membership in Blue Cross, broad realistic protection against the expense of sudden illness or accident.

Key to Blue Cross:
"Service Benefits"

The heart of Blue Cross is hospital care. Blue Cross's way of providing for the hospital care you may need is "service benefits." These are, to put it simply, agreements between Blue Cross and the member hospitals to provide the hospital care you need.

The emphasis, you see, is on care—not cash. Blue Cross does not give you dollars to help pay your hospital bills. Instead Blue Cross, through its "service benefits" pays the hospital directly for the services covered in your membership. You don't have to file a claim, or wait for reimbursement. Dollar payments are often not enough to cover hospital bills. Blue Cross records show that Blue Cross "service benefits" do often cover a subscriber's hospital expenses in full.

Find out now about Blue Cross

If there is a Blue Cross group where you work, ask your employer how you may join it. If there is no Blue Cross group where you work, and there are five or more people employed there, ask your employer about getting Blue Cross protection for you. You may get information about Blue Cross by calling the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory, or by writing for a free booklet to: Blue Cross, Dept. 1030, 200 West Baltimore St., Baltimore 1, Maryland.

That the Defendants, Eva C. Compton and Eleanor C. Compton, are non-residents of the State of Maryland, residing at 715 Broad Street, Sewickley, Pennsylvania.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission

"Confused Candidate"

In the past week Mr. Adlai E. Stevenson has shown a side of his character which neither his personal nor his political friends can take much pride in or view with very great satisfaction. What he seems to have demonstrated is that he is one of those politicans who can "dish it out" but can't "take it."

* * *

For example, in recent speeches and statements, which pour out from his press agents in a steady stream, he has accused President Eisenhower of a number of more or less heinous offenses. He asserts that the President is dominated by the "Big Business" interests and cares nothing about the welfare of the "small farmer" and "small business man." He alleges that he is a feeble President who has neglected his duties and is against the working men and women. He alleges that he has broken his promises, bungled our foreign policies and falsely claimed credit for many things which he did not do at all. He blames Mr. Eisenhower for the failure to provide for more schools for American children and higher pay for their teachers.

* * *

In brief he has personally misrepresented the Eisenhower record and aspersed the Eisenhower motives. And for this he was vociferously cheered by the Truman "give-'em-hell" elements of his party, though some of his journalistic supporters expressed a certain degree of disappointment. Though he made these charges with great vigor and a show of spurious indignation, for none of them did Mr. Stevenson present any data or supporting facts. In brief, he made the charges but offered no proof, merrily going his wise-cracking way across the country, as though there were no reason in the world to bother about whether or not he was justified in what he said.

* * *

That is, he did go along merrily until on Monday last, the President, without mentioning his name, called the good Adlai a "confused candidate" and declared that he was talking a lot of "wicked nonsense." In support of this the President presented various facts and figures. He likewise asserted that it was Mr. Stevenson's own party which had killed his educational bill in the last session of Congress. He further cited various other legislative action which Mr. Stevenson now favors but the passage of which the Democrats in Congress had blocked. Did Mr. Stevenson answer these Eisenhower figures and facts with any of his own? He did not. What did he do? He bleated.

That is the only word to describe his reply. He deplored the alleged fact that the President had now taken the "low road" in this campaign which previously, he declared, had been followed by his running mate Mr. Nixon. He said that always in a political campaign a good deal of nonsense was talked and he did not mind being accused of talking "nonsense." What he did resent was being accused of talking "wicked" nonsense. He was hurt by such an adjective, which he said implied evil, and felt that the President should not have used such "loose and reckless" language.

What does Mr. Stevenson expect when he himself uses "loose and reckless" language? Does he want to be petted when he accused a decent and honorable man of breaking his word and of deliberate bad faith? Particularly, does he just think it is nonsense to make accusations of this sort without offering proof or even attempting to do so? Does he not think it is wicked and evil to bear false wifness? Most people do. What are he and his coon-skin running mate crying about anyhow? It might be better for them in the long run to stop trying to convince the voters that Mr. Eisenhower is a fraud and a fool and continue along the old demagogic line of promising all the voting groups everything they want. In some ways their campaign reminds of a young candidate in Maryland for the House of Delegates years ago. He was an inexperienced, rather bibulous and attractive young man with a heavy Harvard accent. Just before he was to make his first speech his political advisers said to him: "Now listen, pal, you want to make a good impression in this speech. So don't get tight and start talking over their heads. They are just common ordinary fellows."

"Oh," said the candidate, "leave it to me. I know how to talk to the common, ordinary man." With that he walked on the platform and said: "My fellow citizens. I come before you as a candidate for your vote. You are entitled to know where I stand. This is my platform. (1) Up with the Mahsses; (2) Down with the Clahsses; (3) Give the Peopul a Chawance." He was not elected but he enjoyed himself and got quite a large vote.

Be Sure to Vote . . . .

This is about the time of year that "Get Out the Vote" campaigns swing into high gear. It's a rare citizen who doesn't read and hear that voting is both a privilege and a duty. Since it is, why won't they believe it?

Almost any man or woman you meet is willing to tell you how the country should be run. We often hear, "If I were president," or "if I were a senator." Most of us aren't but we ARE citizens and that, too, entails a responsibility, not just as to how things SHOULD be but ARE run. We have but one voice, but we do have a voice and there is no denying that one voice here, one voice there, add up to all voices, everywhere.

We are fortunate to be a part of America where everyone is not only asked but urged to express an opinion. Each individual is not permitted to have his own way but we are given the great opportunity to have a part in selecting the individuals who will be our leaders. It is just plain negligence on our part if we don't take it.

Anyone can mark an X on a ballot or pull the handle of a voting machine. But it takes some extra effort to vote intelligently. You wouldn't buy a new car without at least driving it around the block. You wouldn't buy a new house without checking on the neighborhood, the schools, the amount of taxes. So don't vote in the dark in this election year, but be mighty sure to vote. Listen to what candidates are saying. Read newspapers. Talk things out with your neighbors, and take part in discussion groups. Think about the issues and the candidates—and then make up your own mind.

Step behind the curtain with pride on election day. Then vote as a free American.

711 On Excursion

For the second autumn glory excursion there were 711 persons from Washington, Baltimore and Silver Spring who took advantage of the outing and thirty-mile bus tour of the county. This made over one thousand for the two jaunts which was well below the number attending last year.

The twenty bus loads of excursionists were taken to Swallow Falls and Deep Creek Lake and at Swallow Falls were taken on a tour of the area and shown numerous exhibits placed there by the State Forestry Department. The day was considered an ideal one and bus operators reported that all comments by the participants were very favorable and complimentary.

Northern High School Has Traveling Science Library

Northern High school at Cove has been chosen as one of 100 schools in the United States to receive during 1956-57 the Traveling High School Science Library, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, both located in Washington, D. C. This is an experimental program, now in its second year, designed to determine the influence upon the better than average high school student of an outstanding collection of science books for his voluntary assigned reading.

"The program," said P. J. Muha, principal of Northern, "recognizes that most science careers begin in high school. Therefore it is important that the superior students receive every facility and encouragement to broaden their scientific and mathematical knowledge and to deepen their interest."

The program was originated because of the conviction of the major national scientific organizations that concerted action must be taken to assure an adequate supply of scientific manpower. It will test the reactions of students to good science books.

The traveling library consists of 200 books chosen by leading scientists, mathematicians, librarians and science teachers. Twenty-five sets of books are being circulated in different parts of the country. Each school receives 50 books at a time, beginning October 1, which may be used for two months until the end of the school year when the local school will have had an opportunity to use all 200 books. The program involves no cost to the schools. Transportation charges and other expenses are paid by the sponsoring agencies.

The National Science Foundation, which finances the program, is an agency of the U.S. government, established to promote the progress of science and supports several programs to improve and extend education in the sciences. The American Association for the Advancement of Science, which administers the program, was organized in 1848.

BORROWS FIRST BOOK—Patricia Ann McKenzie borrows the first Traveling Science Library book from Glenna Frazee at Northern High School where program is being sponsored by National Science Foundation and American Association for Advancement of Science. Standing behind the desk are Melvin E. Kesner, librarian, left, and Charles F. Strauss, head of the Science department.

Sybert Says Courts Must Decide Case

The legality of a paper ballot vote in the November election in this county must be left up to the courts, according to a statement by C. Ferdinand Sybert, attorney general of Maryland.

The Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors voted to use paper ballots after that board and the County Commissioners could not agree on the type of voting machine to buy.

A law passed in the 1956 General Assembly makes it mandatory to use voting machines in the November 6 election. However, there is an "escape clause" in the measure, the bill stating that paper ballots may be used in the event of emergency or other unusual circumstance.

Sybert said that federal elections are conducted on state regulations and the matter of legality of paper ballots in face of the wording of the voting machine bill would have to be decided by the courts, he declared. He noted that the main issue in the Garrett county test case would be:

"Is inability to agree to be construed as an unusual circumstance in the true meaning of the law?"

The voting machine hassle in the county goes back to last year. Commissioners H. D. Swartzentruber and A. C. Brenneman, and William Treacy, Democratic member of the Election board are on one side; with Commissioner Ervin Roth and Election Supervisors William L. Gibson and Francis W. Sanders on the other. Neither side will budge.

The election board voted about two weeks ago to ask both the Shoup and Automatic voting machine companies for new bids for 36 combination machines, returnable before October 31. In the original bidding the Shoup machine was the least expensive.

Set Date For Hearing

The County Commissioners have set Monday, October 29, at 10 a. m., for a hearing in regard to two beer licenses and what disposition will be made of them.

Notification of the hearing is being sent to Guy Hinebaugh and Paul Kemphfer. Kemphfer is commander of Proctor Kildow Post, American Legion.

At the recent term of court Hinebaugh pleaded guilty to a charge of selling whisky and was fined $500 and costs. The Legion Home in Oakland also entered a plea of guilty to a charge of permitting whisky to be sold on the premises. At that time the state's attorney dismissed a charge against Paul Kemphfer as Legion proprietor, on a charge of sale of whisky. The Legion Home also was fined $500 and costs.

The hearing on the two beer licenses is to determine whether or not their licenses are to be revoked, in compliance with the beer law.

Fruit Cakes Here

The fruit cakes that the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club members will sell this season have arrived and will go on sale for the first time on Saturday, October 20, it was announced by Robert W. Lohr, president. A booth is to be maintained by club members on Second street in Oakland every Saturday night, in front of the West Maryland Power company.

Three and five pound cakes will be sold for $3 and $5. Money derived from the sale of the cakes will be used for community projects.

A house to house canvass of Oakland and Mt. Lake Park will be held Monday evening, November 19.

Seven Clear Days

Some kind of a record has been established for this year. Actually there have been seven days without rain, and all of them have been mostly clear and warm, with light frost in the early mornings.

The temperature climbed to 79 on one day and 78 on another to make it more summery than summer itself actually was.

Extends Rural Route

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde (R. Md.) announced this week that the Post Office Department has approved the extension of Rural Route 2, Friendsville, to benefit three additional families on this Route. The extension will become effective on October 20.

Soil Bank Deadline Has Been Extended

The final date for signing contracts under the 1956 Soil Bank Conservation Reserve Program has been extended to November 30, according to an announcement by H. Robert DeWitt, Chairman of the County A. S. C. Committee.

Farmers are not eligible to enroll at the present time unless they have tillable land which was not cropped or pastured this year. Mr. DeWitt stated that another sign-up period would be provided after January 1, for those farmers wishing to participate in the program beginning with the 1957 calendar year.

8 Farmers Receive Honor Roll Awards

In association No. 2—Daniel O'Brien, with 9,349 average and 454.3 butterfat content; Ross Crowe, 10,064, with 445.

Records showed there were 69 cows in association No. 2 that produced an average of 400 pounds of butterfat or over, and 117 in association No. 1 that produced the same or over. These cows completed their lactation during the testing year.

It was pointed out that the national average was 9,502 pounds of milk with 375 pounds of butterfat. The state average was 8,999 pounds of milk with 361 pounds of butterfat. The county average was 8,322 pounds of milk with 363.9 pounds of butterfat. The average cow in association No. 1 produced 9,002 pounds of milk with 385.9 pounds of butterfat, while the average cow in association No. 2 produced 8,322 pounds of milk with 363.9 pounds of butterfat.

John Dietrich, extension dairyman, University of Maryland, presented a discussion on feeding supplimentary feeds when faced with the problem of poor roughage.

There were 23 herds in association 2 and 15 herds in association 1 that completed a year's test during the association year which runs from August 1 through July 31. At present there are 20 herds in association 1 located in Grantsville area, and 26 herds in association 2, located in the Oakland area.

Marilyn Sue Niner, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Fred Niner, of Sand Flat, is a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital suffering from injuries received when she was struck by a truck last Friday evening on U.S. route 219.

It is understood the child dashed out onto the road in the path of the approaching truck and the accident was considered unavoidable. Lee Steyer, driver of the truck, drove his truck into the embankment in an effort to avoid hitting the child.

The child is suffering from two broken legs and other injuries and was listed as in "fair" condition.

Two Cake Bakers

Two persons entered the cake baking contest, open to Republican women in the county, it was announced by Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, president of the Garrett County Women's Republican club. Judging is scheduled to be done today in Baltimore.

Entrants are Mrs. Hobart Harvey, Deer Park; and Mrs. Harry Edwards, Grantsville.

After judging the cakes will be sent to the White House and from there they will go to orphanages and hospitals.

Mrs. Glotfelty was in Baltimore acting as hostess at the Republican headquarters there on Wednesday in observance of Garrett County day.

HERE ARE THE KEYS—These or similar words were used by H. D. Swartzentruber, right, president of the Board of County Commissioners, as he turned over the management of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Henry W. McComas on Monday afternoon, October 15. Mr. McComas began his duties, actually, several days prior to Monday, and is working closely with Miss Irene Sharpe, former superintendent, whose resignation is technically effective Nov. 1. Mr. McComas, a former resident, was named superintendent at a meeting of the hospital board on September 17. He is a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Henry W. McComas. He formerly worked as a teller in the Garrett National Bank in Oakland, but had been in Beaufort, S. C., for six years as manager of a furniture and appliance store. He had hospital experience prior to that in Baltimore City hospitals and also the Tidewater hospital in Beaufort.

Committee Obtains Help on "Trick or Treat" Program

Unanimous cooperation in making the "trick or treat" custom at Hallowe'en into a project for the United Nations Children's fund, has been obtained from local organizations in Oakland, it was announced this week, which indicates a wide acceptance of the program.

The aim of the program is to give children something constructive, in their house to house visits instead of the excessive Hallowe'en calls that have been the practice over the past several years. It is presumed the children will have just as much fun ringing the doorbells but the result will be more satisfying.

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland set aside Wednesday, October 31, as official UNICEF Hallowe'en. At this time the boys and girls who usually make visitations to homes night after night for candy, apples, and other contributions, will take this one night to receive cash contributions that will be turned over to the United Nations fund to fight against diseases such as malaria and tuberculosis and to provide adequate nutrition for growing children in the world who otherwise would be neglected.

Mrs. Walter W. Dawson, who heads the Civic club committee working on this project, said this week that the Oakland Girl Scouts were making posters to publicize the program. All the schools have promised their cooperation. Official containers are being prepared by various youth groups.

Parents are being urged to present the plan to their children with the request that they confine their "trick or treat" excursions to this one special night. Persons of the community also are being asked to put on their porch lights on that evening as an evidence of their cooperation and assistance.

Plan Open House

The C. and P. Telephone company is planning an "Open House" in an effort to keep the public informed about improvements in the system of communications, it was announced this week by Clarence Stem, manager of the Oakland office.

The open house is set for next Tuesday and Wednesday, October 23 and 24, from 7 to 9 p. m., at the telephone office on Oak street.

Mr. Stem said there had been no open house since the company changed over to the dial system and since that time there had been many changes and a lot of equipment added. He said his company officials wanted to give the public an opportunity to see just how the telephone service operates.

Foley Proposes More Potomac River Planning

Democratic Congressional Candidate John R. Foley called Monday night for a greatly expanded program of planning and conservation to develop the Potomac River basin.

He addressed a rally at the William-James hotel in Oakland sponsored by the Democratic State Central Committee. Foley pledged efforts to more than triple the budget of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin to convert "words into action."

He said what was needed was to increase the commission budget to "at least $100,000 a year." The commission is limited by statute to a budget of $30,000 at present.

Hyde Replies

In Congressman Hyde's reply this week he declared Mr. Foley's attack on Potomac River development shows his complete lack of knowledge on the subject. "When he talks about trebling the budget of the Interstate Commission, he demonstrates that he does not know what he is talking about. Congress does not create the budget and does not appropriate for the commission. The money is raised by the four states and the District of Columbia, who are parties to the agreement. The five jurisdictions concerned whould have to amend the agreement and agree to appropriate the money themselves," said Hyde.

Hyde said he had done all that is possible for a member of Congress to do in promoting the development of the Potomac River valley. He would know it was at "my insistence that a meeting of the Governors and the District Commissioner was, held at White Sulphur Springs to encourage the amendment of the agreement between the states."

George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, in his remarks, cited his Republican opponent's vote against the Depressed Areas bill as evidence that he wasn't concerned with the problems of Western Maryland.

In other talks here he reiterated his pledge to favor an increase in income tax personal exemptions from $600 to $800.

To Make Official Visit

Grand Lodge officers of the Knights of Pythias lodge will make their official visit to Garrett Lodge No. 113, in Oakland on Friday evening, October 19. The business session will begin at 7:30.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Among the grand lodge officers will be Julius E. Schindler and Odith M. Brotemarkle, past grand chancellor, both of Cumberland; Louis M. Barnes, of Gaithersburg, grand chancellor; J. Walter McKee, grand prelate, also of Cumberland.

Reorganization of Civil Defense Is Being Planned

A reorganization of the entire Civil Defense set-up is being planned so as to make it a more effective group, it was announced this week by Fred Tichnell, county chairman.

A meeting has been called for the fire hall in Accident on Sunday, October 21, at 2 o'clock, for all fire companies in the county and all other persons interested in maintaining an up-to-date civil defense organization.

Tichnell said there would be representatives from the civil defense headquarters in Pikesville and representatives from some communications companies.

He said the main purpose of the meeting is to find what type of supplies, etc., are needed in the county to make a top working organization and see what can be done to obtain these materials under the matching funds of the organization, both Federal and State.

Tichnell urged that a sufficient number of men from the fire company organizations attend the meeting, find out what they need, what they can get and also to discover what possibilities there are of setting up radio communications in the county.

George Comp, president of the Allegany-Garrett County firemen's association, has sent out cards to all fire companies in the county and they are being asked to fill them in and return them as soon as possible.

Tichnell said that they were planning an entire new directory of the Garrett County Civil Defense organization and they are urging that all members drop a card to the civil defense organization, Box 250, Oakland, to state if they are still interested in remaining an active member of the organization, and what their status in the organization is at the present time. He said by doing this it would save many hours of trying to contact every individual concerned.

In the near future it is planned to have a civil defense organization in each community in the county in order to be a more effective group. He urged that every individual give his assistance to the ones who will be designated as directors of these communities.

Erect Caution Light

The stop signal has been moved from the old Deer Park road to old U.S. 219.

Obtain Packard Agency

Carlton J. Callis and Merle L. Willard, of the Oakland Equipment company in Oakland, have been given the dealership for Studebaker-Packard concern, it was announced by Carl K. Revelle, general sales manager.

The company has had the Studebaker franchise for some time and will continue to handle these cars. New Studebaker cars and trucks will be introduced in November.

The local dealership is one of the first to be franchised under the corporation's new program of dualing dealers throughout the nation to handle both lines.

Huskies Nose Out Southern, 21 To 18

Points After Touchdown Are The Margin Of Victory

In a thrill-packed game last Saturday afternoon on the Oakland gridiron Southern High school's fighting Highlanders dropped a close 21 to 18 decision to their favored rivals, the Northern High Huskies. Darwin Robeson was responsible for 20 of the visitors' points.

Both teams played spirited ball in a game packed with action. Southern matched Northern's three touchdowns but lost by the margin of three extra points. Northern came from behind to win in the final quarter as the result of a fumble recovered by the Huskies in Southern territory.

After a scoreless first quarter Northern broke loose for two quick scores early in the second quarter when Robeson broke around right end and dashed down the sidelines 42 yards for the first score. Six plays later Robeson passed five yards to Mickey for another six points. Both points after touchdown were good.

After an exchange of punts a pass from Deckman to DeWitt put the ball on Northern's 34. Lester Bittinger took a short pass from Mason on the last play of the first half and twisted and fought his way down the sidelines for the first Southern score. Deckman missed the extra point on an attempted end run.

On the opening play of the second half Deckman brought the crowd to its feet when he picked up the ball on his six-yard line, fought off would-be tacklers and streaked 94 yards for six more points.

Later in the same quarter Deckman thrilled the spectators when he broke away for another 45-yard run. This time he was pulled down from behind on the Northern 34-yard line. Inspired by the run the Highlanders reeled off two first downs, climaxed by Don Mason's two-yard plunge through center which put them ahead for the first time at 18 to 14.

In the fourth quarter Northern recovered a fumble on the Southern 42. After three first downs through the line Robeson powered the ball two yards over center for the final touchdown. The point after touchdown made the final score 21 to 18.

During the final quarter of the game Gary Frantz, Northern high player, sustained a pulled muscle in his neck and was carried from the field. He was hospitlaized until Monday.

In a game between halves of the main attraction the Ninth graders defeated the Eighth graders 6 to 0 in the opening battle of the Junior fooball teams.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

'Sincerity'

The conviction among the more experienced political observers of the American political scene here is that the basic question in this campaign is one of sincerity. It isn't foreign policy or fiscal policy. It isn't farm policy or labor policy. It isn't social security or the racial integration of our public schools.

All these things are important, but they are not basic. While candidates and politicians discuss and debate these matters, and the air and the press are full of charges and counter-charges, none of these is basic. Despite the clash of paid propaganda and publicity, the fundamental question still seems to be in which candidate and which party can the American people as a whole believe; which candidate can they really trust? Naturally, the Republicans think they have the answer to that—clearly, they say, Eisenhower.

In support of this view is cited the fact that, although the President's opponents have now begun a virulent personal attack upon him, and recently the Messrs. Truman, Stevenson and Kefauver have become abusive, accusative and violent, they have not personally assailed his sincerity. With Mr. Truman clearly leading the other two, in the last few days they have tried to make the President out a "tool of the special interests" (which phrase takes one back to the old William Jennings Bryan campaigns); a political weakling (which was the way Mr. Truman described Mr. Stevenson just before his nomination); a "bungler" who is run by the "Madison Avenue boys" (a new description of the Republican publicity experts who, however, seem to have no one quite as expert as Mr. Clayton Fritchey, who pulls a heavier oar than anyone else around Mr. Stevenson); a "well-meaning boob surrounded by bad men," which takes us back to the Harding days.

As the campaign progresses, the anti-Eisenhower attacks (led by Mr. Truman, whose personal venom is undisguised) grow more violent and direct. But they still fall short of questioning the personal sincerity of the President. And that is the important point. Candid Republicans concede that Mr. Eisenhower has made some mistakes and that some of his appointees have disappointed him; that he is by no means perfect. What they do assert, however, is that in sheer sincerity and unselfish devotion to his country he is the equal of any President we ever had, and the superior of any since 1932. That quality, "sincerity," is unquestionably his greatest political asset. Able as he is, amiable as he is, high-minded as he is, "sincerity" is the real reason for his vast personal popularity throughout the country.

So far neither Mr. Truman, Mr. Stevenson nor Mr. Kefauver have personally assailed the Eisenhower sincerity—but they will—unquestionably they will. Each week shows a closer approach. In the end there will be an attack upon the personal character of the President—and then, say the Eisenhower aides, will come the reaction. Not only will the bulk of the American people react—but Mr. Stevenson and his running mate, Mr. Kefauver, will find their own personal sincerity questioned with far more proof than they have to support their Eisenhower attacks. The degrading Stevenson subservience to Mr. Walter Reuther, the CIO labor boss, will be brought out in the open. So will Mr. Stevenson's insincerity in criticizing the Eisenhower veto of the rivers and harbors bill, which even the Democrats admit required courage in an election year. So will a number of other things concerning Mr. Stevenson which were hardly touched on in 1952.

Already, Mr. Truman, by reiterating his "red-herring" comment on the Alger Hiss case, has insured that that case will become an issue. In answer to a question over a broadcast in Milwaukee, Mr. Truman first said, "No, I never said that," then followed immediately with "But that is what it was—and is." To another question, Mr. Truman said "No"; that he did not believe Mr. Hiss was a traitor to his country; that he had not been indicted for being a traitor but "only for perjury." "That was all it was," he said. This, of course, is too ridiculous to be seriously taken. And Senator Mundt, of South Dakota, has demanded that the good Adlai either repudiate Mr. Truman or let the country know where he stands. It undoubtedly will be recalled that Mr. Stevenson was one of Hiss's character witnesses in his first trial. Add all this up and it is clear that before the campaign ends some of the campaigners and candidates are really going to be down in the gutter. It is also clear that one of them will not be the President.

Taken To Hospital

Mrs. Rachel B. Rosier, of Pasadena, Md., was taken to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland last Friday night after the car which she was operating went out of control on Allegheny Front. The car struck an embankment and turned over on a curve.

West Virginia state trooper Charles Oliver, stated that the victim received possible back injuries. The driver's husband and daughter, passengers in the car, were not injured.

To Stress Arrangements

Mrs. Wade Meese, Oakland, will conduct a Dried Flower Arrangement Demonstration on Thursday, October 25, at 9 p. m. in the County Extension office, in the basement of the Post Office building. Service is NOT Our middle name

True. But service IS one of the big reasons Woodmen of the World has become the world's financially strongest fraternal benefit society. In addition to the many services rendered our members, local Woodmen units (Camps) perform hundreds of services in their communities.

More than 437,500 Woodmen enjoy safe, sound, legal reserve, low cost life insurance protection through plans that meet every need. Of more than $7½-million paid in 1955 death and disability claims, litigation required settlement in but a single one—a record second to none in the life field.

These are some of the reasons why Woodmen of the World can be described as an institution of Fraternity . . . Protection . . . SERVICE.

I SEE BY THE DAILIES

Dulles said America was ready to give aid "within constitutional means" to any victim of aggression in turbulent Middle East.

Bertram D. Tallamy, 54, New York, was named to head government's new 33 billion dollar highway construction program.

The 19 newspapers in Scripps-Howard group editorially supported President Eisenhower for re-election, and a Harlem Negro Democratic Congressman also announced he would work for Ike.

"Now, I'll have to use another Want Ad — you've lost Daddy again!"

(By George Peck, Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

The American Heritage Foundation is to be highly commended on sparking a country-wide movement to arouse American citizens to the importance of intelligently exercising their priceless voting privilege at the polls on Tuesday, November 6. Its non-partisan "Register, Inform Yourself, and Vote" program is clicking.

It has enlisted the cooperation of practically all of the nation's patriotic organizations, service clubs, business and trade associations, industrial and business corporations, etc., toward helping it attain its 1956 campaign to make eligible voters see their duty and DO it.

Among the many, many worthwhile and effective things the American Heritage Foundation has done, are the snappy, pithy suggestions it has sent to advertisers along with their regular advertising. As a humble contribution to the terrific job it is doing, I would like to pass on a few of these to the readers of this column.

"Government is as good as the man or woman behind the ballot. Be at the polls November 6. VOTE!

"Good government is no accident. Play it smart—Vote!"

"Your vote is your voice. Say it at the polls November 6. VOTE!"

"Give yourself and your country a boost. VOTE on November 6."

"On November 6 count three: Your right, your privilege, your power. Then VOTE!"

"Only by voting can you participate in the decisions affecting your own destiny, your personal liberty!"

"November 6 is Decision Day. Participate in that Decision. Don't leave it to George."

"Don't like the way government runs things? Then show up, vote or shut up!"

"Don't cry on your neighbors' shoulder. Say it at the polls November 6."

"The citizens who count, VOTE. The votes that get counted are the ones that are cast. VOTE!

"No one in this country is any more important than you are—when you stand alone in the polling booth. VOTE!"

"Be thrifty! Don't throw away the ballot you're entitled to cast on November 6. It may elect your candidate to office."

"Your family, town, State, Country, depend on your VOTE. Don't neglect it—you may live to regret it. VOTE!"

The American Heritage Foundation proclaims that the "inherent apathy" of the American people is a myth. It points to the election in Maine on September 10 as to what can happen when folks are alerted to their own great political importance and value, as individuals in the running of free America. Maine did itself proud—Main organizations, under the leadership of the State Chamber of Commerce, confounded the experts. They first of all predicted a vote of 250,000, then just prior to the election raised their sights to 265,000. The actual vote was 305,000.

What transpired in Maine, the American Heritage Foundation predicts will be repeated all over the nation on November 6. Help make that prediction come true, by going to the polls in the good, old "American Way" to vote for candidates whom your investigation reveals will best serve the interests of all the people.

VOTE November 6.

Why Create Uncertainty?

We wonder about the hullabaloo over the validity of the ballot in the November election in Garrett county.

The attorney general after several months, finally comes to a decision on the ballot question and declares that the matter of legality of paper ballots in the face of the wording of the voting machine bill would have to be decided by the courts. The County Commissioners sought a decision from the attorney general several months ago as to who had authority to purchase voting machines, and nothing definite ever came of it.

Now when it is too late to provide voting machines and the Supervisors decide that paper ballots will be used, he comes forth with the decision that the courts must determine the validity of the ballots.

We of course still feel that the paper ballots are perfectly valid and use Judge Henderson's opinion in the case to prove our point.

We also quote from the Maryland Law Review concerning the voting machine law. It said that "when an election has been held and it is not shown that the failure of the officials to observe the requirements of the law has interfered with the fair expression of the will of the voters, courts have generally held that the result of the election will not be disturbed."

First of all the question will not get into the courts unless some individual protests the procedure. This could be Mr. Mahoney but we don't think it will be. We're pretty positive it won't be the Republican State Central committee for Maryland.

So why create any uncertainty in the minds of the people about the matter? The citizens of Garrett county will go to the polls on Tuesday, November 6, and they will vote, and there will be no good reason to question the vote. They should be counted along with every other good vote in the entire state.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

One of the objectives of the first Freedom Forum, conducted by the National Education Program at Harding College seven years ago, was to plan a program of economic education for men and women in American industry—the hourly wage people, the white collar workers and the executives. Representatives of all were present at the Forum. Much economic education material was developed at this first Forum and much more has been developed in subsequent Forums. Among the most active companies in bringing the true facts about our American economic system to their employees has been the electric power industries.

A dramatic illustration of the value these people place on the basic principal of private ownership, which is the keystone of our American system, was an advertisement which appeared recently in the New York Times. The full-page ad was entitled: "Labor Fears Government of Niagara Power." It was paid for by the New York State Association of Electrical Workers, a union with 80,000 members; and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, with 550,000 members. These working people said in their ad:

"1. The Niagara project does not involve any legitimate government function—only the generation of power. 2. Private utility companies are ready, willing and able to do the job. 3. If government is authorized to develop water for electric power as a natural resource, other natural resources will eventually be taken over by government. 4. Private power companies pay taxes; government projects do not. The taxes so evaded would have to be made up later by all taxpayers. 5. The rates charged by private companies are regulated by the New York State Public Service Commission: There is no regulation of political operation.

"6. Fair and lasting labor agreements are almost impossible with government agencies; business-managed utilities are easier to do business with and the union wants to continue this way. 7. Private development of Niagara is supported overwhelmingly by the people of the area; only extremists who want to impose their philosophy on others favor public development. 8. Free enterprise in the power industry deserves to be protected on its record. 9. Government ownership of industry would bring labor under bureaucratic control and tend to make the American worker a servant to his government. 10. The New York State Federation of Labor, with 1,300,000 members, has endorsed private development of Niagara."

The electric workers added: "We like the free enterprise system that has made America great and the life of the American labor man the envy of the world. Our American system of getting things done makes sense—we want to retain it."

DEMOCRATS . . .

GOVERNOR WM. PRESTON LANE, JR. (DEM.)
(In Full Page Ad in "SUN", Sept. 10, 1950)
"Mahoney sent one of his gumshoe investigators down to the Eastern Shore Hospital and had him take some phoney pictures. One showed a man drinking out of a tin cup. But what he didn't show you was that the picture was cut so as not to show the dispenser of paper cups less than a foot away!
"Another picture showed what they said were flies all over a ham. There were no flies there; the picture had been retouched. And, what do you think the little black specks were? CLOVES!"

REPRESENTATIVE LANSDALE G. SASSCER (DEM.)
(Baltimore Sun, May 3, 1955)
"I think it is time that Mr. Mahoney's tactics be exposed for what they are—a complete fraud and a hoax. In the first place, he has hired professional performers to dramatize events which never happened, just to delude television audiences. These actors tell a story about housing in St. Mary's County, using photographs taken at Great Mills, and telling the public they were taken at Lexington Park."

(Baltimore Sun, May 5, 1952)
Sasscer said that the pattern of Mahoney's campaign had been "vilification, innuendoes and statements uttered without any regard for truth, accuracy or fairness . . ."

E. BROOKE LEE (DEMOCRAT)
(Baltimore SUN, June 22, 1954)
Lee said, "The advertising boys always built up Mahoney as a fighting man. Some 500,000 Maryland men managed to get into World Wars I and II. Mahoney was old enough for the first and young enough for the second and also rich enough to serve without hardship in the second. Yet Fighting George did not connect with either World War. He just took no notice of either. Now the publicity boys have a veterans committee working for this phony Mahoney."

DR. "CURLEY" BYRD (DEM.)
(Baltimore SUN, June 17, 1954)

(Baltimore SUN, June 23, 1956)
Dr. Byrd accused Mahoney of using "misrepresentation" and "political trickery" with the race question. He said that Mahoney is "preaching the doctrine" to Negroes in Baltimore that he (Dr. Byrd) is prejudiced against the Negro race. He added that Mahoney supporters mailed out literature to five rural counties, purporting to show that he (Dr. Byrd) is "working too strongly for Negroes".

(Baltimore Sun, June 25, 1954)
Dr. Byrd added that it is impossible in a fight with Mr. Mahoney to "discuss the real problems of Maryland's state government because he and his advisors seem convinced that his best chance—perhaps his only one—is to indulge in mud-slinging and smears and downright misrepresentation."

MAYOR THOMAS D'ALESANDRO (Democrat)
(Baltimore SUN, May 1, 1952)
Mayor D'Alesandro told members of the Young Men's Bohemian Democratic Club that George P. Mahoney is a "party wrecker". He said that Mahoney "is trying to wreck the Democratic Party." He accused Mahoney of trying to smear Representative Sasscer. He said that Mahoney had padded the Office of Price Administration "with four of his relatives", and was using it for political purposes.

BALTIMORE "SUN" (Editorial, April 29, 1956)
". . . But in all of these years of persistent politicking he (Mr. Mahoney) has failed to offer a single valid reason why he should represent this State in the United States Senate, or any indication that he has the capacity to cope with the fateful issues which that body must deal with. Such comments as he has made from time to time on public questions have carried no conviction, nor even given the impression that he knows what he is talking about."

BALTIMORE "SUN" EDITORIAL (August 23, 1956)
"Mr. Mahoney, so far as the public record is concerned, is devoid of political principles and in no way equal to the demands of the position of Senator."

BUT--Maryland points with pride to Sen. Butler's Record

"John Marshall Butler has been consistently attentive to his duties as a Senator of the United States, and constantly aware of his obligations to the State of Maryland and its citizens. While well-versed in the broad fields of national and international affairs, he never has lost sight of the opportunities to advance the proper interests of Maryland. As a member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, he is in an advantageous position to give the best possible representation to this maritime State. He has used this advantage wisely and effectively.

In the interests of our great harbor facilities, the future of Friendship International Airport, our overland commerce by rail and highway, the general economy of this rapidly growing State and the prosperity of all its citizens, the people of Maryland will serve themselves best by re-electing Senator John Marshall Butler.

Brucellosis Program Being Speeded Up In State

Maryland's brucellosis control and eradication program is being speeded up in an effort to reach the goal of a certified-free state. There are now only five such states. They are Wisconsin, Washington, Maine, New Hampshire and North Carolina.

Under a quarantine set up by the Maryland Live Stock Sanitary Service, dairy herds which show signs of brucellosis cannot be moved anywhere within the state or into another state, according to Dr. Arthur L. Brueckner, director of the LSSS.

However, he said, animals for slaughter can be moved on permit to packing houses maintaining federal meat inspection, and to stock yards where federal inspection is maintained. Permits may be secured from representatives of the state and federal agencies, and from the veterinarian who appraised and branded the diseased animals.

To further strengthen the control of animals within the state, regulations governing live stock auction markets are to be broadened and a new regulation to control live stock dealers is to be declared, Dr. Brueckner said. A date will be set soon, after which no animal can be moved without a satisfactory blood test, except to slaughter.

Dr. C. A. Turner, veterinarian for the Agriculture Department's Agricultural Research Service said, "These changes are felt to be necessary in order to protect the investment already made by live stock owners, by state and federal agencies, and to bring the eradication program to a successful conclusion."

IN MEMORIAM

Coddington, Nettie A.—In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away one year ago today, October 30, 1955.
We did not know the pain you had,
Or hear your final sigh.
We only know you passed away
Without a last goodbye.
God gave us strength to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow.
But what it meant to lose you dear,
No one will ever know.

In memory of Russie Ryland, who passed away October 20, 1950.
I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead. He is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return,
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead—he is just away!

Brucellosis Program Being Speeded Up In State

Maryland's brucellosis control and eradication program is being speeded up in an effort to reach the goal of a certified-free state. There are now only five such states. They are Wisconsin, Washington, Maine, New Hampshire and North Carolina.

Under a quarantine set up by the Maryland Live Stock Sanitary Service, dairy herds which show signs of brucellosis cannot be moved anywhere within the state or into another state, according to Dr. Arthur L. Brueckner, director of the LSSS.

However, he said, animals for slaughter can be moved on permit to packing houses maintaining federal meat inspection, and to stock yards where federal inspection is maintained. Permits may be secured from representatives of the state and federal agencies, and from the veterinarian who appraised and branded the diseased animals.

To further strengthen the control of animals within the state, regulations governing live stock auction markets are to be broadened and a new regulation to control live stock dealers is to be declared, Dr. Brueckner said. A date will be set soon, after which no animal can be moved without a satisfactory blood test, except to slaughter.

Dr. C. A. Turner, veterinarian for the Agriculture Department's Agricultural Research Service said, "These changes are felt to be necessary in order to protect the investment already made by live stock owners, by state and federal agencies, and to bring the eradication program to a successful conclusion."

IN MEMORIAM

Coddington, Nettie A.—In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away one year ago today, October 30, 1955.
We did not know the pain you had,
Or hear your final sigh.
We only know you passed away
Without a last goodbye.
God gave us strength to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow.
But what it meant to lose you dear,
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by,

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Russie Ryland, who passed away October 20, 1950.
I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead. He is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there,
And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return,
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead—he is just away!

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

This week, I will conclude my series of articles on the Apostle's Creed by considering the last three phrases in the Third Article: "(I believe in) the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen."

As to the forgiveness of sins, this was one of the foremost areas of the ministry of Christ. In healing a young paralytic, he definitely refers to His power to forgive sins; in His contact with the "woman of the streets," He said, "Go your way, your sins are forgiven—sin no more." Sin is perhaps misunderstood by a large segment of our society, as a rule, most people are not aware of sin. When they do think about it, it is usually in connection with some horrible thing that someone else has done—perhaps a newspaper story—and very rarely in connection with some thing of which they themselves have been guilty. Then in the churches, when Christian pastors endeavor to preach to the people to bring awareness of their weaknessess, all too often the "shoes do not fit" the right people, because the ones that need the message the most think the minister is talking about somebody else. As a matter of fact, he is talking about everyone there assembled, himself included, when he speaks of men being sinful in nature, and in need of the forgiveness of sins—the plain fact is that we all have fallen short of the glory of God and His perfection, and therefore need His forgiving love. This is what Christ came to do, to forgive the sins of men, and to give them a program of life in which sins would play a gradually diminishing part until that time when they would go on into the everlasting life in which sin would no longer play a role.

The "resurrection of the body" is also a misunderstood term—in fact it was misunderstood so early in the history of the church that Paul had to answer the questions of the Christians in the city of Corinth concerning it (I Cor.: 15). His answer is the best that we have. He refers to the fact that when we sow grain, the grain must deteriorate before it can emerge a healthy, green, new plant—and that the resurrection of the body is the same type of thing. We are "Sown in corruption, raised in incorruption," for there is a natural body and there is a spiritual body. So, when we refer to the "resurrection of the body," we refer not to the physical body which we now have, for that must go back to the dust from whence it came, but we refer to a "glorified body," no longer limited as we now know it, but limitless as is eternity.

And finally, in referring to the "life everlasting," there have been many volumes, most of which are much less than Christian, concerning this subject. This much I can definitely say—no man knows exactly what the everlasting life is, because man's natural understanding is unable to cope with something which is "everlasting." However, we can definitely receive hints from the words of Christ, for instance in the fourteenth chapter of John where He says, "In my Father's House are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you." So from Christ's statement we know that there is plenty of room for all of God's children. And from what we know of this life, in spite of the many problems that we know, the world is a pretty wonderful place, especially for those who follow the will and love of God. And if this world, shackled by the sins of men as it is, is wonderful, just think how much more wonderful it will be in the next, where, as I said before, the sins of men will no longer play their role. The everlasting life is forever, and of one thing I am sure, I do not want to spend it away from my Father in heaven, but with Him, so I happly believe in His Son, who came to give everlasting life to His children. Won't you come and share the joy that we who are Christians know?

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Big Beauty Versus Small

If you had to make a choice between spectacular and awesome beauty and that of tiny little things in creation, which would you choose?

I got to wondering about that Sunday as we sat in sunlit autumn looking over the gorge at Blackwater, as we travelled through the wide valley of Canaan and later as we climbed a tower at Davis Plains to look out at mountains, five deep, and scenery that all but took the breath away.

All of us "Oh" and "Ah" at big beauty but it's beauty in miniature that makes me glow inside. Like moss, for instance, growing on a rock, or many varieties of it in a shaded spot that could be nothing else but a fairy's parlor. Or turkey berry vines running along the ground like tatting on a towel, or the lacy pattern of a spider web, still wet with dew.

The huge oaks that frame our view I like in every season, but an acorn, whose natural patina excels the finish on a hand rubbed table, is as beautiful yet more awesome than the tree itself, as it sits in its hand-carved saucer.

Water may pour over falls or rush around boulders in rugged grandeur but every time I pause at the spring below the garden and listen to water flowing underneath the earth there is soul contentment that no roaring cataract can give.

Then there's the mountain ash, "berried" in red-orange, standing out against the blue sky or huddled among the balsom fir, hundreds of them, it would seem, spectacular and gorgeous. But the little pink cranberry, sheltered in its own dusty rose moss made me pause and ponder on the delicate touch of the Creator.

Both kinds of beauty come in human beings. There are those who are beautiful in their bigness; people who have developed every cell in their brains and exercise it daily with curiosity, people who have made even their smallest talents big ones, people whose eyes can see beauty and whose hearts can sense the needs of others, be it a word of praise or a challenge. They are beauty in bigness and I marvel.

But even more do I marvel as I stand in front of the nursery window at Garrett Memorial, looking at those tiny creatures. There was a time when I saw nothing in a new born babe but red wrinkled flesh, but as I gaze at the contents of the dipped bassinets every baby looks beautiful to me.

Studying the helpless little fellows I am awed again at the creation of little things—each complete and beautiful, each capable of more beauty depending upon the wind, sun, and the soil, in which he has been rooted.

Yes, if I had to make a choice I would take the little things, but I'm glad I can have both.

A Rejected Indian

The lone sunflower standing in our garden reminds me of the American Indian after the white man had shoved him to the edge of his world. Broken, rejected, head fallen to chest—not a pretty sight to say the least.

But every time I think it must come down I have a change of heart. The blue birds use it as a feeding station as they migrate south.

Ten "Teen" Commandments

Leafing through some 4-H material I came across these commandments. I do not know the author. If there's a teen-ager in the house they might make table talk at dinner.

1. Don't let your parents down, they brought you up.
2. Be smart, obey. You'll give orders yourself someday.
3. Ditch dirty thoughts fast, or they'll ditch you.
4. Stop and think before you drink.
5. Show-off driving is juvenile. Act your age.
6. Pick the right friends to be picked for a friend.
7. Choose a date fit for a mate.
8. Don't go steady unless you're ready.
9. Love God and Neighbor.
10. Live carefully. The soul you save may be your own.
